The British-Bangladeshi Who's Who publication is a brilliant initiative to showcase the success stories and achievements of our very talented Bangladesh-British Diaspora living in the United Kingdom. I am pleased to learn that its 2022 edition will be published shortly and I look forward to learning about the new generation of talented Bangladeshi-British personalities to be recognised this year.

The Government of Hon'ble Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina in its Vision 2041 has attached the highest priority towards the welfare and recognition of contributions of the Non-resident Bangladeshis and the Bangladesh-British diaspora, who have relentlessly demonstrated their patriotism and love for Bangladesh, their ancestral home, since the country's independence in 1971.

Their sacrifice and commitment to the mobilisation of political support of the government and people of the United Kingdom during Bangladesh's glorious War of Liberation in 1971 are deeply valued by the Government and the people of Bangladesh.

The Bangladesh-British community through their hard work, dedication, philanthropy, investment and remittances continues to play a significant role in building a progressive, prosperous and secular Bangladesh; and enhancing political, economic, and people-to-people connectivity between Bangladesh and the UK.

The expatriate Bangladeshis, especially their new generation is making their mark of excellence in every sphere of British society including in politics, business, art, culture, education, the justice system, law enforcement, defence, and the service sector.

It is, therefore, befitting that the Who's Who Publication would be celebrating the talents of our vibrant Bangladeshi-British diaspora, thus inspiring successive generations to carry forward the pursuit of excellence.

I wish the organisers of this initiative and the Who's Who publication all success.

Sadia Muna Tasneem

Foreword from the Editor

As a result of the Covid pandemic we had to pause our events and this annual publication. However, it gives me immense pleasure now that we have resumed this important publication and gala ceremony which showcases the best of the British Bangladeshi community.

Like years gone by, we have unearthed some real gems once again. Individuals who have performed extremely well and excelled in their sector and who highlight the amazing work of our community.

We have also chosen some worthy award winners. These personalities have been truly remarkable and inspirational and we sincerely hope that you will enjoy learning about their achievements and success as much as we have.

I hope you enjoy this edition and that the publication can continue for years to come.

M Abdul Karim (Goni)

Foreword from the Executive Editor

The publication and the gala event has become well-known within the British Bangladeshi community. I, like many of our supporters and well-wishers look forward to reading the profiles and attending the gala event. Unfortunately, the pandemic had brought a halt to that, however, we are now able to continue and that gives me immeasurable happiness.

The reasoning behind the publication is two-fold: Firstly, it provides inspirational role models for other members of our community, especially the youth. Secondly, and perhaps more importantly, at a time when various factions of the media and society are questioning the value of migration, this publication serves to highlight the extensive and remarkable contributions that British Bangladeshis are making here.

We have continued in our tradition to hand out awards to the best of the best and I am sure that you will agree with me that these are deserving individuals. I hope you enjoy the publication.

Amin Babor Chowdhury

Sector: Education & Charity

Amin Babor Chowdhury, originally from Kulaura, Sylhet, Bangladesh, arrived in the UK in 2007. He has since become an established public figure in the North West of England through his passion, dedication and work ethic, to develop and enhance community relations within the diverse cultural groups of Greater Manchester.

He has established himself in the journalism, education and charity sectors to promote community cohesion and advance prospects for many groups.

In 2009, he helped to launch The Probash Bangla Newspaper in Oldham, one of the UK's few English-Bengali publications, which gives a voice to the UK Bangladeshi community and creates a platform to connect the young and older generations.

Through sheer determination and optimism, Amin has created strong links with prominent figures in local and central government, and with education and business leaders, engaging with them on important issues and gaining support for many of his projects.

Amin is married with three young children and lives in Oldham. He seeks to advance, celebrate and promote his chosen causes however he can. He set up One Community UK (OCUK) in 2012, which has charitable aims through which he organises community events and was able to establish the Oldham Education Awards (OEA) in 2012.

OEA unifies the whole town in celebration of the academic achievements of students in the borough. Around 250 young people have received an OEA. Because of his contributions, Amin was invited to become an Ambassador and Board member at the Oldham Academy North School.

He is heavily involved in fundraising and promotional activities for charities, including Dr Kershaw's Hospice, Kingfisher Special School, Tameside Rotary, Local Mayor's Fund, Just Help Foundation, Global Relief Trust and I Care charity, which works to improve health care and education in rural Bangladesh. He also supports The Prince's Trust because of the life-changing work it does with vulnerable young people.

In 2021, he organised the first hundred-mile walk during Ramadan in aid of charity and raised funds for various charities. In 2022, he also managed a 100-mile (walk/run) challenge during Ramadan to raise funds for three different charities. More recently, he also organised a charity dinner in aid of the relief efforts in Bangladesh. In 2013, he endeavoured to unite all the people of the United Kingdom in celebration of education, as 'one community'.

He achieved this vision in January 2017 when students and their families, education professionals and politicians travelled from Northern Ireland, Scotland, Wales and England to attend the country's inaugural British Education Awards (BEA) in London. His aim now is to keep raising the profile of BEA and bring the event to every part of the UK, and continue to inspire people in the pursuit of education.

In 2018 he was also invited to become a governor of Kingfisher school which is a special needs school for pupils aged 2-19, aiming to meet the needs of pupils with severe and complex physical and/or learning difficulties.

