17th August, 2015.

Dear Mr. Karim,

I have been asked to thank you and the Editor for your kind letter to The Queen on the publication of the 2015 British Bangladeshi Who's Who.

Her Majesty much appreciates your thoughtfulness in writing and, in return, sends her good wishes to the staff, readers and members of the British Bangladeshi community featured in this year's publication.

Yours sincerely,

Christopher Sandamas The Chief Clerk to The Queen

"I am delighted to welcome this year's edition of the British Bangladeshi Who's Who, which showcases an incredible wealth of talent.

"In this edition, we recognise the inspirational British Bangladeshis – whether that's in businesses, sports, entertainment, education, professional services or charity.

"British Bangladeshis have had a huge impact on our economy, creating thousands of jobs and contributing millions to the economy.

"Over generations, we have built something extraordinary in Britain – a successful multiracial, multi-faith democracy where people can come with nothing and in one or two generations can rise as high as their talent allows.

"British Bangladeshis embody that spirit.

"Celebrating these achievements is really important and I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate all those involved in putting this year's edition together and say a big well done to British Bangladeshis: Who's Who for recognising so much talent.

"I thank you all for everything you have done and continue to do."

Foreword from the Editor in Chief

From humble beginnings, the publication is now in its 8th year.

We have unearthed some gems in our community. As for those who have truly excelled, regardless of age, background and wealth, we have honoured them with the prestigious British Bangladeshi Who's Who award.

This publication belongs to all of us. It is a reference point and many individuals and organisations use it in that way. It is a publication which has immortalised the hard work and achievements of members of our community. As we continue this journey to highlight the wonders and successes of the British Bangladeshis, I hope that you enjoy reading the fascinating life stories within the publication.

Mohammed Abdul Karim (Goni) 18th October 2015

Foreword from the Editor

We have now reached our 8th edition and who would have thought so at its inception in 2008. The real heroes are those who feature in the publication, but also those individuals who work behind the scene to put this publication and the awards ceremony together.

The publication continues to grow and although we maintain a limited number of profiles, every year we are thinking of doing something new.

It is inspiring to see the young and old in our community thrive. However, the greatest challenge for the publication remains and that is unearthing the wealth of hidden talent. This is where we need you.

We are forever grateful to our sponsors, supporters and well-wishers, for without them the publication would not be where it is today.

I hope you enjoy reading this edition as much as I certainly have.

Mahbub Murshed

Sector:

Accountancy and Media

Mahbub Murshed is a name for his role in making accountancy an art, bringing accountancy into the drawing room and creating a new dimension to his profession. His success story is now a sensation in the British Bangladeshi community and media. His live TV programme, "Accountancy with Mahbub Murshed" is probably the first ever and the longest running accounting and tax advisory programme in the known world. This only happened because of his vision, hard work, dedication and passion.

Mahbub Murshed, a Certified Practising Accountant, was born in 1962 in Tangail, Bangladesh. Having acquired a government scholarship from Bangladesh in 1982, he went to Bulgaria to study Computer Engineering at Technical University of Varna.

It was from here that he would graft his way to create one of the largest accountancy firms in East London. Upon arrival in Britain in 1987, it became evident that a qualification from a former communist country was not going to be easy for him to acquire a job in his field. With this in mind, he made the brave decision of starting from scratch and changing his path to accountancy. It was late Mr MS Zoha, a prominent Bengali accountant, who inspired Mr Mahbub. Mr Mahbub used to work for one of Mr Zoha's clients and the turning point of his life was when he went to Mr Zoha's office to collect his P45 and being offered a job in his office in 1991. Instead of using the conventional method of manual book keeping and accounting, Mr Mahbub became the pioneer among British Bangladeshis by using his computer programming skills to write his own software.

