10 DOWNING STREET
LONDON SW1A 2AA

I delighted to provide a personal message for the British Bangladeshi Who's Who 2023 publication.

This publication will indeed provide a great opportunity to showcase the valued contributions made by the British-Bangladeshi community across the UK. I am extremely proud of the accomplishments of the British-Bangladeshi community that have made Britain the modern, diverse and forward-looking country that it is. I send my congratulations to each one of these talented individuals and hope that their stories will inspire others.

My congratulations to you all on this 14th anniversary edition. I hope the publication is enjoyed by everyone.

Message for Who's Who publication

The British-Bangladeshi Who's Who publication is an exceptional initiative that proudly showcases the remarkable accomplishments and successes of our highly talented Bangladesh-British Diaspora, who have made their home in the United Kingdom. I am pleased to learn that the 2023 edition of the Who's Who will be published soon and I look forward to learning about the new generation of brilliant Bangladeshi-British personalities to be recognised this year.

The Government of Hon'ble Prime Minister has given the highest priority to the welfare and recognition of the contributions of non-resident Bangladeshis, particularly the Bangladesh-British diaspora, who have tirelessly demonstrated their patriotism and love for Bangladesh, their ancestral home since the country's independence in 1971. Their sacrifice for and commitment to the mobilisation of political support of the government and the people of the United Kingdom during Bangladesh's glorious War of Liberation in 1971 are deeply valued by the Government and the people of Bangladesh.

The Bangladeshi-British community's hard work, dedication, philanthropy, investment, and remittances significantly contribute to building a progressive, prosperous, and secular Bangladesh, as well as enhancing political, economic, and people-to-people connectivity between Bangladesh and the UK.

The Bangladeshi expatriates, particularly the new generation, are making remarkable contributions to British society in various areas such as politics, business, art, culture, education, justice system, law enforcement, defence, and the service sector. Therefore, it is fitting that the Who's Who Publication celebrates and recognizes the talents of our dynamic Bangladeshi-British diaspora, motivating future generations to pursue excellence.

I would like to extend my best wishes to the organizers of this initiative and to the Who's Who publication, and wish them all the success.

Emon Ahmed

Sector: Law/ Real Estate

Emon Ahmed is an international lawyer who specialises in corporate, banking and finance law. Emon is currently the Chief Executive Officer of the board to the Ackroyd Legal Group.

In his early years, Emon was a commercial Director at Stirling Ackroyd. Emon started at Stirling Ackroyd at a young age and developed his career within the investment and development sector. Having advised corporate clients for over 10 years Emon was promoted to the position of Managing Director and expanded the company's operations on an international scale.

In 2015, Emon and his late business partner Mr James Goff, founded Ackroyd Legal, a city law firm specialising in real estate, litigation, corporate and finance law. Today the group, having acquired 15 large solicitor's practices throughout the UK, some of which have been established over 300 years, has over 220 lawyers and is regarded as one of the fastest growing law firms nationally. Ackroyd's international offices include operations in the United Arab Emirates, Qatar, Kuwait, and Singapore.

The group has a stellar reputation within the industry, for advising major asset funds and international finance houses.

Emon is also chairman of EA Capital. The company is a Swiss private equity fund based in Geneva with an appetite for undertaking asset management and investing in start-up companies that are early in the development stage – often with pre profit – with high growth potential. The company typically invests into a project with majority stake, undertakes an active role helping to define all elements of the target's strategy, to mature and eventually identify possible routes of exit. Today EA capital has diversified its interests to reduce risk, by investing in a portfolio made up of retail, commercial finance, real estate, and tech companies.

Emon has come from a long lineage of mature business, his family have been in real estate and hospitality since 1951. Emon's grandfather, the late Mr Israf Ali, established his first real estate business in September 1951, which still stands today, as the backbone of the group's success. In 1978 Emon's father, Mr Shab Uddin established the famous Tower Tandoori restaurant of Tower bridge, which is now in its 45th year of trade, having recently gone through extensive refurbishment. It continues to grow and flourish.

Apsana Begum is the Labour Member of Parliament for Poplar and Limehouse. She was elected in December 2019 with a majority of 28,904, increasing Labour's majority in the constituency. Apsana is the fourth British Bangladeshi to be elected to the UK Parliament and the first hijab-wearing UK Member of Parliament. She delivered her parliamentary maiden speech during a debate about International Women's Day, paying tribute to the rich history of women's struggles for social justice in East London and pledged to serve the East End constituency in the traditions of socialism solidarity and internationalism. Apsana is a member of the Socialist Campaign Group of Labour MPs Prior to her election, Apsana read Politics at Queen Mary University of London and completed a post-graduate diploma in law and community leadership at the School of Oriental and African Studies.

She was a trustee of Women's Inclusive Team, a Somali women-led charity supporting of residents faced with unemployment, school exclusion and those in need of pre-school support Apsana worked at Tower Hamlets Council, Tower Hamlets Homes, Queen Mary University of London and the NHS in a number of roles, including as a diversity and inclusion practitioner, contributing to strategies to make the local workforce more reflective of the community. Before her election, she was a prominent anti-austerity campaigner, campaigning for public ownership, retention and democratic control. She campaigned for public nurseries and services for community languages, special educational needs and disabled children in Tower Hamlets. Since her election, Apsana has continued to champion these causes in Parliament vocally advocating for public ownership and progressive taxation.

Apsana has vehemently opposed legislation seeking to curb human rights democratic freedoms and civil liberties including the Nationality and Borders Act, advocating for unjust immigration law to be repealed and for an amnesty, recourse to public funds and work permit rights to be provided to undocumented migrants. She has also been outspoken on the issues of islamophobia, against NHS privatisation and climate injustices impacting Bangladesh and Somalia. In 2022, Apsana led a historic Parliamentary debate to commemorate UNESCO International Mother Languages Day, paying tribute to the Bengali university students martyred whilst trying to preserve the Bangla language in 1952. Apsana Spoke in Sylheti, which was the first time it was spoken in the in UK Parliament. Apsana is a member of the Education Committee where she advocates around the issues of child poverty, free higher education and opposing academisation and the Prevent duty. She is the Chair of the All-Party Parliamentary Group of Domestic Abuse and Violence and played a role in the passage of the Domestic Abuse Act through Parliament. Apsana has spoken out about her own experiences of domestic abuse and violence.

In July 2021 was cleared of criminal allegations made against her, which she described as being vexatious and having malicious intent. In Poplar and in Limehouse, Apsana has stood shoulder to shoulder with local workers going on strike for better pay and working conditions including those employed by Tower Hamlets Council, Barts NHS Trust and Uber. During the Covid-19 pandemic, she raised the pandemic's disproportionate impact upon the Bangladeshi community - including those working on the frontline in the catering, private car hire and care sectors - with the Prime Minister and called on the government to prioritise vaccine rollout to ethnic minority communities.

Apsana Begum MP

Sector: Politics

Apsana Begum was born and raised in in Poplar and Limehouse. She is the fifth daughter of the late Manir Uddin Ahmed, former civic mayor of Tower Hamlets and former councillor for Shadwell ward in her constituency. She has credited her late father's guidance for her political activism, describing him in Parliament as having been a "forward-thinking community organiser".

Apsana was awarded MP of the Year for Young People 2022 by the Patchwork Foundation at a ceremony held at the House of Commons.

Early this year, Foyso hosted a networking dinner event on behalf of the Asian Catering Federation (ACF) to help build stronger relationship with Scotland's communities, Parliamentarians, businesses and the catering circle. But also, as an opportunity to discuss issues faced by restaurant owners and catering businesses due to the cost-of-living crisis in Scotland and across the UK.

Foyso is heavily involved in fundraising campaigns for causes including Bangladesh Cyclone Appeal in Scotland, St Colombia's Hospice, Leukaemia & Cancer appeal, Sick Kids appeal, British Heart Foundation and many others. In recognition of his services to the community, Foyso was awarded an MBE in Her Majesty's New Year's Honours list 2004.

Tofozzul Miah

Sector: Catering/Business

Tofozzul Miah an entrepreneur and the founder of the award-winning Bayleaf Group and Hiltop Motors, is located in North London. He is well-known for his innovative and forward-thinking mindset in business and plays a key role in his community. Tofozzul migrated from Bangladesh to the UK in the 1970s at the age of 9. From a young age, he aspired to have control over his own destiny and realised that self-employment would provide that opportunity.

From a young age, Tofozzul worked labour-intensive jobs after school and on weekends, including working in the rug trade and at Sunday markets. Although he faced setbacks when he opened his first Asian restaurant, he made the decision to become a chef to acquire the comprehensive skillset required to run a successful establishment. He worked in a Punjabi-owned restaurant for the next three years until an opportunity arose to become a partner in a restaurant in North London. With his newfound kitchen experience, he took another leap and opened his own business, which proved to be considerably profitable. During this time, he worked seven days a week, dedicating 14 to 16 hours each day.

Recognizing the emerging market of food delivery in the 1990s, Tofozzul decided to venture into this new avenue, opening Bayleaf Takeaway in North London. Within the first few years, the establishment garnered numerous awards and accolades and continues to thrive after 27 years. Additionally, he identified a gap in the market for a fine dining Indian restaurant, leading to the opening of Bayleaf Restaurant in 2013, which has also achieved great success. Currently, it ranks among the top 5 out of 17,500 restaurants on TripAdvisor in the city of London.

Alongside his journey in the catering industry, Tofozzul started buying and selling cars as a hobby in 2006. The impressive returns prompted him to expand operations and purchase a forecourt that could accommodate 20 vehicles. With continued success, he further expanded by acquiring a car showroom in 2009, establishing Hiltop Motors as a quality German car dealership with up to 100 cars in stock. It has been highly successful, generating a turnover of nearly £6 million per year. Recently, Tofozzul embarked on a new and exciting business venture with his three sons, launching the used-car supermarket Car Planet, which stocks over 500 vehicles at their Watford site.

Tofozzul is also a founder-trustee of the Bangladeshi Welfare Society of Barnet, which recently acquired a freehold Masjid worth almost £1 million to serve the growing Muslim community. Additionally, he holds the position of Director and Secretary General of the British Bangladeshi Caterers Association (BBCA). This organisation is highly recognised in the sector and has provided him with opportunities to make appearances in mainstream media, including the BBC, ITV and Al-Jazeera, as well as participate in discussions with government ministers at No.10 Downing Street regarding policies affecting the catering industry.

Mahbub Rahman

Sector: Journalism/Government

Mahbub Rahman is a highly esteemed figure in the realm of journalism, celebrated for his unwavering dedication and significant contributions to the field. Currently, he holds the position of Communications Officer for a local government authority in London. Born in Dhaka, Bangladesh, in 1968, his journey in journalism began during his college years in 1986 when he embarked on a path of crafting articles for various esteemed local and national publications.

In 1987, he embarked on an illustrious career at one of the leading regional daily newspapers, Sylhet Dak, where he held various pivotal positions over the course of a decade. His fervor for investigative journalism guided him to collaborate with the national news agency PROBE. Furthermore, he made notable contributions as a stringer for BBC Bangla service and served as the Sylhet bureau chief of the Bangladesh News Agency (BNA).

Mahbub was also a passionate amateur photographer. He played a leading role in founding the Sylhet Photographic Society (SPS) in March 1992 and, during his six-year leadership journey, served as its first General Secretary, Vice President, and President, elevating SPS into a prominent national organization. Since 1997, even after leaving Bangladesh, he has continued to serve as an advisor to this photographic organization.

In 1997, he relocated to the UK with his family and joined the Bengali newsweekly Notun Din. During that time, he also worked for Daily Sangbad, a prominent Bangladeshi newspaper, as a UK correspondent.

In the television arena, he left an indelible mark, playing a pivotal role in the inception of the first Bangla language TV channel in the UK, Bangla TV.

In July 1999, Mahbub shifted his career into the world of television, commencing work for Bangla TV and becoming a key member of the pioneering team that turned the dreams of the Bengali community into reality. His diverse roles encompassed Programme Planner, Programme Manager, and News Editor. Three years later, he assumed the position of Head of News and Current Affairs for the channel.

Mahbub also took on the role of Editor for the UK's curry industry magazine, Curry Life, up until 2006.