Amin is also passionate about Cricket. He created links and opportunities between community cricket clubs and mainstream organisations such as Lancashire Cricket Club/Foundation. In the 2019 Cricket, world cup Amin volunteered for the International Cricket Council (ICC). In 2021, he played an important role in supporting the COVID vaccination programme for the Royal Voluntary Service. He also worked as an honorary steward at the 2022 Commonwealth games in Birmingham.

Henna Chowdhury

Sector: Politics

Henna Chowdhury was born in Sylhet Bangladesh in 1975. She settled in Worthing, West Sussex at the age of 10 with her mother, younger sister and older brother.

Henna attended the Girls High School in Worthing where she excelled and achieved excellent exam results despite only learning English on her arrival in Britain a few short years earlier.

Following her education, Henna enjoyed a short but productive career in the Civil Service before marrying and devoting her time to raising a young and boisterous family.

Councillor Chowdhury has always had a keen interest in the community and is especially concerned with equality of opportunity and equal rights for all.

Whilst raising her family she was involved as an advocate for youth and child support and acted as a community interpreter for a number of organisations involved in domestic violence.

Mrs Chowdhury has worked for local charities supporting BME women in their struggle to overcome racial and intra-community prejudice, domestic violence and lack of educational provision. Henna has worked for charities and local businesses along the entire south coastal strip providing educational courses and training in health and hygiene, business funding as well as organising community events and charity fundraising with a special emphasis on Women's Rights and Equality.

In 2010 Henna had a complete change of direction and was a presenter on Bangla TV, where she hosted a music channel show broadcast to the UK and Europe.

With her keen sense of social justice and fairness for all, Henna felt the need to do more, to lead the way for ethnic minorities, especially Bengali, women, showing them that they have a voice and an important part to play in a successful, modern British multicultural, multi-ethnic society and as such she joined the Labour Party in 2017 where she is currently BAME Officer.

In late 2018 Henna was adopted to fight the safe Conservative ward of Gaisford in the 2019 Worthing Borough Council Elections, a ward which had been in Conservative control for over 50 years. Despite the party's poor showing nationally Henna won the ward with a landslide victory, achieving a swing to Labour of 13% made Henna the first female Muslim councillor in the history not only of Worthing but of West Sussex and was reported Worldwide. A fact she is immensely proud of as it is an encouragement for women with no background in politics or business to come forward, to make a difference and to have a voice.

Henna was elected onto both the licensing committee and the overview and scrutiny committees of Worthing Council.

Henna made further history in her local town of Worthing by becoming the First Labour Mayor when the Labour Party made history by taking control of the local Council during the May 2022 Local Elections. Making her achievements somewhat unique: the 1st Female Muslim Borough Councillor; 1st Female Muslim County Councillor; and 1st Female Muslim Mayor under the 1st Labour Administration for the Borough of Worthing

As a founder member, and subsequently Chair of the Bangladeshi Support Centre in Ipswich, Boshor Ali has spent more than 30 years delivering community service in the Bangladeshi community in Ipswich. He has a clear vision of the Bangladeshi community as an integral part of the whole of Suffolk and has overseen the need to change the original remit of the Bangladeshi Support Centre to BSC Multicultural Services, now a source of support to all in Suffolk regardless of faith or ethnic origin. In 2022 he has received recognition of this achievement, being awarded the Suffolk Medal: the highest medal awarded in Suffolk.

Boshor was born in 1971 in Sylhet, Bangladesh. When his family moved to the UK, he completed his education in Ipswich. Tremendous tenacity and single mindedness has meant he has worked his way up from being a waiter to becoming a successful local businessman. Establishing strong connections in Ipswich as a proud British citizen, he has drawn on those qualities to support the Bangladeshi community, helping others to achieve their aspirations.

As a man of faith, Boshor has served as secretary of Shahjalal Mosque and Islamic Centre in Ipswich continuing in that post for many years. Currently flood relief work involves Boshor in directing Al Tazid Foundation's efforts to help with the aftermath of flooding: the repair of property and sanitation for the very poorest who have no other recourse to support.

Through its fundraising outreach, Al Tazid Foundation connects Suffolk people with others across the globe. A free health clinic was launched by Tom Hunt, the MP for Ipswich, while visiting Sylhet, enabling generous coverage in local and national media in Bangladesh and UK: Encouraging close connections even across continents.

They lived in one of the most deprived areas of Birmingham, Handsworth. After completing his secondary school studies, Abdul moved to Swindon and set up a family business in Lechlade, Gloucestershire. Since then, they have continued to expand and set up further businesses in Swindon and the surrounding towns.

Having grown up in council estate, Abdul experienced and witnessed the life of struggling families and realised that community change is necessary to improve lives. His upbringing motivated him to pursue politics and he was first elected as a councillor for Walcot and Park North, Swindon in 2012 during local elections. This ward is one of the most deprived wards in the Borough and is comprised of many diverse communities. Abdul has thoroughly enjoyed his work as a councillor and helping members of his ward with various individual and community-level issues.

He has also enjoyed serving in a number of committees during his time as a councillor, including: Chairing the Wiltshire's Diverse Communities Independent Advisory Group for Wiltshire Police – this helps to highlight and address issues regarding, for example, recruitment and retention of ethnic minority staff within the force. This, in turn, helps to better understand the local communities that are served. School governor for a local primary school – ensuring the children receive a good quality education by scrutinising aspects of the school, including budgets and recruitment.

Also the Swindon's Rotary Club – Rotary is a worldwide organisation where members work together to better the local community and these can be through charitable events, Planning and Licensing, Dorset and Wiltshire Fire and Rescue Service and the Wiltshire Police and Crime Panel.