After being in the shadow of Mr Zoha for nearly 10 years and gaining invaluable work experience and academic qualifications, Mr Mahbub decided to set up his own accountancy firm, Mahbub and Co, in 2001 with his younger brother Shah Arif. Starting off with just one employee and a handful of small clients, it was a huge risk for anyone to start with a fragile business in a competitive market. But through dedication, multilingual skills and sincerity, Mr Mahbub was able to expand his business from strength to strength. His friendly professional approach towards his clients has given him a name, "The Accountant with a Smile".

Additionally Mr Mahbub has supported many of the youth with work experience and career development. Currently Mahbub and Co is holding the ACCA Gold status as an employer, awarded only to the firms which provide high quality work experience in accountancy. After serving the community for more than a decade, Mr Mahbub launched his new and unique initiative to fulfil the community's need for accountancy related issues. He is the key person together with NTV Europe to start producing the programme "Accountancy with Mahbub Murshed". He believes in empowering the community. So, rather than bringing the people to the accountant's office he went live on TV to answer the questions in his own capacity.

Being inspired by the success of this TV programme, he decided to set up a training institute in conjunction with his firm where school leavers, accounting students, newly qualified accountants and unemployed people could gain hands-on training and practical knowledge. The initial purpose of this training programme was to break the vicious circle of "not getting a job without experience and no experience could be gained without a job". Mr Mahbub devotes time from his relentless schedule to teach the students.

He also sponsors charities, sports, cultural and community activ-

Mr Mahbub is passionate about photography and gardening. His amateur, yet artistic photography is loved by the wider audiences in social media. He plays badminton, listens to music and watches cricket.

Mr Mahbub is married to Nilufa Murshed, daughter of a well known Sylheti businessman of the 1960s - Mr Mosahid Ali. Their son, Nayeem Murshed, has graduated in Biochemistry from Imperial College London, and daughter, Nimah Murshed, is an A Level student.

Published author Nazia Ali embraced her talent for writing from a young age. Her earliest accolade was the Young Author's Award in Bridgeport, CT. Followed by an original short story titled From Bangladesh to America--the piece was published in a local magazine. Since then, a dream had been born. Her vision is for her writing to be a practical tool for her readers to build a relationship with their creator--no matter their faith. Ali's work explores dawah and community building.

As a Bangladeshi native, she was highly inspired by her parents--native author, Manoara Shanur and charity worker, Mohammed Choudhury. Kodomtoli, Sylhet was home to Ali in her earlier childhood. Growing up, Ali has spent a good part of her life in the U.S. where she has studied and spent her adolescence. Her family moved to the states in 1988. While living there, she was experimental with her writing and honed her talent. Ali later met the love of her life and moved to the U.K. where she settles today.

Debut book, Healthy and Halal Choice (2012) was Ali's introduction to healthy lifestyle choices and building a balanced life. The book invites different faiths and ethnic groups to try different recipes that promote a healthy lifestyle. Her debut was well received and made several world appearances including an international book fair in Frankfurt, Germany, book signings in the United States, United Arab Emirates, and Bangladesh. At the local level, Ali was recognized and awarded by Channel S for Healthy and Halal Choice.

After outstanding debut success, Ali released her second book, Into the Light from the Darkness--a fictional novel about a woman's journey towards Islam. When asked about style and thematic expression, Ali chooses to cite the Quran and Sunnah in her writing. She chooses to preserve the authenticity and simple message of her Creator and drive examples of the Prophet (PBUH) and his followers.

When Ali is not writing, she is committed to local services and non-profit work. Currently, she serves as the UK Chairperson for the MSB Foundation and the Muslim Baag Madrassa. She is heavily involved with the youth and hosts healthy cooking workshops where children explore the culinary arts; she has also introduced Halal food to several different local schools alongside being a judge at numerous cooking competitions. Ali has also hosted several local healthy cooking demos--one in particular that was featured at a local food festival. Her commitment to her community has been recognized among several platforms both at the local and international level.

Ali is the face and chairperson of the NFA Foundation and among many of her accolades, her foundation drove her to be an honorary guest speaker for many different events in the USA, UK and Bangladesh. She is an established property developer and community champion.