In 2002, he assumed the role of Ethnic Media Advisor (part-time) at one of London's largest social housing associations, where he served for nearly two decades.

In 2003, he joined as a Communications Advisor for the UK's most diverse local authority, Tower Hamlets Council. Upon leaving his housing association position, he committed himself full-time as a Communications Officer for Tower Hamlets Council. Spending almost 20 years in the Local Government Authority's busy press office, he has worked closely with both local and national media, gaining extensive experience in local government communication.

Mahbub has been a dedicated member of numerous professional organizations, including the National Union of Journalists and the Commonwealth Journalist Association (CJA). Serving as the former Assistant General Secretary, Mahbub Rahman played a key role in reorganizing the London Bangla Press Club and served as Vice President of this club for two consecutive terms. His influential roles within the London Bangla Press Club, the Sylhet Press Club, and Sylhet Union of Journalists reflect his unwavering commitment to fostering excellence in journalism.

He also served as a founding member and secretary of the Jalalabad Association UK.

Married to Hasna Rahman, a civil servant who works for the Ministry of Justice, Mahbub acknowledges her sacrifice and contribution, which have enabled him to pursue his career and achievements. The couple has been blessed with two daughters, Mehjaben Rahman and Atiya Rahman.

Through his multifaceted career and steadfast dedication to journalism and community engagement, Mahbub has made exceptional contributions to both the profession and society as a whole.

Abdus Salam

Sector: Sports

Abdus Salam is a community figure both in Moulvibazar and in London. He is the son of Late Mohammed Samroo, a leading figure in the curry industry and one of the founders of BCA, and Mrs Sayeda Sufia Khanam, a social activist in Moulvibazar.

His passion for cricket began when he was involved within his locality in the Old Hospital Road cricket team. As his love for cricket grew he began playing with Friends Cricket Club from 1982. From 1987, Abdus came to the U.K, where he joined the Bangladesh Youth Cricket team in London, later joining Abahani cricket club, Surrey. His love of sports extended to football and table tennis also. Abdus Salam continued being directly involved in Cricket both through playing, and philanthropy. He was a founder member and current treasurer for Rajnagar Welfare Society UK. In 2005 he immersed himself further into sharing cricket with the wider community, becoming the first chairman of London Tigers cricket club. Abdus led the Tigers on a tour of Bangladesh in 2011 during the ICC Cricket World Cup.

Abdus Salam is the founder president of the Bangladesh Cricket Supporters Association (BCSA UK). This is the official supporters' group of the Bangladesh cricket team as recognised by the International Cricket Council. The BCSA UK worked in coalition with the ICC during the Champions Trophy 2017 and ICC Cricket World Cup 2019, both of which were held in the UK. The ICC confirmed that the BCSA sold over 10k tickets to Bangladeshi fans during these events.

Abdus Salam helped found Cricket Players Association Moulvibazar (CPAM UK), to encourage the previous generation of the Moulvibazar community now in the UK to reconnect through cricket. He became the first CPAM UK president between 2018-2019. He leads by example, is very active, still playing cricket at the age of 56.

Abdus Salam is a founder of the Bangladesh District Cup Cricket Competition UK, now in its fourth year.

Abdus Salam is involved in a range of philanthropy activities, including in his neighbourhood in Moulvibazar, donating cricket equipment, sponsoring the Moulvibazar U14 district cricket team and guiding newly arrived cricketers in the UK to cricket pathway programmes.

Whenever the ECB want to consult on any issues related to Bangladesh, the media team contact Abdus as he has become a well know voice of Bangladeshi cricket in the UK. He appears regularly on TV as a commentator of Bangladeshi cricket.

In May 2023, the BCSA UK supported Essex Country Cricket Club to organise the Bangladesh vs Ireland matches at Chelmsford, Essex. Due to the influence of Abdus Salam, he was given the prestigious honour as the first official Bell Ringer during the ODI between Ireland and Bangladesh. This recognition has never been given to any Bangladeshi person before and that is why 2023 is the year of achievement for Abdus Salam.

Abdus Salam is married to Naznin Nahar Salam and has three children. Tabia, Sakhawath and Affan.

Valerie Ann Taylor OBE

Sector: Philanthropy

Valerie Ann Taylor was born on the 8th February 1944, in Bromley, Kent, UK to parents Marie and William Taylor.

Valerie is a Fellow of the Chartered Society of Physiotherapy (FCSP) and first came to Bangladesh with Voluntary Service Overseas (VSO) in 1969 to work as a physiotherapist in the Christian Hospital, Chandraghona in the Chittagong Hill Tracts, East Pakistan.

Her stay was interrupted by the War of Independence in 1971. During the war Valerie was evacuated but returned to the country in October 1971, two months before the liberation of Bangladesh. Having grown up living close to the National Spinal Injuries Centre at Stoke Mandeville in England, she was very aware of the need for rehabilitation services for the disabled in Bangladesh.

In 1973 Valerie returned to England to raise funds to establish a rehabilitation centre for paralysed people. She stayed in England for two years before returning in 1975. It took another four years before CRP was able to admit its first patients in 1979. During this time, Valerie worked in the Shaheed Suhrawardy Hospital in Dhaka and it was in the grounds of this hospital that CRP had its first premises, two cement store rooms which were used to treat the first spinally injured patients. Rather like gypsies, having moved to three locations during the first eleven years, CRP then found a permanent home and moved to Savar in mid 1990 where the head office is situated.

Valerie's achievements have been recognized with various accolades. She received the OBE (Order of the British Empire) in 1995 from Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth; the Bangladesh Independence Award in 2004; Honorary Doctorate Degree (2010), by York St John University, UK and The ONE Award 2013 by Rotary International. Nirafat Anam Memorial Inclusion Award (NAMI Award) 2015 by The Asian Centre for Inclusive Education (ACIE), In 1998 Valerie was granted Bangladeshi citizenship by the Government of Bangladesh.

Valerie has been legal guardian to two Bangladeshi girls for several years. She continues to live adjacent to the CRP-Savar premises with her younger adopted daughter, Poppy. While Joyti, the elder one works as a computer operator in the CRP office and lives next door.

Shayella Ahmed was born in Bangladesh and moved to Abu Dhabi at the age of six months. She spent her childhood and her early teen years growing up in the U.A.E. where her father worked as an engineer for a power station that provided water and electricity. She spent a few years in Bangladesh in her late teens and studied in Bangladesh.

After finishing her H.S.C. in Bangladesh, she married and moved to London. Shayella focused on being a mother to her 3 young daughters and a homemaker. Whilst raising her children, she had an aspiration to further her studies and return to education. With her husband's support, Shayella was able to achieve her goal in attaining higher education and completed an undergraduate degree in Business Management at Queen Mary University London - all whilst simultaneously raising 3 young children.

After graduating, Shayella briefly worked at LCH Clearnet, initially determined to build a career in finance. Shayella also played a major role in supporting her husband in his business ventures and contributing fundamental decisions. However, Shayella realised she wanted a career that was more fulfilling and wanted a job role where she could directly help and work with people. That sense of fulfilment was met in her current job role in the NHS as a District Nurse Coordinator. Following COVID lockdowns, Shayella realised the importance of feeling connected to her community. Shayella's involvement in the Beautiful Ladies Group as co-founder has led her to form genuine friendships with like-minded women within the Bengali community.

It has also allowed her to advocate for causes she deeply cares about, such as women empowerment and erasing the feeling of isolation many stay-at-home and working mothers in the bengali community deal with. Shayella wishes to continue expanding her reach to women in the community and create spaces for women to meet and connect.

Mustofa Ahmed Lucky is a highly accomplished entrepreneur hailing from East London. With a diverse portfolio of business interests spanning property, sports technology, freight, and remittance services, he has made a significant impact on both the business world and the community.

Lucky embarked on his entrepreneurial journey in the year 2000 and has since established multiple successful enterprises, contributing to job creation in the local East London community. One of his early ventures was in the digital printing and photography industry, where his pioneering efforts with emerging technology garnered substantial attention and recognition.

In the remittance industry, he has served tens of thousands of remitters across the UK and facilitated remittances exceeding £500 million to destinations like Bangladesh and other countries through his money transfer services.

As the sports technology sector evolved into a burgeoning industry in 2000, Lucky identified an untapped market in East London. He established a popular gadget buy-sell-exchange store, catering to the needs of young sports gadget enthusiasts. This venture not only provided affordable gaming gadgets to the local youth but also offered competitive prices for selling or exchanging their devices.

Lucky has consistently expanded his property portfolio, encompassing both residential and commercial properties. His remarkable success in this sector is a testament to his business acumen, strategic vision, tireless work ethic, and effective teamwork.

Despite his remarkable success and reputation in the business sector, Lucky remains deeply committed to giving back to the community. He serves as a director of the British Bangladesh Chamber of Commerce & Industries (BBCCI) and actively participates in numerous national and international charitable initiatives. His philanthropic efforts focus on poverty alleviation, education, women's empowerment, and support for individuals with disabilities.

Mustofa Ahmed Lucky is not only a successful entrepreneur but also a dedicated philanthropist and community leader. His passion for innovation, commitment to community welfare, and business acumen continue to inspire and uplift those around him.

Dr. Afsana Binte Anwar, a guiding light in the realm of medical care and community enrichment, stands as a testament to unwavering dedication and heartfelt contributions that have woven together to shape an inspiring journey.

Emanating from Agrani School, Dr. Anwar's insatiable appetite for knowledge became the genesis of her illustrious journey. Her brilliance illuminated the corridors of Dhaka Medical College (DMC). Armed with an MBBS and a distinctive prowess in Obstetrics and Gynaecology, she has etched her name as an indomitable presence in the realm of medicine. After moving to the UK, Dr Anwar entered training in General Practice and earned the MRCGP qualification and further cemented herself as a prominent and highly-respected senior GP in the West Midlands.

As a GP Trainer, she imparts knowledge and skills to the next generation of medical professionals, leaving an indelible imprint on the future of healthcare. She has a special interest in family planning and sexual health with a DFSRH qualification.

With a special interest in family planning and women's health, she champions causes that are not just medical but profoundly human.

Dr. Anwar's tenure as a leading member and an Executive Member of the Bangladesh Overseas Ladies Organisation (BOLO) exemplified her commitment to fostering collaboration and change by providing support to Bangladeshi women in the UK. Her resolute spirit found its calling in the founding of the DMC Alumni UK.

Beyond the realms of medicine, Dr. Anwar's artistic soul thrives as a singer, painter, and local event organiser. This multi-talented facet of her character mirrors her diverse approach to life, adding vibrancy to her interactions and engagements within the community.

Dr. Anwar's life journey is a symphony of accomplishments, artistry, and service. Her existence is a testament to the power of intellect, creativity, and compassion harmonising to create an impactful existence. As a cherished member of the community, she has rightfully etched her place among the distinguished British Bangladeshis who inspire and uplift all those fortunate enough to cross her path.

Founder & CEO, Work Permit Cloud

Immigration Advisor and Commissioner of Oath

Md Luftur Rahman is an accomplished Chartered Legal Executive (FCILEx) Lawyer and Commissioner for Oaths, who is highly regarded for his work in the migrant community in the UK. He is not only a businessman but also a community activist, whose contributions have earned him the prestigious British Bangladesh Who's Who award in 2022.

With over two decades of experience in the immigration services sector, Mr Rahman established WorkPermitCloud (WPC). WPC has helped numerous companies secure a sponsor licence and maintain sponsorship compliance as per UKVI guidelines. Moreover, he transformed the lives of more than 10,000 people through Skilled Worker Immigration in the UK.

Mr Rahman's voice is often heard at various events organised by the British Bangladesh in the House of Lords, House of Commons and Scottish Parliament. He has helped raise the profile of the British curry industry and is a regular benefactor to local charities in Whitechapel and surrounding areas.

In May 2023, WPC welcomed the No.1 all-rounder cricket player Shakib Al Hasan as its brand ambassador. His association has significantly bolstered the presence and impact of WPC. In Feb 2023, Mr. Rahman was introduced to His Majesty, King Charles III, by Ayesha Quresi MBE, where he described the range of services provided by WPC, including the recruitment of skilled workers from overseas to fill the gaps in the health, care, and hospitality industries. These industries play a significant role in the British economy, and WPC is recognised as the most reputable immigration law firm among the Bangladeshi community.