Abdul is very grateful to have been appointed as the Mayor of Swindon for 2022/23. One of the aspects of the Mayoral role which he is very excited about is supporting various charities. He has decided to support STEP which is a local mental health charity helping children in Swindon. His second charity is the Zam Zam Trust which helps disadvantaged families in the Sylhet region of Bangladesh.

Abdul has met some fantastic people through his roles, and he is keen to meet more people during his term as the Mayor of Swindon. He is keen to bring together the various diverse communities of Swindon and work together with the Deputy Mayor to raise money for his chosen charities.

She always has a diverse set of passions to work and learn and after working for more than 14 years in the education and banking sector, Sabreena decided to start her first ever company Green Giggles Sustainable Business Limited aiming to do business more sustainably to leave some giggles for future. The story behind the name and type of company is fascinating. Every time she buys King prawns from ethnic shops in the UK, unfortunately, she finds the prawns, imported from Asia including Bangladesh, are covered with too much water as ice. After defrosting the actual prawns are very small and this excess water glaze is a waste treating this water in the UK includes more carbon footprint for the prawns we consume. She started asking her husband who works in the same seafood industry how to find a solution where consumers can have the same prawns but without wasting water.

With over 18 years of experience in the Frozen seafood sector, her husband's company Cupid Trading Limited's team in the UK and origin developed, produced, and sourced the first ever unique packaging for frozen King Prawn products used by the curry industry and at home saving 60% to 70% water compared to present packaging used by competitors for same products. His wealth of experience and dedication to the community can also be evidenced through some of his past roles in various community and charitable organisations. Mr. Dilwar Hussain currently lives in Ilford, Redbridge with his family.

Jassim Hussain, son of Haji MD. Rafique Hussain of Ambor Khana, Sylhet. Jassim is the grandson of Late Haji Aman Ullah of Karimullah Group, the well renowned Karimullah Market and Aman Ullah convention centre in Sylhet.

Born in London, he studied in the field of Optometry and briefly worked for the NHS until the age of 29 when he decided to go into the world of business and effectively follow in the footsteps of his lineage.

His father was in the leather trade business, from owning factories to eventually going into rental investment. It is then when his father retired early, whilst his siblings in the corporate fields, Jassim had to take on the challenge to manage his father's property portfolio and embarked on this journey.

He very quickly learnt the property rental game and moved to scale up into a new industry, one which was not done before in the family. It was from scratch to designing and planning to opening Shoreditch fish & chips. He gives credit to his brother for the idea and gap in the market during the initial brainstorming and market research for British traditional cuisine in the trendiest area of London. It is then where he executed in launching a very different style fish & chips restaurant, specialising only in fish and British culture. Using experience in development, the design, layout and concept took shape and Shoreditch fish & chips was launched in 2018.

The business took off with great reviews on all platforms, with a 2nd branch due in the pipeline for 2020, however, the pandemic hit and the plans was halted due to covid19. In this period, he found another market to explore, and embarked on another diverse cuisine of American Texas style BBQ in smoking meat. He took advantage of the market situation in the pandemic and launched Holy Smokes BBQ in 2021, specialising in smoked brisket and ribs, and famous LA smash American burgers.

His concept of business in catering is one to admire, and his take on it was always to be halal trading with barakah in its earnings.

Currently he manages a number of own tenants, alongside a strong team of 18 employees who manage the businesses with his time being spent on background works and new ventures.

His recognition has been noted very early amongst the community where he has been awarded the Winner of Catering Circle talent show on Channel S Tv. To date he is currently on the Restaurant Star show being televised on Channel S.

Tofozzul Miah is an entrepreneur and founder of award winning Bayleaf Group and Hiltop Motors, located in North London. He is well known for his innovative and forward-thinking mindset as a business person and plays a key role in his community.

Tofozzul migrated from Bangladesh to the UK in the 1970s, when he was 9 years old. From a very young age, he always wanted to be in control of his own destiny and realised that the self-employment route would allow that. From a very young age he worked labour intensive jobs straight after school and on the weekends, which included working in the rug trade and on the Sunday markets.

After a setback, when he opened his first Asian restaurant he took the decision to begin his journey as a chef to build a holistic skillset required to run a successful restaurant.

He worked in a Punjabi owned restaurant for the next 3 years. Soon an opportunity arose to become the partner of a Restaurant in North London and with his newfound experience in the kitchen, he felt there was no better time but to take that same leap again. This business was considerably profitable. He was working 7 days a week and up to 14 to 16 hours a day during this time.

This impressive turnaround gave him the confidence to go and open his own establishment. He quickly realised that food delivery was an emerging market (in the 1990s), and with not many Indian takeaway establishments doing deliveries at the time, he took a bold decision to venture into this new avenue. This is when he opened Bayleaf Takeaway in North London and won many awards and accolades within the first few years alone, which till this day is still standing strong on the high road after 27 years.

Spotting another gap in the market for a fine dining Indian restaurant, he opened Bayleaf Restaurant in 2013, and it has been hugely successful since. Ranking top 5 out of 17,500 restaurants on TripAdvisor in the city of London today is a testament to this.

Amidst his journey in the catering industry, he started buying and selling cars from home in 2006 as a hobby. Immediately Tofozzul saw impressive returns, which led to him expanding operations and purchasing a forecourt which held 20 vehicles. Upon continued success, he expanded even further by purchasing a car showroom in 2009. This is when he established Hiltop Motors, a quality German car dealership stocking up to 100 cars. Abdul Ahad is a British Bangladeshi who has been involved in the catering industry for nearly thirty years, and it is fair to say that he has been more than a success.