Shofiqul Alam is a successful businessman, entrepreneur and founder of the hugely successful Southall Mela. Shofiqul is from Jogonnathpur in Sunamgonj in Sylhet. He first arrived in the UK in 1987 as his family migrated here in search of a better life, as so many from the South Asian continent have. After completing his schooling, he began to work in his parent's restaurant 'Bilash', working hard to balance his studies in Business Management while gaining valuable practical experience at the same time. He observed and learned customer relations, stock operations, staff management and finance, while building a base in Southall, West London.

Shofiqul's passion for the local area and community was matched by how much he adored Bangladeshi culture and he sought to fuse the two worlds in what had become his hometown.

In 1998, he started 'Seafood and Poultry' - a business which imported from Bangladesh and brought fresh produce from the finest seas to the UK. In 2013, he founded the charity organization 'Southall Vision' with the aim of promoting education, cultural and language awareness among migrant communities as well as provide support to the poor in Bangladesh. Through this charity, Shofiqul managed to find a way to give back to his homeland while promoting its cultural values in London and helping communities from abroad. He sought to celebrate Bengali culture further and so held a free family event in Southall Park to commemorate Boisakhi in 2014. Due to the fantastic response and interest from different communities keen to learn more about Bengali culture, he decided to spread its appeal wider in 2015 and founded Southall Mela.

Southall Mela took place in June 2015 and brought a fusion of East and West to an area that celebrated the diversity of London's Asian community and it's contribution to the UK. He meticulously planned the event for a year in advance, with a grand vision for hosting a mela like London had never seen before. One that would welcome all communities, celebrate their different cultures and be a safe, family oriented fun day out with the very best of entertainment, food and attractions. Shofiqul hand-picked a variety of UK-based Bangladeshi acts and gave them a showcase on a stage they would share with internationally acclaimed artistes. He provided youth from the local community with experience in event management, advice on working with, and interaction with media sponsors as well as an insight into working within the showbusiness industry.

Southall Mela 2015 brought local talent onto the same platform as top billed artistes and legends such as Apache Indian, B21 and Mumzy Stranger, all of whom pioneered the UK Asian music scene alongside tomorrow's trailblazers including Khiza, Zack Knight, Adam Saleh and others. Southall Mela was a huge success and gained many accolades, with the greatest being the audience and artiste reaction to this free family event that celebrated the festival of Boisakhi and Bangladeshi culture alongside Indian, Pakistani, Yemeni and other communities on a universal stage. Southall Mela was one of the most successful melas of 2015 in London and planning has already begun for Southall Mela 2016.

Shofiqul Alam has become a name within the fields of live entertainment, philanthropy and business, giving back to the local community that provided him with an opportunity while promoting the culture of Bangladesh. He continues to expand his output through diversifying his repertoire and offering artiste management, support for new talent in the music industry and a host of exciting projects in the pipeline for 2016 and beyond.

Abdul Aziz

Sector: Entrepreneur & Social Work Practitioner Abdul Aziz is the co-managing director of Regents Lake Banqueting Venue in Tower Hamlets. This is Aziz's first business venture and as the youngest of the directors he started the company without any prior experience of the wedding industry nor running a big business. His background is in law; he worked for a city law firm as well as Appeal Courts. He had great interest in reading law and at a point wanted to train as a lawyer but his main passion was in understanding and working with people. In particular, he wanted to explore and understand the human cognition; psychological processes; behavioural science and human development. He left his legal work and went to university, where in 2008 he completed his undergraduate honours degree in Psychology. His interest in business and becoming an entrepreneur was coincidental. This interest stemmed partly from his research and study of Business and Occupational Psychology, which uses psychological theories in examining consumer behaviour; psychology of marketing and understanding organization as systems. Although business was becoming an area of increasing interest, Aziz also wished to pursue a professional career. Whilst setting up Regents Lake, Aziz undertook his professional qualification at the prestigious Tavistock NHS Clinic in Swiss Cottage London. After two years of study, in July 2013 he was awarded his Master of Arts in Social Work. For two years Aziz worked full time setting up and running Regents Lake and at the same time studying and training at the Tavistock. During his training he worked at St Hilda's East Community Centre in Shoreditch as well as for Barking & Dagenham Adult Social Services. As a qualified social worker Aziz wishes to pursue his career helping vulnerable adults and children in Tower Hamlets. He sees his career as a means to give back to the very community where he has lived most of his life. He hopes to start his professional career in the near future.