In summary, Mr. Rahman is a respected member of the migrant community in the UK, an accomplished lawyer, and a compassionate philanthropist who has dedicated his life to serving others. His contributions have not gone unnoticed, as evidenced by his numerous accolades, awards, and recognition from various organisations and individuals alike.

Zahir graduated, LLB (Hons) from the University of Wolverhampton in 2003. In 2004-5, he completed the Post Graduate Diploma in Law/Bar Vocational Course from City, University of London (formerly Inns of Court School of Law) and successfully completed the bar course. Subsequently, he undertook an LLM from the University of Northumbria. He has also obtained a Post Graduate Certificate Course at Politics and Contemporary History from Kings College London.

He is a practising lawyer in both jurisdictions: the United Kingdom and Bangladesh. In 2006 he was registered as an Advocate under the Bangladesh Bar Council and in 2008 he obtained a practising licence as an Advocate of the Supreme Court of Bangladesh. It is notable that his elder brother Mr Justice Md Abu Tariq served around 16 years as a Justice of the Supreme Court of Bangladesh; his late uncle, a senior barrister Mr Hasib also served as a Justice of the Supreme Court of Bangladesh.

Zahir started his own law firm in 2009 where he practices human rights law, immigration, family law, and conveyancing. Zahir's practice developed rapidly and he is consistently ranked by his peers as a leader in his areas of expertise. He has successfully represented thousands of appeals at the First Tier and Upper Tribunals since 2005. He is currently elected Vice President of the Society of British Bangladeshi Solicitors, and formerly served as an elected governing body member of the same society.

Zahir was born in Sylhet, Bangladesh. His father Mr M A Matin was an organiser of the freedom fighters in 1971 during the time of liberation war in Bangladesh; after Bangladesh became independent he became the first Chairman of Beanibazar municipality. Zahir came to London to study law and explore his potential as a practising lawyer. He lives in London with his wife Sultana (an Economics lecturer) and their three sons.

Propa Rezwana Anwar is a British Bangladeshi television presenter, published book co-author and recent King's College London graduate, now working in Westminster.

Daughter of Dr Zaki Rezwana Anwar FRSA, Propa's media career began from a young age, in her case with participation in children's programmes on Bangla TV. Thereafter, she performed on 'It's Our Day' - a popular bilingual children's programme on Channel 5 (Sky 777).

Appearances ranged from singing and reciting poetry, to reading children's news ('Chhotto Khobor') and even creating her own brand of bilingual satirical stand-up comedy. Aged 10, she passed multi-stage auditions to sing solo at Royal Albert Hall. Passion for engaging audiences was nurtured when with utmost love and enthusiasm she began presenting 'It's Our Day' herself as a teenager - the very show she enjoyed performing on as a child.

Propa now additionally hosts 'Sunday Show' on Channel 5, this TV show for adults featuring trajectories of inspiring British Bangladeshis. Propa was honoured as BBPI Jamdani Network's youngest member, to meet His Majesty King Charles III and present Queen Consort Camilla with a Jamdani sari on behalf of British Bangladeshis. Despite being London born and raised, Propa sat A Level Bangla exams early, and does all she can to promote Bangla culture. She hosts numerous high profile national interfaith events too, both as Vice Chair of Barnet Multi Faith Forum with Barnet Council's support and as Head of Events for London's Interfaith Youth Council.

An alumna of the country's top performing girls' state school (Henrietta Barnett School) in her gap year Propa initiated the social media strategy for the country's top performing boys' state school (Queen Elizabeth's School, Barnet). Next during her degree at King's College London, she was one of the youngest Faculty Education Committee members in the Faculty of Social Science & Public Policy; Propa got the Economic and Social Research Council funded opportunity to co-write a book (ISBN 978-1-8382998-1-1) with researchers about making education experiences meaningful. Here she credits her mother, late father Dr Uday Syeed Anwar and school teacher Charlotte Humphreys for instilling within her a love for academia.

Notably, Propa successfully tutored tens of young students 1:1, who passed their 11+ exams and now attend a range of well-performing schools. Propa is Governor at Summerside Primary School and spoke as British youth representative at the Transforming Education Summit 2022, at United Nations' HQ in New York. She is currently partnering with Microsoft to encourage children to learn to code by co-organising school trips and workshops.

Since a young age, Rumana Begum was an enthusiastic STEM student who always had a passion for science. She graduated from Queen Mary University of London in late summer of 2012 with a Bachelor of Engineering (with Honours).

Rumana's journey into becoming a professional Quantity Surveyor was a little different than expected. She was working full time for a year in a different industry, yet in a corporate environment. However, she had a great manager and support network, that allowed her to continue to seek her dream profession and goals. During that time, she started her Masters course in Quantity Surveying at Kingston University London. On her first month of this course, Rumana attended a career's fair held at the university ground. She networked with Skanska UK as well as other companies and representatives who were at the fair. Rumana offered to take a week off her full-time job at the time to simply shadow a Senior Project Surveyor working for Skanska. The Managing Director of Skanska heard of this news and invited Rumana for an interview. He was very impressed with Rumana's tenaciousness, hard work ethic and the fact that she took annual leave from her full-time employment to gain work experience at Skanska UK. He offered her a position in the company as an Assistant Quantity Surveyor there and then, including a scholarship for her Masters degree. Since 2014, Rumana has worked on some great iconic projects such as the Battersea Powerstation and had opportunities to work with a number of UK's Tier 1 Construction Companies. She is now a Senior Commercial Manager and has recently moved to Saudi Arabia with WSP to work on a mega project launched by the Custodian of the Two Holy Mosques of Saudi Arabia.

Rumana has been working since the age of 17, it was her young days in retail that helped her develop her confidence and strong interpersonal skills. She was taught to find a balance between her job, personal life and academic life since a young age.

Rumana hopes to promote the construction industry to young females, specifically aspiring young females of the BAME community to come on board and have a positive impact on the skyline of the world.

Councillor Jasmin Chowdhury has worked in the spheres of public health and social justice for over two decades with a strong passion for equality, human rights and social justice. Her professional career with the NHS, academia as well as the charity sector has been dedicated to reaching out to otherwise excluded individuals and communities and tackling inequalities. Jasmin has dedicated her working life in developing the most effective and sustainable way to bring about positive changes in our communities and society as a whole.

Jasmin has won two national awards for her work and was also shortlisted for a UK parliamentary selection in 2013. Actively involved in social justice campaigns. Rooted in to the values of fairness and equality, she is particularly interested in empowering communities, feminism and development of women in all spheres of life and beyond geographical boundaries.

As a senior practitioner with Public Health Wales, Jasmin has led initiatives to give every child the best start in life as well as addressing vaccine inequity in Wales. While involving and engaging with communities at a grass-route level to bring about positive and sustainable societal changes, she has also contributed to the development of some of the ground-breaking legislation including the first legislation in UK on Ending Violence Against Women & Girls.

Described as a passionate, inspiring and driven individual by colleagues, Jasmin has reached out and supported many vulnerable groups and individuals both through her professional as well as voluntary roles. Sharing both personal and professional experiences as well as leadership skills has helped her to inspire and support those who often struggle to find a voice.

As an active campaigner for climate and social justice Jasmin often chairs and speaks at conferences and events on these issues. While publications of her work in public health, the awards and public life has helped to raise profile of the issues and campaigns, she thinks the most rewarding part for her has been the transition in the lives of the individuals and communities she has supported and also the impacts of her work in policy and decision making at local, national and international level.

Jasmin was elected as a Councillor for County Council of the City and County of Cardiff in May 2022.

Mr. Hafiz was born in the village of Pirolistan, Narail. His early education was in West Bengal and Bangladesh. He completed his BA and LLB in Pakistan. He was the president of the East Pakistan Students Association, National College, Karachi.

He travelled to England in 1963 and studied law at Council of Legal Education School of Law. During his legal studies in the UK, he wrote various columns for a Bangladeshi newspaper published in Bangladesh. In 1965 he participated in the well known 'Bethnal Green and East London Festival of Arts Public Speaking Competition', and secured second place. He was the only non-white person amongst the 23 participants and the audience.

He was called to the bar in 1970 and did his pupillage at a common law chambers, Lincoln's Inn. He appeared at one of the longest trials at the Old bailey and within a short time he appeared at a number of cases in the High Court and the Court of Appeal. For some time he was prosecuting in Crown Courts instructed by Scotland Yard.

Mr. Hafiz rendered voluntary services as a Regional Secretary (Greater London) of the Standing Conference of Asian Organisations in the UK and became a member of the Conciliation Committee of the Race Relation Board. His name appeared in the 'Asian Who's Who' 1975-1976 edition.

There was a large concentration of Bangladeshis living in Birmingham and the surrounding areas and in the 1970s and 80s Mr. Hafiz travelled to Birmingham on Sundays to give advice to the Bangladeshi community.

He was convinced that solicitors' help and assistance was most crucial and vital to the Bangladeshi community towards their settlement in the UK. He subsequently qualified as the first Bangladeshi solicitor and established his own practice under the name of 'Hafiz and Co Solicitors'. Soon his firm became one of the leading immigration practices in the UK.

As a solicitor Mr. Hafiz undertook medical negligence cases. One of his clients was awarded £4.5 million. He also conducted one case in the Privy Council and a number of immigration cases in the House of Lords.

He worked seven days a week. Sometimes he appeared on Vecton Television giving legal advice. Some lawyers commented at the time that about 25% of the older Bangladeshis had received advice and assistance from Mr. Hafiz, either directly or indirectly. In recognition of this he was given a life time achievement award.

When young Bangladeshis started practising as solicitors, Mr. Hafiz returned to the Bar and now gives free advice and opinions. In his local community he was the President of 'South London Aubokash Club'.

He is now the president of South London Bengali Social and Cultural Association.

Mr. Hafiz remembers his roots. In his locality he has built a mosque, an auditorium and a hospital. He finances Chokku Shibir every year and he helps the poor financially to receive medical treatment and to buy medicine and glasses. He gives a stipend to poor and meritorious students of eight local schools and colleges.

After 53 years of legal practice he is content that fathers, mothers and grandparents of many modern educated prosperous British Bangladeshis, give him dua, blessings and thanks in appreciation of his help to them. Those who are alive today still give him thanks when they have an opportunity to do so. This is his achievement, legacy and happiness.

Mr. Hafiz is married with three children.

Yashmin Harun BEM's refusal as an Asian Muslim woman to accept anything but the very best for her community is inspiring. Every personal challenge she has faced as a Muslim woman wanting to access sports, shapes her tireless work ethic. She is the founding Chair of Muslimah Sports Association (MSA), established in 2014, embraces best practice in the form of networking with governing bodies, constantly training, and learning so she can be the best version of herself as an advocate for women's rights through diversity and inclusion. Yashmin was awarded the British Empire Medal in 2020 for her work in increasing representation of BAME females in Sports. Yashmin continues to work closely with several stakeholders to ensure sports is truly for all.

Yashmin selflessly continues to ensure South Asian females voices are being heard. Her vision for the future is to see equality and equity for South Asian females in sports. Yashmin is also the Chair of Frenford and MSA Women's Football Club, which now engages over 100 girls play football from a South Asian background. She's a true advocate for better opportunities, sharing her lived experiences and the challenges she personally faced, to help educate others in the community.

Yashmin champions Muslim female representation in sports, whether that is at participation level, increasing the workforce or representation at an executive level. Yashmin has contributed to the recent House of Lords Sports and Recreation consultation and continues to share her lived experience on panels and as guest lecturer at Manchester

Met University. Yashmin has recently visited 10 Downing Street to speak about representation in sports through the Asian Women of the Future Network.

She is a champion for MSA but wears several 'hijabs' in which she continues to challenge National Governing Bodies to improve representation and opportunities for not only South Asian females but for the community as a whole. Despite her role as a Credit Policy & Governance Officer at SMBC Banking International, Yashmin recently completed a Masters in Global Public Policy for which she was awarded a scholarship.

Yashmin is a trailblazer, breaking barriers and challenging stereotypes. As the first Muslim Bangladeshi woman to become an iNED at British Fencing, elected Director at London FA, member of the FA National Game Board and FA Council Member, as well as her role in banking, she is inspiring the next generation and ensuring diverse voices are influencing strategies and policies to ensure sports becomes truly inclusive. Yashmin's most recent awards include the Asian Woman of Achievement Award for Sports and Sister in Business Award in 2023.