His first restaurant was opened in Milton Keynes in 1980 and since then his catering empire has grown stronger and stronger. From the moment Ahad entered the catering trade, he saw a vision to create an ultimate shrine to Indian food. In 1998, his plans began to take shape, and finally in early 2002, the dream became a reality.

Jaipur came to an end in 2018 and Ahad received the Paul Harris Fellowship award of appreciation by Rotary International.

As the former owner of the famous Jaipur Restaurant in Milton Keynes, Ahad is the man behind the largest purpose built Indian restaurant in Europe.

The Jaipur Restaurant itself is an architectural landmark building of great beauty, and one that Ahad refers to as his own 'mini Taj Mahal'. The food and the service inside is equally impressive, having won practically every available award to Indian cuisine. Furthermore, although initially Jaipur was solely an Indian Restaurant, it now houses a Thai restaurant, the Orchid Lounge, on the first floor.

For all his success as a restaurateur, he is equally as successful in other fields –one of which is fundraising for charities.

Two of Ahad's favourite causes are 'the Jaipur Limb Project' of the Rotary International and Save the Children charity.

The 'Jaipur Limb Project' set up in Jaipur, India, is engaged in manufacturing prosthetic limbs for children and adults who have lost their limbs due to disease or accidents. The provision of a new limb gives them a life changing experience enabling them to a full life in many different ways. Ahad is a major supporter and contributor to the project during the last twelve years, raising over £30,000 through the Annual Charity Dinner.

Ahad is also a high profile and integral member of Britain's Bangladeshi community and has supported the development of schools, mosques, madrassas and other charity projects in his parental village in Sylhet.

This year he was awarded 2022 Voice for Newham awards – in recognition of outstanding contribution to the community during COVID-19. Not long after, he was awarded a 2022 Tower Hamlets Civic Awards - Benefitting the community through success in business and community involvement, which he considers one of his finest honours so far. Kazi is extremely grateful to the almighty Allah, and is in debt to his family members, clients and well wishers for all his achievements, and all that he is yet to achieve. With over 18 years experience in the property sector, in 2007, Kazi laid the groundwork that would see him become a successful entrepreneur by opening his own business; PRIME ESTATE AGENTS, in Whitechapel, E1.

Naturally, his business did not expand rapidly overnight, but Kazi never faltered from his belief that consistently delivering outstanding service would not go unnoticed. His hard work did pay off; so much so that Prime Estate Agents has grown significantly, and has had to relocate to a much larger office in Brick Lane (opposite Brick Lane mosque) London, E1. Prime Estate Agents are now a multi award winning agency, winning awards such as Best Independent Estate Agent London, Real Estate Firm of the Year, Leading Real Estate Advisor of the Year, and shortlisted for The Negotiator Awards 2017, London Agency of the Year, and Property Wire Awards 'Best Letting Agents in London.'

Kazi began to support his local community by giving free property advice, and this became so popular within his community. Convinced by the success of this, Kazi began hosting his own TV show since 2014 which is currently live on NTV (Sky 780) every Monday from 8pm to 9pm, The Property Show with Kazi Arif, which can also be found on Facebook or Youtube. During the show, Kazi gives free advice and upto-date news to the public, as well as discussing any property related issues with them. Viewers can also call in to the show and ask Kazi questions, sometimes he will even take those appointments in his office. Kazi is now a pioneer in the property talk show industry within his own community. The show has been running for nearly 8 years now.

Celebrating their 15th anniversary this year, Prime Estate Agents (Member of ARLA, NAEA) are one of the most established independent estate agencies in London. None of this could have been possible without Kazi Arif's unique vision and unwavering hard work throughout the process.

Born and raised in East London, the second of five children, the young Muay-Thai kickboxer won her first World Title against Swedish champion Susanna Saljarvi and is the current World Kickboxing Association (WKA) 48kg champion, British Atomweight Champion, European Gold medallist and World bronze medallist.

Anyone who believes that women can't or shouldn't fight needs to meet Ruqsana Begum. Ruqsana has also won a number of British titles and European championship gold medals.

Ruqsana fights Muay Thai kickboxing, often referred to as the 'Art of Eight Limbs', the national sport of Thailand, where it is far more popular than football. Unlike regular boxing, competitors can use any combination of punches, kicks, knees and elbows to strike an opponent during a bout.

Ruqsana's sporting career is only scratching the surface. She is an inspirational figure way beyond her own community. She is a motivational speaker, teaches kickboxing classes for women, juggles numerous media commitments, and leads a busy family life with many responsibilities as the eldest girl in a large family.

Ruqsana's road to glory in one of the hardest sports was not easy. Raised in a conservative Bengali Muslim environment, the thought that a young woman would choose to compete in the kickboxing ring would not sit well with some in her community.

But Ruqsana has fought hard to explode negative perceptions of women in sport, and indeed young British Muslims and remains a shining example to young British people.

An Olympic Torchbearer in 2012 in her home city, Ruqsana has been nominated for several awards for her outstanding contribution towards sport and the community, including working with the Dame Kelly Holmes Get on Track Programme; such as the Sky Sports Sports-woman of the Year, Muslim News Sportswoman of the Year and the UK Muslim Women's Sportsperson of the Year.