Since obtaining his Masters degree in July 2013 Aziz has been able to dedicate himself to the business as he wants to take Regents Lake to a new height, making it the gold standard in the wedding and venue industry. He now works full time and heads the marketing, finance, business strategy, procurement and has many other executive roles. One of Aziz's core aims for Regents Lake has always been to produce an experience for customers that cannot be found or matched in any other venue. In this respect he believes he has made a significant impact as many facilities and amenities are exclusive to Regents Lake and many of these have become its own Unique Selling Points.

Apart from running a venue Aziz is also the director of a new catering company which he and his partners hope to refresh, innovate and bring high quality product and services to the wedding industry. Aziz believes that for too long the wedding catering market has been stagnated with the same choices and its oversubscribed menus. He believes the time has come for a refreshing change and a new beginning for exclusive catering to take a foothold in the marketplace. The focus will be on exceeding towards excellence, quality, choice, service and innovation rather than mass selling low quality mediocre products and services that have saturated the market. Aziz and his partners are passionate about this new approach and are already seeing growth in the demand for premium catering services. The incremental shift towards quality over quantity has started and the hope is that the Bangladeshi consumer will continue in this trend.

Running both of these businesses take up a lot of time, however, Aziz firmly believes in a balanced lifestyle, which is extremely important for both physical and psychological well-being. Aziz spends most of his spare time with family. He lives with his parents, his wife and two children.

Suhail Ibne Aziz was born in Sylhet, Bangladesh. His ancestral home is Thoigaon, Balagoni Thana. After passing matriculation and intermediate science examinations with distinction, he joined the Pakistan Navy in 1954. Following pre-cadet training in West Pakistan, he went for naval training at the world renowned Britannia Royal Naval College, Dartmouth, England, and ships of Dartmouth Training Squadron. He was Commissioned by the British Board of Admiralty in 1958. This was followed by service as Sub. Lieutenant and Lieutenant on Pakistan Navy ships - destroyer Khaibar and minesweeper Mubarak.

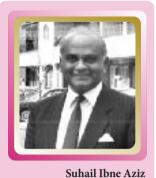

Since coming to England in 1966, Suhail obtained bachelors and masters degrees in economics of London University, and a diploma in management studies. His professional qualifications include: Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Management (FCIM); Fellow of the Institute of Consultancy (FIC); Fellow Certified Management Consultant (FCMC). Mamun Chowdhury is a highly successful British businessman with over 25 years experience in the design and manufacturing of high-end outerwear. He is of Bangladeshi origin from the village of Moynabad of Chunarughat in the District of Habigonj. Having completed his education in Bangladesh, after a short period in the Middle East, Mamun arrived in Britain in December 1991.

Being innately an entrepreneur, he immediately started setting up his own business. In 1994 he established London Clothing Limited, importing garments from abroad and selling to clients in the UK and rest of Europe. This was supported by setting up his own factory to manufacture garments here in the UK.

Realising quickly how fierce the competition was and that the East End clothing manufacturing trade was on the decline. In 1996, He decided to change his business model and focus only on high-end outerwear and work with some of UK's top designers. Being always socially responsible, in 1998 his business was large enough to provide opportunities for fashion students to gain work experience. Mamun says that he learnt as much about designing from the top designers as he did from the fashion students.

Mamun used his freshly honed designing skills to design and develop his own range. Still hungry to grow yet humble enough to recognise his skills gaps, he decided that he would explore taking on a partner to grow the business further. So in 2001, Mamun asked his good friend Rob Huson, a top city fashion Executive to join him and thus London Tradition Limited was born.