Other awards won by Yashmin and MSA include British Rowing; 'Social Inclusion' Project of the Year 2022, Archery GB Participation Project 2021, Outstanding Volunteer, & 'Spirit of Britain' 2020, Faith; Belief Awards, FA Grassroots Football Award, FA 'For All' Award; She Awards 2019, London Sports Workforce Award 2018 and The Muslim News Award 2017. As well as being shortlisted for the National Diversity Awards and Top 50 Influential Muslim nominee.

Dr Md Faizul Hassan is a luminary in the field of neurosurgery. As a Consultant Spinal Neurosurgeon at the prestigious Royal Orthopaedic Hospital NHS Trust, Dr Hassan's remarkable journey has been defined by dedication, excellence, and groundbreaking achievements.

Born in Bangladesh, Dr Hassan spent his formative years attending Barishal Cadet College, where he honed not only his academic prowess but also his principles of discipline and leadership. He carried these values with him to Dhaka Medical College (DMC), where his illustrious career began its ascent. Undergoing rigorous training in surgical techniques, he laid the foundation for his expertise, setting the stage for his future as an exceptional neurosurgeon.

Emigrating to the United Kingdom, Dr Hassan achieved a rare and historic milestone, becoming only the second first-generation Bangladeshi to secure a coveted place in the fiercely competitive National Neurosurgery Training Programme in the esteemed Northern Deanery. His accomplishment serves as an inspiration to countless aspiring medical professionals, proving that with determination and talent, barriers can be broken.

Over the course of eight arduous years, Dr Hassan's passion for his craft and unyielding determination sculpted him into a true visionary in the field. Triumphantly earning his FRCS Neurosurgery qualification, he solidified his position as a trailblazer, leading the charge in advancing spinal neurosurgery.

To augment his knowledge further, he regularly attends international neurosurgery and spinal conferences, staying at the forefront of cutting-edge advancements in his domain. But Mr. Hassan's thirst for knowledge knows no bounds. He actively shares his world-class expertise, selflessly dedicating time to teach and mentor junior doctors. He returns to Bangladesh from the invitation of the Bangladesh Spine Faculty to improve the country's spinal surgical infrastructure and advance technique. Moreover, he is a founding member of DMC Alumni UK—an charitable organisation of UK-based DMC alumni to reunite the college's community and provide support and advice to new UK doctors from Bangladesh.

A visionary in his domain, Dr Hassan's areas of expertise encompass a wide array of complex conditions, notably cervical spine disorders, intradural tumours, metastatic spinal cord tumours, and pioneering minimal invasive spinal neurosurgery. His contributions to the field have transcended borders, as evidenced by numerous publications in esteemed international journals and his compelling presentations at national and international conferences. He also has many publications in world-renowned journals related to spinal neurosurgery.

Yet, beyond the confines of the operating theatre and medical journals, Dr Faizul Hassan remains a beacon of inspiration for many. His character extends beyond his professional responsibilities, enriching the lives of countless patients and colleagues alike. Notably, his commitment to bettering the healthcare landscape is mirrored in his personal life, being married to a devoted GP and fathering two sons, one of whom is attending medical school.

From his early childhood, Sayed has always enjoyed making others laugh. He has always had a special talent for entertaining so he participated in media class at school. Sayed furthered his passion for entertainment after he came to England from Bangladesh in 1992 by appearing on multiple Bangladeshi media channels including NTV, ATN, Channel S and Channel I. He quickly gained popularity in the Bangladeshi community becoming a well known actor, model, presenter and singer. His work in the TV industry has helped to showcase Bengali culture to others as well as instil pride in Bengalis for their country. Not only does he support the Bengali culture, he also aims to inspire others of the South Asian community.

One hobby that Sayed loves is singing. He has released music on YouTube and hopes to release more in the future. Moreover, he was employed by Kings College London to work as a music teacher for the Third Age Project allowing him to share his love of music to students.

Sayed has performed in many impressive settings like the Royal Albert Hall where he was invited to sing. He has also acted in the famous 'New Home' and 'Polashi Teke Dhanmondi' plays written by the late Abdul Gaffar Chowdhury working alongside many famous film actors such as: Abul Hayath, Bipasha Hayath, Syed Hassan Iman, Laila Hassan and Pijush Bandopodai. He performed these plays in several locations including the Logan Hall in London, the Elizabeth Hall in Oldham and a hall in Birmingham. His talent led to him receiving many awards including an award for the 'Best TV Advert Personality' given by Ekty Shahed Ali Upohar and the 'Best Actor Award' given by Rahmat Ali from Darpon Magazine. In addition to this, the Bengali Sunrise Radio host, Misbha Jamal, presented Sayed with the title of 'Best Presenter'. An achievement that Sayed is very proud of is the award given by Camden's former mayor, Abdul Khadir, for his work as a community activist. But above all, the greatest prize the actor, singer, model and presenter has ever received is the love that has been bestowed from the multicultural society.

Overall, Sayed Saiful Hussain has had an immense positive impact on the Bangladeshi community through his work in the media and entertainment industry. He is extremely grateful to his parents, friends and family for their support. He continues to work hard for Bangladeshis and hopes to help and inspire others with his work.

Hafsa enjoys reading, socialising and travelling.

Muhammad Nazrul Islam embarked on his journey at the age of seven when he and his parents relocated from Bangladesh to Luton. It was in 1994, at the age of twenty, that he ventured into the world of entrepreneurship, marking the inception of a remarkable career.

His first foray into the business world led to the establishment of his maiden tandoori restaurant in Leicester, a courageous endeavour that proved to be a resounding success. The initial triumph of this venture ignited his entrepreneurial spirit, leading to the establishment of subsequent successes. Muhammad expanded his culinary empire, giving rise to Indian Paradise, Tandoori Knights, and the Raj restaurant, each a testament to his culinary prowess and entrepreneurial ambition.

However, his ambitions extended beyond the realm of gastronomy. He diversified his interests and acquired The Royal Hexham Hotel in Hexham, a strategic asset thriving in the heart of Hexham's vibrant tourist district.

Driven by a passion for financial acumen, Muhammad transitioned into the role of a mortgage advisor, completing the CEAMAP and subsequently founding his own enterprise, Halal Home Finance. His expertise garnered nationwide acclaim, drawing clients from all corners of the United Kingdom. Halal Home Finance's support of numerous successful ventures further solidified its reputation, earning recognition even from Bangla TV.

Continuing his remarkable journey, Muhammad forged a path into the realm of real estate with N.A Properties, an endeavor that continues to thrive and prosper. In addition to this, he ventured into the property arena once again, assuming the role of CEO at Luton Exclusive, a successful company specializing in commercial properties. Also, he serves as the director of City Corner in Sylhet.

Beyond his professional pursuits, Muhammad Nazrul Islam is a man of diverse interests. He finds solace in his love for travel, an avid football enthusiast, a dedicated gym-goer, and an adventurous connoisseur of global cuisines, making the most of his time dining out and exploring new flavors.

Originating from the village of Shahar Para in Jagan-nath Pur, Sunamgonj. Latif Miah Kamali arrived in the UK at the age of 11 in 1979. He teamed up with his late father, the esteemed Al-hajj Umda Miah Kamali, and his devoted mother, Dilara Begum, alongside his younger brother.

Within the ever-evolving hospitality and catering industry, Latif Miah Kamali stands as a visionary founder. He established "Neo Training Hub," a dedicated online platform committed to providing comprehensive training and education. His profound expertise comes from a BSc degree in Food Manufacture, specializing in Quality Assurance and Technical Management.

Latif is not just an instructor; he's a versatile educational content creator who designs engaging learning experiences. His chef qualification enhances his ability to tailor training programs to industry professionals' precise needs and aspirations.

However, Latif is more than just a consummate professional; he is a passionate advocate for diversity and inclusion. Through dynamic speaking engagements, he champions the importance of embracing differences in both the workplace and the community, accentuating that our true power is born from our rich tapestry of diversity.

In 2018, Latif received significant recognition for his exceptional achievements in the fields of Business and community excellence, being honoured with an award. In both 2021 and 2023, his relentless commitment to raising funds for various charitable causes throughout the UK garnered him well-earned accolades.

As a proud member of the Institute of Food Science & Technology (IFST), Latif demonstrates his dedication to staying informed about the latest developments in the food industry and upholding industry standards.

What sets Latif apart is his unwavering dedication to community service, with over three decades of active involvement in volunteer work. Notably, as the founder of U-nited Roots, he achieved a historic milestone by hoisting the Bangladeshi flag at the North Lincolnshire Council's civic building, marking the 52nd anniversary of Bangladesh Independence and National Day. Latif's dedication to safeguarding cultural heritage and fostering unity underscores his resolute mission to establish a more inclusive and harmonious society.

Beyond his professional pursuits, Latif is an avid reader with a keen interest in the application of artificial intelligence in learning and development. Furthermore, he firmly believes in the power of modern technology to facilitate lifelong learning. Latif advocates for the adoption of Software as a Service (SaaS), seeing automation as a driving force for streamlining operations, enhancing customer service, and optimizing resource management within the hospitality and catering industry. He envisions a society where every UK citizen can enjoy their rights without impediments like racism, and his commitment to creating a fair and inclusive society knows no bounds.

Latif's life stands as a testament to his family's unwavering support, including his wife Sultana Razia and their four remarkable children: Shakil, Ejaz, Iqra, and Ismah Kamali.

Tamanna Miah was born in Sylhet, Bangladesh, then moved to Kent to settle with her parents and four siblings. Tamanna started her journey in youth, community, volunteering and politics aged 11, and was inspired by her late father, Kamal Jahangir Miah (John) who passed away to COVID-19. He was a renowned community leader involved in multiple organisations including the Bangladesh Welfare Association Royal Tunbridge Wells (BWATW), Bangladesh Catering Association (BCA), the British Bangladesh Catering Association (BBCA), Bangladesh House, Sylhet Sadar Trust and many more.

Her first involvement in charity was volunteering for her father's first charity, BWATW bringing together the younger and older generations to create community cohesion. She then volunteered for local organisations including St Mary's Youth, West Kent Extra, alongside youth politics and was elected as the first Bangladeshi Muslim female as Youth Councillor and Chair of Sevenoaks Youth Council and Kent Youth County Council. She fundraised and campaigned successfully for years to raise £150,000 to establish Sevenoaks Youth Cafe- House in the Basement which helped thousands access help, support, activities, training, employment opportunities and benefit the wider community. She also campaigned successfully for the Kent Freedom Bus pass extension for 16-19yr olds unlimited Kent bus travel and helped secure thousands of petition signatures. Tamanna was the first Bangladeshi Muslim female recognised by the Kenward Trust Youth services for Outstanding Voluntary Community Contribution Award in 2010 educating youths on substance misuse. In 2011 West Kent Extra awarded her for Outstanding Contribution and Service to Kent Young people. In 2011 she was the first Bangladeshi Muslim female recognised at the Kent TryAngle awards for Overall Winner for Sevenoaks, Dartford and Gravesend, Special Achievement Award for Citizenship, Volunteering and Service to the community. In 2011 and 2012 she received two Diana Awards for Champion Volunteer 2011 & 2012. Alongside her involvement locally and regionally Tamanna volunteered for the British Youth Council (BYC) and was elected as Deputy Member of Youth Parliament representing Kent and the South East and had the once in a lifetime opportunity to sit in the House of Commons benches for debates. She was awarded the Youth Voice Award 2013 from BYC. Tamanna was recruited to be UK Young Ambassador for Europe representing British youths at conferences, conducting UK-wide research, consultations, events, producing a report with findings alongside recommendations to present to EU conferences and high-profile figures and returned with outcomes to action.

Tamanna was the first Bangladeshi Muslim female awarded scholarships to attend Jigsaw Performing Arts school to train in Drama, Dance, Singing and performed in shows and received an award to recognise her 4-year commitment to the Arts.