The architecture graduate has also launched a stunning range of sports hijabs; Sports Hijabs by Ruqsana Begum, specifically designed for young Muslim women who might feel too intimidated or ill-equipped to engage in sport.

Mr Abdul Hai Khalique (Junel), Mr Abdul Quayum Khalique (Jamal) and Mr Abdul Muhith (Joynal) are the three brothers behind the internationally renowned grocers Taj Stores in Brick Lane. They took over the business from their late father Alhaj Abdul Khalique who came from Baur Bagh, Moulvibazar, Bangladesh.

Junel, Jamal and Joynal all grew up in Brick Lane, East London and progressed their education to Milestone Preparatory Private School in Bond Street, West London.

Junel studied at Architectural College before joining the family business. His passion for architecture and design saw him design and build his dream home in Essex. Jamal on the other hand attended the private American International College where he completed a Diploma in business before himself joining the family business followed swiftly by the youngest sibling Joynal.

Taj Stores is the name of an inspiration to British Bangladeshis in the UK. Taj Stores started its journey in 1936, by their late uncle Abdul Jabbar who then passed the business to the late Alhaj Abdul Khalique. Taj Stores is now on its way to celebrate the 80 years of its pride. Outside Bangladesh, if there is any business that has been operating with such goodwill and benevolence that is the Taj Stores.

They also established a charity organisation called J Brothers, whereby the project supports vulnerable and helpless families in Bangladesh by providing sheltered homes, installation of water pumps and donating land. Jamal quotes "Charity should begin from home. We are inspired from the love and feeling that my father and uncle showed to the people of Bangladesh. So we do not go for formalities, rather, we have started our charity work from our own village."

Today Bangladeshis are on the way to portray themselves as a successful community in the UK and Taj Stores is one of those names of successes.

The brothers have their own hobbies such as travelling, jet skiing, photography and golf.

Nelson Mandela said: "there is no passion to be found in playing small - in settling for a life that is less than the one you are capable of living." This ultimately sums up thriving personality Mahee Ferdhaus Jalil, who's played a huge pivotal role in the British Bangladeshi community for the last 15 years. He is one of the biggest successes to date is establishing Channel S - the first free-to-air British Bangladeshi satellite Television Channel.

Born in Moulovibazar, Bangladesh, Mahee came to the UK in 1988 as a teenager. Like many of our British Bangladeshi champions, his early days in Britain were endured by hard struggles. Mahee however embraced these challenges with utter determination and focus. He was known for 'dreaming big' and wanted to make his visions a reality.

In 1994, after obtaining training and experience, he set up one of the largest accident management companies in the UK called 'Prestige Auto Group'. The company saw steady growth and became a household name amongst British Asians.

Mahee's greatest success to date however was the establishment of Channel S. He started dreaming of a fully functional Television Channel in the UK in 2002. Mahee wanted a television channel which would engage communities directly, highlight issues which matter the most in the lives of British Bangladeshis, empower communities with the power of information, and create awareness amongst the community about their rights, opportunities as well as responsibilities. Mahee went onto creating a professional, passionate and experienced team.

Finally on 16th December 2004, Channel S started its official broadcast. Mahee saw a dream which eventually became a platform for all British Bangladeshis, inspired a generation in achieving their goals, took our community back to their roots, and reminded our younger generation of their history and heritage.

Mahee's vision of launching the Channel was no more a community channel - it became international through a partnership with humanitarian organisation - through generous community donations. He believes we can't take money with us, so invests in the community and good causes.

A passionate entrepreneur, Mahee is also successfully running his various other business interests - from property development to Law and IT. He enjoys mentoring young business enthusiasts so that they are able to settle a life capable of living.

The jewel in the crown for Lil was the opening of the Day of The Raj in Mill Hill in 1987 which at that time was one of the largest Indian restaurants in London.

It was a real trend setter and trail blazed the way for all future Indian restaurants, winning local and national awards by the handful every year. It was one of the most successful businesses in his empire and is still revered around the country and the brand is still going strong.

Any attempt to write history or present state of Bangla print or electronic media in the UK will not be complete without mentioning one name, Syed Samadul Haque. Born in Kishorehoni and brought up in the tea valley of Sylhet, Samadul Haque was educated in Dhanmondi Govt. Boys High School, Dhaka College and Dhaka University.

Adventure and carrying out new ideas is part of Samadul Haque's character. In 1973 while he was a Secretary of Dhaka College Student Union, travelled to India with a State Student delegation. After a brief break of study to attend Military Academy, Samadul Haque came back to Dhaka University to study Politics. While in the University he was also Director of a family business, Sputnik International Limited. From 1981 to 1983 he traveled to London several times on business. But journey to London in late 1983 was not a very pleasant one.

This time he came to London to sue a British Company, Wells Bridge Motors Limited of Cambridge for breach of Contract. This litigation in the High Court of London changed the destiny of Samadul Haque. He decided to live for some time in London and took up a career in media. Soon he was appointed as London Correspondent of Dainik Bangla, the then national newspaper of Bangladesh and began writing for different newspapers in Dhaka & London.

In 1984 Samadul Haque joined the Weekly Janomot of London. Soon became the News Editor and Executive Editor, and editor in 1989. In the year 1987 his story on personal life of the then President of Bangladesh H M Ershad was also picked up by Sunday Observer of London as lead story and in response the government of Bangladesh retaliated by banning 'Janomot' in Bangladesh.