Mamun's success has been honoured by her Majesty the Queen by being awarded the highest business accolade in the UK with the Queens Award for Enterprise 2014, International Trade for over 600% growth in 6 years. Sufi Miah Sector: Media/Real Estate Sufi Miah is the Managing Director of ATN Bangla UK, a director of the British Bangladesh Chamber of Commerce and a successful property developer with a portfolio of properties in the UK and abroad.

Sufi moved his home in 2004 from a deprived part of West London to a luxury villa in one of UK's most expensive areas of Cuffley, Hertfordshire. He owns a fleet of luxury vehicles ranging from Aston Martin to Range Rover but Sufi still remembers his humble days when he did not have enough money for a bus fare.

Sufi Miah and his family came to the UK in the early 1980's, he is the third son of Haji Abdur Rahman, and was born in Chandshir Kapon village of Bishwanath in the Sylhet district

His early childhood life started from a deprived inner city London borough, living in a small over-crowded flat in a council block, his parents worked hard to support the family. Sufi attended Sir William Collins School but seeing his parents struggle to support the family he took on the challenge to improve their situation and to give them a better quality of life.

He would get up very early before school started, so that he could go out and distribute local newspapers. After school he worked at a local confectionary shop until late in the evening. And during the weekends he worked outside in the cold on a market stall in Camden Market, where he would start work at the crack of dawn and finished his shift in the evening. The money that he made he gave it to his parent so they don't have to work so hard. Sufi's determination came from his father, a hardworking man who gave up everything for his children and always taught them to strive to become better people.

Sufi described those early teenage years of his life as the defining moment of his life. He says with a passion: "I was someone that took challenges in life in my stride. I worked hard, knowing that I had to take responsibility, helping my father to support my family. In those years I learnt the values of hard work, family commitment and dedication that has made me the person I am today".

It was clear that at a young age Sufi had an entrepreneurial spirit and with his early days of working on the market stalls gave him the street-smart edge that enabled him to spot a deal. Sufi's first business venture was in buying and selling cars, he did that on the side of his full-time job at Clarks. The car sales was making him profit but not enough to make a real difference, as someone for whom Sir Richard Branson was the ultimate role model, that was never going to be enough.

He decided to research and explore the opportunities in the property investment market. And with his father's advice and guidance he embarked on the property ladder and made his first house purchase at the tender age of just 20 years old. That was the catalyst for a successful property portfolio that he has grown from the mid 1990's and that is still growing today. Sufi is currently developing high-end luxury villas across Greater

Sufi is actively involved in various charitable programmes and is currently supporting poor people in a village in Zakigonj, Bangladesh, where he solely funds the running of a Madrasha. In the near future he intends to develop this Madrasha to help students who wish to complete a Hafiz

Sufi is married to Mrs Shumi Islam, who is also his business partner and they are blessed with 4 children, Sahil, Isha, Niyaz and Eva.

Sufi and his son Sahil are passionate supporters of Arsenal football club and they are both season ticket holders. Sahil is a talented footballer and is currently being professionally coached and is keen to play professional football. However if he has any of his fathers' dedication, skill and commitment, he already possesses the strong foundations to make this a reality.

Mr Allam Ullah is the son of Mr Noim Ullah and Mrs Asharafun Ullah. Mr Ullah currently resides in Sheffield, England and is originally from Farkul, Hobigoni, Sylhet.

Mr Ullah studied computer engineering in college amd has a diploma in Professional cooking. Mr Ullah is an aspiring Chef making way in a well established Bangladeshi food industry. However his ambitions look further than a field of the usual run of the mill Indian restaurant/takeaway food. Mr Ullah aspires to ultimately produce and serve fresh and authentic gourmet Bangladeshi/British food with a twist, taking in the tastes and needs of the new generation of Indian food lovers.