From 2012- 2017 she studied BA Media and Communications & Politics and Governance at Canterbury Christ Church university and graduated in 2018. She was the first Bangladeshi Muslim female awarded the most volunteer hours of 1000+. Tamanna was a Finalist for the British Red Cross Humanitarian Citizen Awards 2015 for commitment to volunteering and campaigning. She was the first Bangladeshi Muslim female awarded the 1st Young Upstander Award at the National Hate Crime Awards 2016 recognising her racist bullying campaign film work on ITV News. She also won the Janey Antoniou Award 2016 from Rethink Mental Illness as the first Bangladeshi Muslim female recognising her work in mental health, suicide, BAME and youth communities. Tamanna raised thousands, for years, for Britain's and Bangladesh's homeless and provided food and necessities. She was awarded for raising money as a Friend of RFC for Channel S for Covid-19 Crisis in 2020.

Tamanna is a TEDx Public Speaker, Media Spokesperson, Presenter, Researcher, Campaigner and has worked with over 85+ organisations in the last 19 years.

Shamim is a future leader and a proud young British Bangladeshi who has been spearheading real change within Leeds. Raised in one of the poorest postcodes in the UK, Shamim worked hard to overcome barriers, quickly seeking a passion for local politics and youth empowerment. Taking inspiration from Faruk Miah MBE he stood to be the Member of Youth Parliament for Leeds, where he was elected by 180,000 young people of Leeds to represent them in the House of Commons. This inspired an invitation to shadow and be mentored by prominent political figures John Bercow and Matt Hancock. Following this success, Shamim became a young political star and has since taken on several positions, enabling him to make real effective change within Leeds. Shamim was one of the youngest school governors in the UK, taking the position at 19. He has most recently advanced his passion for education, by being appointed as a Trustee of the Cockburn Multi Academy Trust. During this tenure as a Trustee of the five schools, Shamim has helped facilitate improvements in education and soften the impact of covid-19 by making work experience more accessible. This significantly impacted students, who can now learn and experience a sector they are interested in outside of the classroom. His commitment to enhancing the quality of education over the last 6 years was exemplified, when Cockburn School was judged to be Outstanding by Ofsted – celebrating the schools progress within the Leeds community.

Shamim is a big supporter and advocate of giving back to his roots and community. Alongside members of his family, he co-founded a youth club for British Bangladeshi's called "The Bangla Square Youth Club". This project aims to provide young people within the community access to extracurricular activities to improve their skill sets, culture capital, and experiences as British citizens looking to contribute to the wider society.

Holding a Master's in Law, he is now finalising his qualification as a corporate finance lawyer at a Top 40 Law firm, Shoosmiths. Utilising his network, he regularly hosts work experience days for students who have an interest in pursuing law. Combined with his community work, this has led to him becoming a multi award winner. He was named the British Muslim Young Achiever of the Year, the Yorkshire Young Achiever of the Year and received a Princess Diana Award for his role as a community leader.

Councillor Shahanara Naser (Momtha) was born in the village of Amkuna, Golapgonj, Sylhet. She arrived in the United Kingdom in 1977, together with her father, the late Jamshed Ali, her mother, Khaleda Khanom, and four siblings.

She spent her early childhood and primary school years in East London. She relocated to Bangladesh and enrolled in Sylhet's Blue Bird High School, later completing SSC (GCSE) at Sylhet Govt Girls High School. Her academic path led her to 'Sylhet Womens College' to complete her HSC (A level). Returning to the UK, she pursued higher education at Windsor and Maidenhead College. Her passion for healthcare led her to pursue a BSc in 'Health and Social Science' at New Buckingham University.

In 1993, she married Shah Abu Naser, Sajon
(teacher), son of Shah Moddosir Ali (Manik Miah), from Noyabondor Jaganathpur. Having dedicated several years to the NHS during the same time as an existing professional translator as well as a health advocate, she found immense joy in becoming a mother to her three children.

Driven by a commitment to positive change, she ventured into politics and achieved success as a Councillor on Luton Borough Council. Shahanara happened to be inspired to take another step because of her strong sense of Bengali culture, social justice, and equality for all. As an inspiration for various ethnic groups, Shahanara was motivated to move forward. Through her efforts, she has been working closely to enhance the lives of her constituents as well as make a meaningful contribution to the community.

Some examples of her community work include:
being involved in the community heritage project, assisting in the organising of Bengali cultural events for children and families through performing, dance, poem recitation, and theatre activities, as well as exhibiting the programmes. The aim was to introduce the younger generation to the rich, vibrant culture through entertaining learning while also promoting mental health and wellbeing for the entire family. Initiating campaigns for increased health care access, conducting health education workshops, leading local clean-up initiatives, and collaborating with community organisations to offer resources for underprivileged families are also part of her responsibilities. These endeavours reflect her dedication to creating a better environment.

Councillor Nazma Rahman, Mayor of Camden is a Labour Councillor for West Hampstead Ward, currently serving in her second term. She has lived and worked in Camden her whole life, with her three children.

Nazma has a strong passion for supporting young people and was appointed as school governor as well as a trustee of her local community centres. She is dedicated to listening to residents' concerns and always champions for underrepresented voices to be heard.

After years of voluntary and community work within her ward Nazma became a Councillor. She is a committed and empathic team leader, working to build effective relationships with organisations as she continues to tackle problems with her community.

Outside of her role in the Council, Nazma has a background in International Public Health Nutrition, and has previously worked as a nutrition consultant for health centres and hospitals across Camden. As a mature student, using the Sure Start and Home Start services, she was able to achieve her higher education qualifications and ensure her children had access to free activities outside of school and during the summer holidays.

During her mayoral year she wants to inspire young people to achieve their potential and will raise awareness of opportunities that exist in the borough for all young people in Camden. She has selected Camden Young Foundation as her chosen charity and will work with the charity to raise awareness of the excellent work they are doing in the borough supporting young people and championing critical issues facing the local community.

Nazma's Mayoress for the year will be Ruji Mahmud and her escorts are her two daughters Thaspiya Rahman and Mairah Rahman and my son Al-Mahi Rahman.

In 2006, Cllr Rahman's exceptional contributions and dedication were recognised with the Civic Award for Outstanding Citizen, further highlighting her remarkable commitment to serving the people of Newham. This prestigious honour showcased her unwavering commitment to making a positive difference in the lives of residents.

Cllr Rahman's outstanding community work was acknowledged once again in 2017 when she received an award from the Bangladesh High Commission for her exceptional contributions to the community.

From the beginning of her political journey in 2006, winning the election for Green Street East Ward, Cllr Rahman has consistently worked towards uplifting the community. Her resilience and dedication were particularly evident during challenging times such as the aftermath of the 9/11 attacks when she stood as a strong advocate for the people of Newham.

Throughout her tenure as a school governor for Shaftesbury Primary School from 2006, Cllr Rahman demonstrated her commitment to the education and well-being of the borough young learners. Her valuable contributions to the school governance and strategic decision-making have played a crucial role in shaping the educational experience of countless children.

During the 1990s, Cllr Rahman played a pivotal role in establishing a community development network in the disadvantaged Green Street Neighbourhood.

Cllr Rahman has been working in the community voluntary sector for over 30 years and her commitment to championing the rights and empowerment of women and children in Newham multicultural communities is unwavering. Through her tireless work, she has promoted resilience and understanding among disadvantaged women, fostering harmonious coexistence among diverse groups.

In 2023, Cllr Rahman's exceptional contributions and esteemed reputation led to her nomination for the prestigious role of Chair of Council and First Citizen of Newham for the term 2023-2024. This historic moment marks her as the first individual of Bangladeshi origin to assume this esteemed position.

Sajjadur Rahman, Founder of Sajjad Foundation. He has been in England for almost 30 years and has been self-employed since 2001.

He values his culture and heritage which he uses to teach his children how to read, write, and speak Bangla at home on the weekends and over time realised that he wanted to share this with other families and children in the area, and so he started my own Bangla School that he runs on the weekend. This not only helps children to connect with their mother tongue language but also helps to connect to their culture, through learning different poems, songs, and about the history of Bangladesh, such as the national flower and animal. The best part is that the children get to become friends with others who share their same heritage, and it is something they can bond over and they can speak to each other in their mother tongue.

Over the years he has taken part in many charitable initiatives, with his family and friends. In 2021 he started his own charity, Sajjad Foundation. He donated hot food to homeless shelters, especially on special occasions like Eid and Christmas. He also made sure to share food with key workers like nurses and carers at these times too, which always puts a smile on their faces. He regularly organises litter picking in the parks and open spaces nearby which gets everyone together to help make our area cleaner and recycle more.

Last Ramadan, he run 150km while fasting to raise money for local charities, and this kick started my drive to raise more money for charity through runs and physical challenges. Since then he has also walked from Oldham to Bradford – which is over 30 miles – and ran a 10k marathon in the Great Manchester Run to fundraise for Stroke Association, and have also climbed Mount Snowdon and Ben Nevis, with a group of other passionate people and together we raised lots of money for Yemen with the Global Relief Charity and other noble causes.

In 1981, at the young age of 10, Hafizur Rahman (Hafiz) relocated from Bangladesh to the UK, he was faced with the monumental task of integrating his deep-seated Bangladeshi roots into the multifaceted tapestry of British culture. These initial years were fraught with challenges, as Hafizur navigated the vast cultural chasm that lay before him. Yet, through sheer willpower and resilience, he not only adapted but flourished in his new homeland.

As Hafizur transitioned into adulthood, his innate business acumen began to shine through. His foray into the competitive catering industry allowed him to make a lasting impression, marking the onset of a burgeoning career. But Hafizur's entrepreneurial spirit did not stop there. He soon pivoted, leveraging his insights and expertise to build an impressive property portfolio, a testament to his relentless drive and foresight.

Parallel to his business achievements, Hafizur's commitment to the British Bangladeshi community led to the inception of the Organization of British Bangladeshis (OBB). Serving as its visionary architect, Hafizur designed OBB as a beacon for the community, addressing their unique needs and aspirations. With an unwavering dedication to fostering unity, progress, and amplifying the community's voice, he has been a cornerstone in championing the rights and welfare of British Bangladeshis.

Underpinning his leadership style is Hafizur's profound belief in the power of collective action and the importance of preserving cultural heritage. This belief spurred him to instate OBB as a catalyst for positive change. Through his astute guidance, OBB has rolled out numerous transformative initiatives, from mentoring programs to cultural celebrations, aiming to bridge generational gaps and bolster the community's growth.

Beyond his role within OBB, Hafizur's leadership prowess lies in his ability to foster strategic alliances. Collaborating with governmental agencies, community groups, and key influencers, he has expanded the reach and impact of the British Bangladeshi voice. This has not only led to palpable societal change but has also solidified OBB's mission in promoting social cohesion.

His relentless dedication to the Organization of British Bangladeshis (OBB) has made it a pivotal force in unifying and uplifting British Bangladeshis. Hafizur's visionary outlook, combined with his unwavering commitment to societal advancement and community development, uniquely positions him as a beacon of inspiration. His story encourages many to envision a world that celebrates both heritage and progress, where inclusivity and prosperity coexist harmoniously.

After completing his BA Honours at Sylhet MC College, he embarked on a quest for knowledge that led him to the University of Manchester and University of Central Lancashire. These institutions not only honed his intellectual prowess, yet also ignited his desire to make a significant impact in the world.

With an unwavering commitment to the healthcare sector, Mr Shah Jahan has dedicated 22 years to the NHS. His role as an NHS employee has showcased his professional expertise and his deep-rooted compassion for public health. He was elected as a NHS Governor which further demonstrated his dedication to serving his community.

For the past three decades, he has been an integral part of the journalism community, working with renowned media outlets such as the Surma Newspaper, Bangla TV and Channel S. From the very humble beginnings of Channel S, he held the position of Bureau Chief, overseeing and shaping news coverage. His commitment to truth, transparency and excellence in reporting has solidified his reputation as a well respected and trusted journalist. Prior to his successful media career, Mr Shah Jahan showcased his analytical skills as a Research consultant at the British Market Research Bureau. His contributions undoubtedly left a mark in the field, exemplifying his versatility and expertise beyond the realms of healthcare and media.

Beyond his professional accomplishments, Mr Shah Jahan's commitment to his community and political engagement shine brightly. He is an active participant in local community activities, and demonstrated his commitment to improving the lives of those around him. Additionally, his involvement in Bangladeshi politics as a member of the Awami League showcases his dedication to making a difference on a larger scale.