He spent good ten years of his youthful time to revitalize and give a solid foundation for Janomot. In 1993-94 he served as part-time Media Consultant of Bethnal Green City Challenge, a project of the Department of Environment of British Government. In 1995 while he was editor of BNS, introduced International news agency service in Bangladesh in Bangla. He also represented CNN in Bangladesh from 1995 – 1998.

Samadul Haque is a pioneer of ethnic television broadcasting in the UK. In May 1998 he with two friends formed Bangla Television Limited and became Managing Director of the company. This Company launched first satellite Bangla TV Channel outside Indian sub-continent on 16 September 1999. During his long career in broadcasting industry he also served as Director of News of Reminiscent Television, Managing Director of Channel S Bangladesh and CEO of Takbeer TV in the UK.

His innovative contribution in British Bangla Media includes launching of 'Daily Janomot', first Bangla internet daily in 1995 and Bangla tele-news service in the UK in 1994. He is also a pioneer of Call Centre industry in Bangladesh. In the year 2009 he opened Orbit Communications Call Centre, first international Call Centre in Bangladesh.

Outside his professional world Samadul Haque is a Community activist. In 80's and 90's he was in the forefront of anti-racist and ethnic minority rights movement in the UK. He was a founder EC member of Tower Hamlets Law Centre, founder General Secretary of Bangla Shahitya Porishod in the UK and also one of the Founder of London Bangla Press Club.

Ahmadul Haque served as Deputy Mayor of Sandwell Metropolitan Borough Council. He was the first Bangladeshi Councillor elected in the Midland region in 1995 and has been reelected ever since. In 2006 Cllr Haque received an award from Channel S for his services to the community. Cllr Haque arrived in the UK in July 1963 and initially became a member of the Pakistan Welfare Association in Birmingham.

Whilst working in various different companies, Cllr Haque was always keen to get into politics and in 1965 became a member of the old Labour party. With friction simmering in East Pakistan and West Pakistan, Cllr Haque set up the first Bangladesh Action Committee outside of Birmingham in 1971. In the same year Cllr Haque helped raise close to £1500 from contributions made by the residents of North Birmingham for the Bangladesh Action Committee movement as well as setting Midlands Awami League.

Cllr Haque is a very active member of the Bangladeshi community always campaigned for equality and as a result in 1976 received an award from the Bangladeshi High Commission. Through effort and having to overcome numerous obstacles, Cllr Haque also helped set up the Tipton Muslim Trust Association which is now referred to as Al-Islah Trust and a community centre for local Muslims in Tipton.

Cllr Haque tries to serve all members of the community. In the mid eighties, Cllr Haque purchased a terraced house via the trust and later set up the Sandwell Confederation of Bangladeshi Muslim Organisation (SCOBMO).

Yawar Khan
Sector:
Catering

Yawar Khan is a Successful Pioneering Restaurateur, the Founder & Chair of Asian Catering Federation and Asian Curry Awards and the Vice President of the European Small Business Alliance (ESBA) .

Mr Yawar Khan has been a successful restaurateur since the establishment of his first restaurant - the Akash Tandoori in Wallington, Sutton over 43 years ago in 1978. He is one of the early pioneers of the now thriving Curry industry in Britain.

When the UK Government introduced limitations on visa awards to overseas workers in 2008 Yawar Khan rose to the challenge and founded the Federation of Bangladeshi Caterers - an organisation committed to providing support and advice and to the promotion of the cuisine, interests and activities of more than 12,000 British Bangladeshi restaurants in the UK at that time. With 8 out of 10 Indian restaurants in the UK owned by Bangladeshis, these restaurants formed the backbone of the British Curry Industry.

Some three years later in 2011, as a response to the growing demands of a burgeoning wider Asian population in the UK (there are more than 4.5 million Asians living in Britain), Yawar Khan took a lead in founding the Asian Catering Federation in an attempt to forge collaboration and cooperation between the different umbrella groups - the Bangladeshi Caterers Federation; the Chinese Takeaway Association and the Malaysian Restaurant Association and to provide a united front in terms of support and advice to the needs of restaurateurs serving cuisine from across the Asia spectrum. These included Bangladesh, India, Pakistan, Burma, China, the Philippines, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, The Middle East, Singapore, Sri Lanka, Thailand and Vietnam.

The Federation led a robust campaign to galvanise parliamentary members to support the designation of Bangladeshi workers as a 'shortage occupation' in order to make it easier to obtain special work permits. This eventually led to the establishment of an All Party Parliamentary Group in 2014.

Yawar Khan then capped these remarkable achievements by establishing the much celebrated annual Asian Curry Awards (now in its 12th year) .

Yawar Khan is currently Vice President of the European Small Business Alliance (ESBA) representing and advocating on behalf of over one million small businesses across 36 European countries in the European parliament in Brussels.

Yawar Khan continues to find time to commit to charitable work during the Covid Pandemic which shut down of the hospitality industry over a two year period - as government restrictions were introduced, Yawar Khan and his fellow director's encouraged critical support of food provision to hospital and emergency workers from among his federation members.

Yawar Khan also participates every year in fund-raising projects in association with the Mayor and Municipality of Sutton - raising thousands of pounds for the South Western Thames Kidney Fund, Cancer Research UK and other charities such as the Asian Trust .For over forty years he has maintained continual support to humanitarian organisations in his country of origin - Bangladesh, working closely with charities such as the Beanibazar Cancer and General Hospital.

Mr. Matin came to the UK in 1963 during the East Pakistan of present Bangladesh but always he had a strong feelings for his mother language. After his arrival he achieved few courses like Photography and Tea Trade from City of London College.