To do this Mr Ullah recognised that he needs to develop his skills beyond what a typical restaurant chef has had in the past, thus he completed a Professional Cooking Diploma at Sheffield College. This course taught a wide range of skills from knife skills, European cooking and food presentations.

Mr Ullah and his family have always been in the Indian restaurant industry and their current restaurant 'Cutlers Spice', which was opened in October 2011, is located in an old converted Sheffield pub. Every element of the restaurant has been designed and created with choices made by himself and his family.

Ms Rekha Waheed is currently one of the most talented British Asian writers. Born in West London, Ms Waheed became an instant success after releasing her debut novel, 'The A-Z Guide to Arranged Marriage'. Her distinct style has been described as bridging the gap between old world traditions with new world savvy. Ms Rekha Waheed secured a two book publishing deal with Headline Publishing Group.

Her second novel 'Deshi Girl' hit British bookshelves in the autumn 2009.

The publisher has also secured the sequel to Ms Waheed's debut novel 'The A-Z Guide to Arranged Marriage', which is scheduled to be launched in the spring of 2010. Rekha Waheed is currently represented by MBA Literary Agency. Ms Waheed completed her MSc in Economic Development at SOAS, University of London and during her time there held the position of treasurer of the Islamic Society.

Whilst pursuing her passion for writing Ms Waheed travelled the world as a Corporate Consultant. However, she soon caught the attention of a literary agent delivering public readings at the Harrow Writers club. She has since released her debut novel and co-founded Monsoon Press Publisher. Through Monsoon Press, she is also working with the Arts Council and Penguin to raise the profile of British Ethnic and Muslim literature. Ms Rekha Waheed has previously sat on the board of Women in Publishing and is an active promoter of improved literacy programs in the British Bengali Community. In addition, Ms Waheed has worked voluntarily as a treasurer for a Bengali community organisation.

Ms Rekha Waheed is continuously generating interest after reading at the London 2006 and Spitalfield's 2007 Literacy Event. Her unveiling of the intricacies of Brit-Asian experiences for the mainstream in an adept manner has resulted in her being cited as one of Asiana's Faces to Watch in 2006. A regular guest for the BBC Asian network, Ms Waheed consistently stresses the need for literature that caters for diverse urban ethnic communities that exposes the challenges of British- Asian culture. Ms Rekha Waheed is set to become a familiar face.

Naufal Zamir is a successful entrepreneur, a dedicated businessman and a committed leader. He arrived in the UK in 1999, equipped with a degree in law from Dhaka University, and started down the same path as his legally-adept family. His father, brother and sister are all legal professionals, and by 2003, Mr Zamir had completed his LLB at London University, qualified as a Barrister-at-Law and was called to the bar by the Honourable Society of Lincoln's Inn.

Armed with only a laptop and a fax machine, Mr Zamir set off on a mission to create a business that would challenge him, test him and push him to grow as a person, a businessman and a leader. It was from those humble beginnings in 2004 that he founded Zamir Telecom.

In the company's short history, it has achieved phenomenal growth in all three of its serving sectors and has established itself as a trusted name in the international wholesale market, a wellrecognised brand in the retail market and a respected service in the corporate sector. Recently, Zamir Telecom has soared to new heights, being named amongst the fastest-growing UK tech companies in the Sunday Times' Tech Track 100 in 2011 and 2012. It has expanded its operations in Middle East, South Asia, South-East Asia,

Africa and North America and notably, the company has expanded exponentially, year after year, in spite of rough economic trends globally.

One of Mr Zamir's forte is public speaking and he has addressed audiences in award ceremonies, events and congregations of industry peers at the highest level. But even with all his success, Mr Zamir continues to dedicate himself to furthering his education and development as businessman. He has attended the LSE Summer Courses in Leadership and Entrepreneurship and regularly attends seminars and events relevant to successful personalities. He has worked alongside a broad range of consultants - whose areas of expertise range from finance and management to technology and regulatory - and is an active member of the entrepreneur community around the world.