In his personal life, Mr Shah Jahan finds strength and support from his loving family. He is married to Mrs Sabina Jahan, who serves in the local council education department, and is the proud father of three accomplished children. His son, Shahriyar Jahan is a Global Business Development Manager for a Robotics company, while his daughter-in-law, Dr Farah Farzana, has embraced a career as a GP. His daughter Sadia Jahan, excels as an Employment Advisor, while the youngest member of the family, Tasnia Shah, pursues her dreams as a medical student at the University of Manchester.

Mr Mohammed Shah Jahan's journey is a testament to his unyielding determination, unshakeable values, and his dedication to making a difference. Through his involvement in healthcare, media, and community engagement, he strives to create a profound impact on numerous individuals, leaving some form of positivity on every avenue he pursues.

Abdul Ahad is a British Bangladeshi who has been involved in the catering industry for nearly thirty years, and it is fair to say that he has been more than a success.

His first restaurant was opened in Milton Keynes in 1980 and since then his catering empire has grown stronger and stronger. From the moment Ahad entered the catering trade, he saw a vision to create an ultimate shrine to Indian food. In 1998, his plans began to take shape, and finally in early 2002, the dream became a reality.

Jaipur came to an end in 2018 and Ahad received the Paul Harris Fellowship award of appreciation by Rotary International.

As the former owner of the famous Jaipur Restaurant in Milton Keynes, Ahad is the man behind the largest purpose built Indian restaurant in Europe.

The Jaipur Restaurant itself is an architectural landmark building of great beauty, and one that Ahad refers to as his own 'mini Taj Mahal'. The food and the service inside is equally impressive, having won practically every available award to Indian cuisine. Furthermore, although initially Jaipur was solely an Indian Restaurant, it now houses a Thai restaurant, the Orchid Lounge, on the first floor. For all his success as a restaurateur, he is equally as successful in other fields –one of which is fundraising for charities.

Two of Ahad's favourite causes are 'the Jaipur Limb Project' of the Rotary International and Save the Children charity.

The 'Jaipur Limb Project' set up in Jaipur, India, is engaged in manufacturing prosthetic limbs for children and adults who have lost their limbs due to disease or accidents. The provision of a new limb gives them a life changing experience enabling them to a full life in many different ways. Ahad is a major supporter and contributor to the project during the last twelve years, raising over £30,000 through the Annual Charity Dinner.

Ahad is also a high profile and integral member of Britain's Bangladeshi community and has supported the development of schools, mosques, madrassas and other charity projects in his parental village in Sylhet.

Iqbal Ahmed was born in Sylhet, Bangladesh in 1956 and came to the UK in 1971. He completed his secondary education at the City College in Westminster, London and joined the family business in Oldham in 1976. Subsequently, his brothers, Kamal and Bilal joined him and the expansion of the business began.

Iqbal is married with three children, two of whom have left university to make their way in the world, one with Seamark, the other a doctor, and the third has begun her degree course at Manchester University.

He pioneered the import of frozen fish and seafood products in refrigerated containers and was the first to import the black tiger shrimp into the UK and EU. Iqbal Brothers & Company soon became the leading supplier of warm water frozen fish and shrimps in the EU with a national distribution network it retains to this day. Seamark plc followed in 1991, specializing in the processing and stocking of warm water shrimps, especially the black tiger and the fresh water king prawn. After processing and packing, these were exported to most countries in Europe, as a result of which, Seamark received the coveted Queen's Award for Export Achievement in 1998. This was followed in 1999, by the first prize in the prestigious Business in Europe Awards.

As a British investor in the third world, with the support and encouragement of DTI, a new, ultra modern factory, costing USD10 million, was constructed in Chittagong, Bangladesh. HRH The Princess Royal was invited to perform the official opening in November 2000, which she did in the presence of many distinguished guests. The Chittagong factory is operating at full capacity and has been expanded, within the existing site areas, producing value added and ready to eat products such as seafood and vegetable somosas, paratha and vegetables. In addition, two further seafood processing companies have been taken over in Bangladesh and the group now boasts its own fleet of deep sea shrimp trawlers equipped with on board freezing facilities, as well as its own hatchery where high quality shrimp can be farmed for export to the world.

In 2001, he opened their USA sales office in New Jersey and have since acquired a warehouse and a cold store in Brooklyn,

New York to distribute products in North America including Canada. In 2005, Seamark constructed a factory in Manchester on a 6.25-acre on a nearby site in East Manchester. A further development to this site involves a large Thai restaurant called Vermilion, which opened in at the end of November 2007. Vermilion features an exceptional décor and the site includes a 200 cover restaurant on its first floor and a bar with a capacity of 300 and a large private function room for over 100 people on its second floor. All three units have bars and kitchens and are capable of handling large and small events, weddings and business conferences. This complex has provided a new and much larger suite of offices and a cold store (one of the biggest of its kind in Europe with a capacity to store 12,500 tonnes of frozen food) for Seamark's associated business Ibco Limited (formerly Iqbal Brothers) who, in addition to their well established frozen and ambient food trading has opened a new venture from this site, a wholesale cash & carry unit named Restaurant Wholesale, with the aim of providing everything the modern restaurant will require.

Over the years, Iqbal has been appointed to a number of Government committees and Advisory bodies, among which are the Southern Asia Advisory Group under DTI, the Competitiveness Council, BOND (the British Council) and the Manchester Forum. He is the Director of New East Manchester Limited, the partnership company between Manchester City Council, English Partnerships and North West Development Agency charged with the task of the regeneration East Manchester. In 2006 he was invited to become a member of the Ethical Trading Champions' Group, set up under the government's Food industry Sustainability Strategy (FISS). Iqbal represents the interests and concerns of the Frozen Food Manufacturers. The British Frozen Food Federation nominated him for the position on the Champions' Group and they submitted their report and recommendations to the government at the end of March 2007.

He established and is the Chairman of the UKBCCI.

In November 2007, he was personally invited by George Osborn; Shadow Chancellor to join his newly formed New Enterprise Council.

Previously he has worked in the Banking and Finance Sector and in the Civil Service in Whitehall.

Mehfuz is the Chairman of Conservatives Friends of Bangladesh (an organisation set up in 2006 to promote the culture, successes and values of British Bangladeshis, and to build positive links between British Bangladeshis and the Conservative Party) and a long-standing member of the Conservative Party. In his capacity as Chairman, he advises Conservative Parliamentarians and HQ officials on issues related to the British Bangladeshi Community. He has held numerous positions in the Conservative Party both nationally and locally and is a passionate campaigner.

Mehfuz made political history by becoming the first ever British Bangladeshi Conservative Councillor in 108 years by winning an outstanding victory against the opposition in Westminster City Council in July 2008. In May 2009, Mehfuz was quickly promoted to Deputy Cabinet Member for Children and Young People Services.

Mehfuz successfully led Project Shapla since 2011. Project Shapla is an International Social Action Project of Conservative Friends of Bangladesh. Mehfuz has been leading a team of 30 delegates consisting of Conservative Party volunteers and Conservative MPs/MEPs to Bangladesh, were the project partnered with local and international charities and worked in a range of areas including health, education, governance and sport in Sylhet and Dhaka.

The social action project in Bangladesh gave the delegates an opportunity to learn about international development, build a relationship and to leave a lasting legacy in Bangladesh. Through the work Project Shapla it has strengthened relationships further between the Conservative Party, British Bangladeshi Community and Bangladesh.

Last year, Mehfuz secured a visit of Conservative MPs and Conservative Party volunteers to the Rohingya refugee camps in Cox's Bazaar as part of their social action - Project Shapla. The Conservative MPs and delegates were the first to visit the refugees and accompanied by UNHCR and Bangladesh Government officials & MPs. The visit was the strongest piece of work that put the Conservative MPs in a position to call a debate in the House of Commons on the crisis and ensured the international aid and support to both charities on the ground and Bangladesh Government was increased. The MPs and delegates continue to raise this issue in Parliament and with the Government.

Outside the world of politics, Mehfuz passion continues for the communities he serves, Mehfuz has been involved with voluntary and public sector for over 25 years as Trustee of Marylebone Bangladesh Society and London Tigers. Kamru is currently the Managing Director of the District One Estates Group, which focuses on property investments. He is an accountant by profession and after graduation from University of London with a BA (Hons) in Accountancy & Law, he initially trained as an auditor in the Central London Audit Commission for some three years. Kamru knew from a young age that he wanted to run his own business and decided not to pursue a career as an accountant and instead become an entrepreneur.

Kamru started investing in property in his early 20s. By the time he was 29, Kamru achieved his goal of becoming a self-made millionaire. Kamru is one of the most dynamic and well respected property entrepreneurs in the UK. As well as building his own £20 million property portfolio, he has helped over 5,000 fellow Bangladeshi people source and finance property deals through his property and finance companies.

Additionally Kamru organises and delivers property investment seminars, which has resulted in his clients and investors making substantial profits to date on their investment. All of Kamru's achievements came as the result of endless hard work and unwavering tenacity. Kamru is dedicated to showing others how they have the opportunity doing the same and is continually inspired by watching his clients, friends and family members achieve the kind of success they thought they could only dream of. Since the inception of Channel S, Kamru has appeared regularly on television as the property and finance expert for the channel.

Although Kamru has amassed his wealth with property and land business investments in the UK and Bangladesh, having a financial and law education background has enabled him to own and co-own a variety of businesses. Premier Properties and Apex are well acknowledged brands within the British Bangladeshi households. He is also featured in the other mainstream Who's Who publication, including being highlighted as Young Business Leader in the 'Who's Who of Britain's Business Elite'.

Kamru has been appointed as the director of the newly formed Tower Hamlets Chamber of Commerce and Enterprise (THCCE). He is an active member of the Conservative Party and a philanthropist. He has for many years sponsored a number of charities both in the UK and overseas. He is voluntarily involved in work with the youth, elderly, people experiencing poverty and homelessness. He has also worked as a volunteer at the Citizen Advice Centre.

He was the founder member of the Newham Youth link and his companies regularly sponsor football tournaments and local football teams. Kamru set up developing village roots in 2005, predominantly to help underprivileged children get access to education in Bangladesh. In 2014 jointly with his brother Askir, they have set up Hazi Johur Ali Trust, which donates to the vulnerable and needy in Bangladesh. Kamru works in a voluntary capacity to an enormous degree and has received numerous awards for his voluntary and charity work. Kamru is a family oriented individual and is married to Rina Begum. However, at the age of 26 with the support of her husband, Maya decided to study further, she embarked on an access course at Tile Hill College, Coventry and then went on to study Law LLB (Hons) at the renowned University Of Warwick.

To gain some Legal training, Maya first started off by working in a law firm in London for four months, which meant being separated away from her family. Maya trained at J R Jones Solicitors, and qualified in 2005. She soon progressed herself as the head of conveyancing department. In 2007 Maya opened a legal practice in partnership then parted the Partnership in March 2009 and challenged herself by setting up her own practice as a sole practitioner. Maya manages her busy high street practice with her qualified daughter Syeda Reshmi Ali.

Maya continuously encourages and inspires women around her to follow their ambition. Maya is involved with various organisations as a trustee and a director level which help empower women to pursue their ambitions. She often finds herself lending hand with charities to raise funds for natural disasters around the world. She is also widely renowned in her community as being patriotic and her aspirations in respect of the Bangladeshi culture.

Maya has a keen interest in singing Bengali folk songs, reciting and creating her own poetry. Her interest in Bangladeshi politics has led to the appointment of becoming a Vice President of Coventry Awami League. Being active in the British Politics lead her to be elected as a local Councillor for Westwood Ward, Coventry in 2012, still active and hopeful to regain a Council seat.

Has held post for a number of years such as a Treasurer for the Labour Coventry South Constituent CLP, Vice President of Coventry Labour BAME. Her views are that British Government and Politics today is a complex and fast-changing with mix of the traditional and forward thinking. She believes that the British Government requires more Asian Women representing its community in order for their voice to be acknowledged.

Mazhar Ali is a popular name in the catering business in East London being a partner of the Eastern Pride. Catering has dominated his life ever since he moved to the United Kingdom, his success continued. He was born in 1958 in Chatak, Bangladesh. Mr Ali is one of 6 brothers and sister in his family and from a young age, he wanted to make sure his family and neighbours are living well.