He is also a director of Shahjalala Islami Bank Security Limited. He holds directorship in Pritom Hotel Dhaka and current Chair of the organisation. Mr Miah has been a long serving pillar of the community not only as a distinguished social worker but as a successful business man setting up beneficial organisations in the UK and in Bangladesh and has been dividing his time between both countries effectively.

Sufi Miah is the Managing Director of ATN Bangla UK, a director of the British Bangladesh Chamber of Commerce and a successful property developer with a portfolio of properties in the UK and abroad.

Sufi moved his home in 2004 from a deprived part of West London to a luxury villa in one of UK's most expensive areas of Cuffley, Hertfordshire. He owns a fleet of luxury vehicles ranging from Aston Martin to Range Rover but Sufi still remembers his humble days when he did not have enough money for a bus fare. Sufi Miah and his family came to the UK in the early 1980's, he is the third son of Haji Abdur Rahman, and was born in Chandshir Kapon village of Bishwanath in the Sylhet district of Bangladesh.

His early childhood life started from a deprived inner city London borough, living in a small over-crowded flat in a council block, his parents worked hard to support the family. Sufi attended Sir William Collins School but seeing his parents struggle to support the family he took on the challenge to improve their situation and to give them a better quality of life.

He would get up very early before school started, so that he could go out and distribute local newspapers. After school he worked at a local confectionary shop until late in the evening. And during the weekends he worked outside in the cold on a market stall in Camden Market, where he would start work at the crack of dawn and finished his shift in the evening. The money that he made he gave it to his parent so they don't have to work so hard. Sufi's determination came from his father, a hardworking man who gave up everything for his children and always taught them to strive to become better people.

Sufi described those early teenage years of his life as the defining moment of his life. He says with a passion: "I was someone that took challenges in life in my stride. I worked hard, knowing that I had to take responsibility, helping my father to support my family. In those years I learnt the values of hard work, family commitment and dedication that has made me the person I am today".

It was clear that at a young age Sufi had an entrepreneurial spirit and with his early days of working on the market stalls gave him the street-smart edge that enabled him to spot a deal. Sufi's first business venture was in buying and selling cars, he did that on the side of his full-time job at Clarks. The car sales was making him profit but not enough to make a real difference, as someone for whom Sir Richard Branson was the ultimate role model, that was never going to be enough.

He decided to research and explore the opportunities in the property investment market. And with his father's advice and guidance he embarked on the property ladder and made his first house purchase at the tender age of just 20 years old. That was the catalyst for a successful property portfolio that he has grown from the mid 1990's and that is still growing today. Sufi is currently developing high-end luxury villas across Greater London. Sufi is actively involved in various charitable programmes and is currently supporting poor people in a village in Zakigonj, Bangladesh, where he solely funds the running of a Madrasa. In the near future he intends to develop this Madrasa to help students who wish to complete a Hafiz course.

Sufi is married to Mrs Shumi Islam, who is also his business partner and they are blessed with 4 children, Sahil, Isha, Niyaz and Eva.

Sufi and his son Sahil are passionate supporters of Arsenal football club and they are both season ticket holders. Sahil is a talented footballer and is currently being professionally coached and is keen to play professional football. However if he has any of his fathers' dedication, skill and commitment, he already possesses the strong foundations to make this a reality.

Mahbub Murshed is a name for his role in making accountancy an art, bringing accountancy into the drawing room and creating a new dimension to his profession. His success story is now a sensation in the British Bangladeshi community and media. His live TV programme, "Accountancy with Mahbub Murshed" is probably the first ever and the longest running accounting and tax advisory programme in the known world. This only happened because of his vision, hard work, dedication and passion. Mahbub Murshed, a Certified Practising Accountant, was born in 1962 in Tangail, Bangladesh. Having acquired a government scholarship from Bangladesh in 1982, he went to Bulgaria to study Computer Engineering at Technical University of Varna.

It was from here that he would graft his way to create one of the largest accountancy firms in East London. Upon arrival in Britain in 1987, it became evident that a qualification from a former communist country was not going to be easy for him to acquire a job in his field. With this in mind, he made the brave decision of starting from scratch and changing his path to accountancy. It was late Mr MS Zoha, a prominent Bengali accountant, who inspired Mr Mahbub. Mr Mahbub used to work for one of Mr Zoha's clients and the turning point of his life was when he went to Mr Zoha's office to collect his P45 and being offered a job in his office in 1991. Instead of using the conventional method of manual book keeping and accounting, Mr Mahbub became the pioneer among British Bangladeshis by using his computer programming skills to write his own software.

After being in the shadow of Mr Zoha for nearly 10 years and gaining invaluable work experience and academic qualifications, Mr Mahbub decided to set up his own accountancy firm, Mahbub and Co, in 2001 with his younger brother Shah Arif. Starting off with just one employee and a handful of small clients, it was a huge risk for anyone to start with a fragile business in a competitive market. But through dedication, multilingual skills and sincerity, Mr Mahbub was able to expand his business from strength to strength. His friendly professional approach towards his clients has given him a name, "The Accountant with a Smile". Additionally Mr Mahbub has supported many of the youth with work experience and career development. Currently Mahbub and Co is holding the ACCA Gold status as an employer, awarded only to the firms which provide high quality work experience in accountancy. After serving the community for more than a decade, Mr Mahbub launched his new and unique initiative to fulfil the community's need for accountancy related issues. He is the key person together with NTV Europe to start producing the programme "Accountancy with Mahbub Murshed". He believes in empowering the community. So, rather than bringing the people to the accountant's office he went live on TV to answer the questions in his own capacity.