Ali came to the United Kingdom in 1980 and settled in Oldham and it did not take long before he could become successful in business. With very little educational qualification, Ali went straight into a kitchen and worked his way up to become a chef to develop his culinary and management skills. From the experience gained in this job, Ali became a head chef and this was a sign for his future success.

His first business venture was a take away in Somerset named Indiana, opened in 1990. This venture took off successfully and became a stepping stone in his business life. Indiana influenced Ali's next venture - Al-Amin, Dorchester, which led to his next challenge. Ali then established a take away restaurant - The Raj - in Shoburness. Ali had created a recipe for success and his businesses continued to thrive. The Raj had risen from the ashes and became popular in the locality and to this day it is still providing in the local people of Shoburness with quality Bengali cuisine.

Following the success of The Raj, Ali chose to move closer to London. Ali's London based ventures included, The Spice Tandoori in Plaistow. He has also entered into property business and acquired a few properties in and around London trading under Ali Raja Properties Limited.

Their first, Dilwar Ali, graduated from the university of Cardiff. He is now involved with the family business. Their second son, Shahin Ali is an optician engineer and their third son is studying Performing Arts at college in Oxford.

Originally from Sunamgonj, Bangladesh, Abdul Amin emigrated to the UK in the late 70's along with his parents and five siblings. They lived in one of the most deprived areas of Birmingham, Handsworth. After completing his secondary school studies, Abdul moved to Swindon and set up a family business in Lechlade, Gloucestershire. Since then, they have continued to expand and set up further businesses in Swindon and the surrounding towns.

Having grown up in council estate, Abdul experienced and witnessed the life of struggling families and realised that community change is necessary to improve lives. His upbringing motivated him to pursue politics and he was first elected as a councillor for Walcot and Park North, Swindon in 2012 during local elections. This ward is one of the most deprived wards in the Borough and is comprised of many diverse communities. Abdul has thoroughly enjoyed his work as a councillor and helping members of his ward with various individual and community-level issues.

He has also enjoyed serving in a number of committees during his time as a councillor, including: Chairing the Wiltshire's Diverse Communities Independent Advisory Group for Wiltshire Police – this helps to highlight and address issues regarding, for example, recruitment and retention of ethnic minority staff within the force. This, in turn, helps to better understand the local communities that are served. School governor for a local primary school – ensuring the children receive a good quality education by scrutinising aspects of the school, including budgets and recruitment.

Also the Swindon's Rotary Club – Rotary is a worldwide organisation where members work together to better the local community and these can be through charitable events, Planning and Licensing, Dorset and Wiltshire Fire and Rescue Service and the Wiltshire Police and Crime Panel.

Abdul is very grateful to have been appointed as the Mayor of Swindon for 2022/23. One of the aspects of the Mayoral role which he is very excited about is supporting various charities. He has decided to support STEP which is a local mental health charity helping children in Swindon. His second charity is the Zam Zam Trust which helps disadvantaged families in the Sylhet region of Bangladesh.

Abdul has met some fantastic people through his roles, and he is keen to meet more people during his term as the Mayor of Swindon. He is keen to bring together the various diverse communities of Swindon and work together with the Deputy Mayor to raise money for his chosen charities.

M Sayed Altab, the eldest son of Late Haji Md. Rajab Ali, born in Jalal Pur, Sunam Gonj, Bangladesh. Mr Altab came over to the UK in 1977 where he continued with his education. He completed a diploma in Business Studies, Altab established himself as a successful entrepreneur, taking on various ventures in the form of catering outlets and corner stores in North Wales.

Currently, Altab is primarily focusing on his holiday lettings and property development ventures in the UK and in Bangladesh to diversify his portfolio of investments. Over the years, Altab has contributed greatly towards charitable work and has been involved with numerous community organisations. Through his personal and business contacts, the Bangor based entrepreneur has helped generate large donations for victims of natural disasters and has contributed towards numerous community developments and educational projects in Bangladesh. He was one of the co founders of Bangor Bangladesh Welfare Association.

Altab is the Governor of Hireal School, Founder Member of Life Aid Trust and as well as being a Director of many businesses he also runs holiday homes in Anglesey and Snowdonia.

He is an active member of the Federation of Small business in addition to his long term membership with the Bangor Business forum. He is the ex chairman of Bangor Islamic Centre (BIC) and has invested an extensive amount of his time and efforts to the multicultural community of Bangor.

Altab is married with seven children. His ambition in life is to help others help themselves, as he firmly believes that if you give a man a fish you feed him for a day and if you teach a man to fish you feed him for a lifetime.

One of the most prominent and inspirational British Bangladeshi women, Dr Zaki Rezwana Anwar FRSA is a personality known for multi-faceted attributes such as medical and philanthropic contribution, coupled with her media career. Leading her team in National Debates on Bangladesh Television, she was crowned 'Best Orator' for five consecutive years. The youngest newsreader to pass multi-stage auditions, she completed a course on news casting at the National Institute of Mass Communications, making her the only British Bangladeshi with this level of training and expertise. Her journey began with Dhaka Radio; henceforth would emerge the epitome to watch on Bangladesh Television, BBC World Service, Bangla TV and Channel 5. Internationally the longest serving female Bangladeshi newscaster, her unparalleled mark in the newscasting world was recognised with Eastwood Awards' title: 'Best Female Newscaster'. With classical vocal training from Ustad Akhtar Sadmani, she also won the 'Notun Kuri' national singing contest and currently judges TV ONE's youth poetry competition.. Channels including All India Radio, Voice of America and BBC 2 interviewed her. She mentors for the Catering Circle Show, for The Diana Award and for Common Purpose in association with the British Council.

After her MBBS degree from Dhaka, her Diploma in Tropical Medicine and Hygiene was with British Council Scholarship. Following her Maternal & Child Health MSc at UCL with Danish Government Fellowship, she was selected Commonwealth Scholar for her PhD. Dr Anwar's Tangail project with iodine deficient pregnant mothers and infants (funded by Glaxo-SmithKline) inspired a documentary on BBC 2 in collaboration with ICH (UK) and ICDDR, Princess Margaret selected this among leading 3 medical research projects that year. Dr Anwar improved maternal mortality rates as founding member of 'Action for Safe Motherhood' working with the Brazilian Government, and campaigned against FGM with Gambian NGOs. She was invited Guest Speaker for INGOs including UNESCO, WHO and Asian Nutrition Congress. She presented with the British Paediatric Association, at Centre for International Child Health, University of Warwick, University of Bristol and King's College London. Royal Society of Tropical Medicine & Hygiene, British Medical Journal, Lancet and European Journal of Clinical Nutrition published her work. Having donated all her organs herself, she has inspired many others of diverse backgrounds to do the same.

Her enterprises stem further than medicine and media alone. As GSC's Women & Cultural Affairs Secretary she tours the UK, teaching hard-to-reach women first aid. With her 'Widow Project' initiative, 500 destitute widows saw avenues to financial independence. She established a Rotaract Club's Medicine Bank and as Shandhani's President, initiated blood donation campaigns. She is in London Bangla Press Club; she advises Cancer Research UK; she supports Centre for Rehabilitation of the Paralysed and anti-rape movements. iQra International recognised her work for disabled children. From embryonic stages, she trailblazed for Dual Citizenship Act amendments, negotiating with the Law Minister to protect rights of British Bangladeshis. She was honoured with the Mayor's Civic Award and the British Bangladeshi Who's Who Award, as well as Canary Wharf Group's Award for Philanthropy - for tireless services to British Bangladeshis.

Cultivating her unique blend of medical and international media expertise, through many televised interactive video presentations and deeply analytical newspaper columns. Backed by religious scholars, she fought fiercely to dispel Covid-19 myths at the nexus of medical science and religion. She instigated a grassroots movement convincing thousands of initially reluctant viewers to get vaccinated, saving a staggering number of lives during the pandemic. For such contributions, she was bestowed with the Bengal's Pride Award at the House of Commons, the London Bangla Press Club Award, and The London Faith & Belief Award - supported by Her Majesty's Lord-Lieutenant of Greater London's Council on Faith.

Lisa Aziz started her broadcasting career as a trainee radio news journalist and newsreader at radio city in liverpool in the early eighties.

From there she joined BBC regional TV in Bristol as a journalist, reporter and presenter and was then approached by HTV, Bristol to be a main reporter and deputy lead presenter.

Lisa got her big break when headhunted to join tv-am as a senior reporter and was then made main newscaster shortly afterwards.

She went on to join Sky News where she was a main anchor for 13 years before being approached again by ITV news, to head up all news programming in the west country.

Throughout a trail-blazing 25 year career Lisa has also won numerous awards including a Tric and a RTS and worked for many other organisations including BBC World News, CNBC, Financial Times TV and Dubai TV. She has also run a successful career alongside as a worldwide business corporate host and as a charity campaigner.

Lisa recently returned permanently to London, to work for BBC radio, LBC and Classic FM, write for a major sunday newspaper and head up the fundraising department at a global media charity, tve/television for the environment.

Kazi Arif (MARLA, MNAEA, CIHM) is a Property Consultant & Valuer, and is the Managing Director & Founder of the multi-award winning company Prime Estate Agents. He moved to the U.K in 1996 to continue with his studies; completing his DMS, MBA, DBA at university in the U.K. He has since gained many esteemed professional property qualifications, including recently he achieved a Real Estate Economics & Finance Certificate Course at London School of Economics (LSE).

Kazi is a successful entrepreneur and TV personality, but he is also widely loved in the community. This year he was awarded 2022 Voice for Newham awards – in recognition of outstanding contribution to the community during COVID-19. Not long after, he was awarded a 2022 Tower Hamlets Civic Awards - Benefitting the community through success in business and community involvement, which he considers one of his finest honours so far. In 2019, he was awarded the UK BCCI Awards - Contribution to the Industry - Property Industry & Community, and in 2017 Kazi Arif was recognised for his outstanding contribution to media and the local community by being presented the British Bangladeshi, Who's Who outstanding achievement in Property, Media and the Community award.

Kazi is extremely grateful to the almighty Allah, and is in debt to his family members, clients and well wishers for all his achievements, and all that he is yet to achieve. With over 18 years experience in the property sector, in 2007, Kazi laid the groundwork that would see him become a successful entrepreneur by opening his own business; PRIME ESTATE AGENTS, in Whitechapel, E1.

Naturally, his business did not expand rapidly overnight, but Kazi never faltered from his belief that consistently de-living outstanding service would not go unnoticed. His hard work did pay off; so much so that Prime Estate Agents has grown significantly, and has had to relocate to a much larger office in Brick Lane (opposite Brick Lane mosque) London, E1. Prime Estate Agents are now a multi award winning agency, winning awards such as Best Independent Estate Agent London, Real Estate Firm of the Year, Leading Real Estate Advisor of the Year, and short-listed for The Negotiator Awards 2017, London Agency of the Year, and Property Wire Awards 'Best Letting Agents in London.'

Kazi began to support his local community by giving free property advice, and this became so popular within his community. Convinced by the success of this, Kazi began hosting his own TV show since 2014 which is currently live on NTV (Sky 780) every Monday from 8pm to 9pm, The Property Show with Kazi Arif, which can also be found on Facebook or Youtube. During the show, Kazi gives free advice and upto-date news to the public, as well as discussing any property related issues with them. Viewers can also call in to the show and ask Kazi questions, sometimes he will even take those appointments in his office. Kazi is now a pioneer in the property talk show industry within his own community. The show has been running for nearly 8 years now.

Celebrating their 15th anniversary this year, Prime Estate Agents (Member of ARLA, NAEA) are one of the most established independent estate agencies in London. None of this could have been possible without Kazi Arif's unique vision and unwavering hard work throughout the process.

Born in Singair Dhaka, and moved to the United Kingdom with her family, in 1977. She attended New Parks Girls' School, and then Sixth-form college in Leicester.

After she left college she married her husband, Rezaur, and moved to London and joined the Civil Service.

With her family she moved to Ramsgate in 1988 and they started their own business, in partnership with her father. The Ramsgate Tandoori has, in the last thirty years, become central to the local community, as a meeting place and community centre. So much more than just a restaurant!