Being inspired by the success of this TV programme, he decided to set up a training institute in conjunction with his firm where school leavers, accounting students, newly qualified accountants and unemployed people could gain hands-on training and practical knowledge. The initial purpose of this training programme was to break the vicious circle of "not getting a job without experience and no experience could be gained without a job". Mr Mahbub devotes time from his relentless schedule to teach the students. He also sponsors charities, sports, cultural and community activities.

Mr Mahbub is passionate about photography and gardening. His amateur, yet artistic photography is loved by the wider audiences in social media. He plays badminton, listens to music and watches cricket.

Mr Mahbub is married to Nilufa Murshed, daughter of a well known Sylheti businessman of the 1960s - Mr Mosahid Ali. Their son, Nayeem Murshed, has graduated in Biochemistry from Imperial College London, and daughter, Nimah Murshed, is an A Level student.

Abdul Karim Nazim

Sector:
Business

Abdul Karim Nazim is a very successful businessman, property developer and community activist.

It all started in 1963, when Abdul Karim Nazim's father and uncle opened Maharani in Camden. At this point the Clapham branch was already opened but his father was not involved. His father was his role model as he was growing up so he wanted to get involved in the family business too. In 1984 Nazim joined the family business and has been involved ever since.

Since being involved in the business, there are a lot of things that motivate him but also make him smile. For example, being based on Camden High Street, he gets to meet new people from different backgrounds every day as Camden is a huge tourist attraction. Also being able to maintain a good relationship with his regular customers and local businesses is his favourite part in having a business. Furthermore, being one of the oldest restaurants in Camden, more and more people wish to come and visit them, making their loyalty to Camden High Street their unique selling point.

As he has worked in Indian restaurants from a young age, he understood the industry a lot more and realised that he would need to create some different flavours in order for him to stand out. As he is from Bangladeshi heritage, he knew about the ingredients used in an Indian restaurant which is why he was able to create his speciality dishes with ease. They cater for all palettes, whether you like your curry extremely mild or extremely hot with a desi twist.

Nobab Uddin

Sector:
Media

Nobab joined Janomot in 1990 and became its Editor in 1997, a position he still holds. Janomot, the oldest ethnic Bengali newsweekly in Britain, was established on 21 February 1969 and has, with Nobab's diligence and dedication, become the leading popular newspaper within the Bangladeshi community in UK and Europe. His commitment to the journalistic integrity has ensured that Janomot continues to earn unparalleled respect across different members of the community.

Having studied for his Bachelor of Science in Quantity Surveying Building & Construction, he continued his studies and obtained a Diploma in Construction Management. He started his career working within the construction industry, and continued his career progression in local government working for different local authorities and housing associations. He is currently working for a leading housing association in London at senior management level and is a member of several professional bodies.

Nobab is one of the founder members of the London Bangla Press Club. Established in 1991, it is an important association for Bangladeshi journalists in Britain. In addition to carrying out his role first as Treasurer of the Club, he was President from 2014-16.

Nobab is respected for his voluntary work across various community and charity organisations in London. From 1990 to 1994, he was the General Secretary of the largest Bengali organisation BWAG (Surma Centre) in Camden, North London. Indeed, his role as General Secretary was during a seminal time as the local British Bangladeshi community developed in London and he was instrumental in working with Camden Council to deliver a dedicated building for the Surma Centre.

Nobab is the Chief Adviser of the historic Bangladesh Centre in Notting Hill, an active associate of London Borough Tower Hamlets 'Boishaki Mela Engagement Group' and is also an Adviser of the 'British Bangladeshi Power & Inspiration 100'.

He has loved sport from an early age, representing his school and district at national level in both badminton and athletics in Bangladesh. This keen interest in sports led to him forming the Bengali Sports Council in UK 1988, in support of National Sports Council. He was founder Secretary of this organisation, encouraging and motivating youths to take an active part in sports. The engagement between community and youth centres was instrumental in helping British Bangladeshis integrate into both the wider community during the turbulent 80s in London as well as mainstream British sports culture. He helped create and foster a family atmosphere in this organization, which crucially continues to serve as a social networking space for other British Asian groups as well.

During the early eighties he formed Link Promotions, a cultural and promotional organisation, which has been performing plays and cultural shows in the UK. Since 1982, Nobab has written and successfully staged several plays across the country to critical acclaim. His status as playwright and director has had, perhaps, the most tangible impact within the British Bangladeshi community. His productions appeal directly to Bangladeshis and Nobab is unflinching in reflecting profound social dilemmas and tackling taboo subjects, such as forced marriages and drug use in the British Bangladeshi community.

He has published five books, and edited three, including 'The Racist Murder of Altab Ali', which was important in highlighting the senseless murder of a Bengali East End, garment worker in 1978.

Nobab Uddin is married with two children.

These are the power brokers and key influences on the way that we all live and work in the UK today. Much has been said and written about the diminutive British-Bangladeshi with the sincere and winning smile. The fact that the Scots have come to admire, like and respect him is an eloquent testimony to Dr Uddin's many years of hard work. First Minister Alex Salmond recently paid tribute to Bangladeshi businessman Dr Wali Tasar Uddin MBE, who was launching his biography, Wali Uddin - Blessed Son of Two Nations. The Rt Hon.