Whilst running the business, she studied for a degree in business and law, obtaining a 2:1, at the University of Kent at Canterbury. She graduated from the Jo Cox leadership programme, in 2019.

She has been active in the community, fundraising for local, as well as international, charities, homelessness, environmental issues, local schools, mental health charities, Ramsgate sea cadets, litterpicking, and revitalising the Ramsgate town centre.

She started her own charity in 1998, called the Rams-Bangla Womens' Development Association, a micro-credit charity, registered in the UK, as well as in Bangladesh, which financially empowers women, helping them to become independent, but also includes donating and distributing blankets and food, during the winter months, thus helping families in need. She has fund-raised for flood victims, the Rana garments factory disaster, the Rohingya refugees in Bangladesh, and the Nepalese earthquake victims.

She stood in the Town, District, County and National elections for the Labour party. Although was not elected to parliament, she raised the share of the Labour vote by over eight thousand.

Thanet District Council used to be a hotbed for UKIP support, with Nigel Farage standing for Parliament here twice. In the 2019 election, she won her District Council and Town Council seats with the highest percentage of votes and the biggest majority of any other candidate in the entire district. In addition to this she was also elected to be the first Bangladeshi Muslim Mayor of Ramsgate and the first Muslim Mayor in the whole of Kent.

In her spare time, she enjoys physical fitness, cooking, music, dancing, travelling and swimming. With her husband she has two sons Raivi and Junayd, Born and raised in East London, the second of five children, the young Muay-Thai kickboxer won her first World Title against Swedish champion Susanna Saljarvi and is the current World Kickboxing Association (WKA) 48kg champion, British Atomweight Champion, European Gold medallist and World bronze medallist.

Anyone who believes that women can't or shouldn't fight needs to meet Ruqsana Begum. Ruqsana has also won a number of British titles and European championship gold medals.

Ruqsana fights Muay Thai kickboxing, often referred to as the 'Art of Eight Limbs', the national sport of Thailand, where it is far more popular than football. Unlike regular boxing, competitors can use any combination of punches, kicks, knees and elbows to strike an opponent during a bout.

Ruqsana's sporting career is only scratching the surface. She is an inspirational figure way beyond her own community. She is a motivational speaker, teaches kickboxing classes for women, juggles numerous media commitments, and leads a busy family life with many responsibilities as the eldest girl in a large family.

Ruqsana's road to glory in one of the hardest sports was not easy. Raised in a conservative Bengali Muslim environment, the thought that a young woman would choose to compete in the kickboxing ring would not sit well with some in her community.

But Ruqsana has fought hard to explode negative perceptions of women in sport, and indeed young British Muslims and remains a shining example to young British people.

An Olympic Torchbearer in 2012 in her home city, Ruqsana has been nominated for several awards for her outstanding contribution towards sport and the community, including working with the Dame Kelly Holmes Get on Track Programme; such as the Sky Sports Sportswoman of the Year, Muslim News Sports-woman of the Year and the UK Muslim Women's Sportsperson of the Year.

The architecture graduate has also launched a stunning range of sports hijabs; Sports Hijabs by Ruqsana Begum, specifically designed for young Muslim women who might feel too intimidated or ill-equipped to engage in sport.

Mr Abdul Hai Khaliq (Junel), Mr Abdul Quayum Khaliq (Jamal) and Mr Abdul Muhith (Joynal) are the three brothers behind the internationally renowned grocers Taj Stores in Brick Lane. They took over the business from their late father Alhaj Abdul Khaliq who came from Baur Bagh, Moulvibazar, Bangladesh.

Junel, Jamal and Joynal all grew up in Brick Lane, East London and progressed their education to Milestone Preparatory Private School in Bond Street, West London.

Junel studied at Architectural College before joining the family business. His passion for architecture and design saw him design and build his dream home in Essex. Jamal on the other hand attended the private American International College where he completed a Diploma in business before himself joining the family business followed swiftly by the youngest sibling Joynal.

Taj Stores is the name of an inspiration to British Bangladeshis in the UK. Taj Stores started its journey in 1936, by their late uncle Abdul Jabbar who then passed the business to the late Alhaj Abdul Khaliq. Taj Stores is now on its way to celebrate the 80 years of its pride. Outside Bangladesh, if there is any business that has been operating with such goodwill and benevolence that is the Taj Stores.

They are also Directors of Taj Properties Construction/Investment Ltd, NRB Bank Ltd and the UK-

BCCI. Besides running Taj Stores, the brothers also have other business interests. The three 'Taj' brothers hold a very healthy portfolio of properties located across the capital as well as several properties abroad, including Dubai.

The brothers are donors to several charities and these include supporting a Cancer Research Charity in honour of their late mother, and also a charity which specialise in treating problems and illnesses related to kidneys, in honour of their late father.

They also established a charity organisation called J Brothers, whereby the project supports vulnerable and helpless families in Bangladesh by providing sheltered homes, installation of water pumps and donating land.

Jamal quotes "Charity should begin from home. We are inspired from the love and feeling that my father and uncle showed to the people of Bangladesh. So we do not go for formalities, rather, we have started our charity work from our own village."

Today Bangladeshis are on the way to portray themselves as a successful community in the UK and Taj Stores is one of those names of successes.

The brothers have their own hobbies such as travelling, jet skiing, photography and golf.

Laboni Barua was blessed to be born in an environment where music was profoundly esteemed by her family. Her guru Shantimoy Chakrabarty was an added inspiration, and he taught her the basic grammar of music. The journey that she started from the exotic tourist-city Bandarban once exceeded its boundary. She then began growing up with the blessings of a number of music scholars incorporating 4 years course in the Bangladesh Shilpokola Academy; though, she had been undertaking classical music lessons from Ustad Surbondhu Ashok Chowdhury for 10 years until she flew to London in 2008.

During her time in Bangladesh, she was enlisted as an A-grade artist of Bangladesh Betar as well as a regular performer in Bangladesh Television (BTV). In 2005, Laboni took part in the widely-acclaimed TV competition 'Tarokader Taroka' on ATN Bangla, Bangladesh and earned the 30th position as an young star.

Along with the vibrant music career, Ms Barua attained an Honours degree in Physics from Chittagong University, Bangladesh in 2008.

Soon after Laboni came into the UK, she won the 'Boishakhi Star Awards'. Then, in 2011, her debut album 'Meghla Chele' was released by Leser Vision, Dhaka, and it was widely applauded by her audience—she was tagged as the 'Versatile Singer' by the British Bangladeshi weekly newspaper 'Desh' and 'Surma'.

Nowadays, Laboni mostly sings modern and folk songs, though she has simultaneously expedient mastery in Nazrul's songs and semi-classics.

The preeminent British-Bangladeshi singer Laboni has been entertaining her Bengali and Hindi speaking audience with a dulcet tone in the prestigious British venues like Rich Mix, Harrow Arts Center, Nehru Center, Bharatiya Biddya Bhaban, Croydon Fairfield Hall, and so on. She also performs songs in front of large crowds that includes different festivals, some of which are—Boishakhi Mela (Festival), Southall Mela, Camden Boishakhi Mela, Luton Mela, and so forth.

One of the greatest achievements in her music career was to take part in the 'Hundred Years of Tagore Album' by the 'Nrityakala the Rhythm Dance Heritage' as the only Bangladeshi decent singer amongst the other two Indian and Pakistani singers, and it was launched in the House of Commons in 2014.

Amirul Choudhury is a high-profile entrepreneur with businesses in various sectors. Since his last profile was updated a few years back he has gone from strength to strength, focussing on his construction and development business. He is the Chief Executive of Everard Construction Management Ltd – a company with a proven track record, and specialising in complex property development and restoration work. Projects have included the renovation and development of the Bangladesh Centre in London's Notting Hill, a Grade II listed building owned by a charitable trust and an iconic building for the Bangladeshi community

He is now the Managing Editor and co-owner of Janomot, the longest established weekly newspaper of the Bangladeshi community in the UK, and a leading online news portal.

Mr Choudhury began his entrepreneurial journey in 1994 as co-founder of ChyTel Communications. The company quickly established a leading presence in the mobile phone market for the Bangladeshi community as well as other ethnic groups previously ignored in the growth of mobile telephony. His experience of working with large corporations like EE (originally one2one) and Nokia (then the leading handset manufacturer) gave him the foundations to be a sound businessman.

Over the span of 26 years in business we have seen Mr Choudhury in the community as a very credible businessman who has made major charitable contributions both in the UK and in Bangladesh.

His major philanthropic work of recent times is to be part of RDF Global, a charity dedicated to maternity care in rural Bangladesh. He was asked by the late founder, Mr Shamsujjaman Choudhury, to help build their flagship maternity clinic and he willingly contributed to this important project. He remains humble about his success, but we now have a fully operational maternity clinic in the heart of Jagonnathpur, where he was born.

Amirul Choudhury is a household name in our community. During his business career he has stood by the Bangladeshi community in the UK and continues to do so. He has made significant and generous contributions to support the community, financially and with advice and support.

Dr Ferdousi Choudhury is a Clinical Psychologist & Senior Eating Disorder Therapist with the East London Foundation Trust Community Eating Disorder Service. Prior to this she was working in the Child and Adolescent Mental Health Service of the Tavistock and Portman NHS Foundation Trust, a specialist mental health Trust based in Camden, London. She graduated in Psychology from City University and gained her Doctorate in Clinical Psychology from University College London. Ferdousi's doctoral thesis was on 'Screening for Postnatal Depression in Bengali Mothers', which looked at the impact of contextual differences on postnatal women in Bangladesh and Camden. Her research has been published in the Journal of Reproductive and Infant Psychology.

Ferdousi has extensive experience of working with children and families from diverse backgrounds, with a significant proportion of clinical work being with children and families of Bangladeshi origin, and those of mixed origin. She has always strived to make mainstream mental health services less stigmatised and more accessible to the Bangladeshi community. This has been achieved by providing community-based interventions, delivering therapeutic sessions and psycho-educational workshops in Sylheti, in familiar community settings, addressing issues such as mental health stigma, depression, stress and anxiety, family conflict and parenting challenges.

She has a special interest in cross cultural and bilingual therapeutic work, and pursued an interest in developing and implementing culturally appropriate parenting programmes for Bangladeshi parents. Ferdousi also has extensive experience of working therapeutically with parents and families who are or have previously been in the social care system, working with traumas such as domestic violence, emotional, physical and sexual abuse.

In addition to her work in the NHS, Ferdousi is an Independent Clinical Psychologist, providing Expert Witness Court Reports of culturally appropriate psychological, psychometric and parenting assessments and interventions for families in Care proceedings. In addition to this, she also engages in private clinical work with children, adolescents, families, adults and couples, and provides private consultation and supervision for professionals. Her special interest is in aiming to provide culturally and spiritually appropriate therapeutic services for individuals and families.

Ferdousi was born in Bedfordshire and raised in Glasgow where she lived with her parents, Mrs Sultana Choudhury and the late Mr Azizur Rahman Choudhury, and her two brothers. Her father was a successful restaurateur with a number of businesses in Scotland, and both parents were leading members of the Bangladeshi community in Scotland. Her brothers are Sir Akhlaq Choudhury, High Court Judge, and Zia Choudhury, UN Resident Coordinator and Representative of the UN Secretary General in the Republic of Botswana.

Ferdousi now lives in London with her husband, Kawsar, and their four children.

Anwar Choudhury (BSc, MBA) was Her Majesty's High Commissioner to Bangladesh from 2004 to 2008.

Mr Choudhury has had a unique and distinguished career having served in British Industry, The Royal Air Force, The Ministry of Defence and The Cabinet Office. He is the first senior British Ambassador from a British Asian background and also one of the youngest to achieve this level of posting.

He started his career in Industry as a Design Engineer. This was followed by the Royal Air Force and the Ministry of Defence where he managed a large team of civilian scientists and senior military personnel. As Assistant Director, he was responsible for developing Ministry of Defence's strategies and policies aimed to bring about the integration of Defence systems within the MOD, NATO and Allies.

Mr Choudhury then moved from the MOD to the Cabinet Office where he was Director of Policy in the Office of the e-Envoy. He was responsible for leading the vision and policy for UK Government's ambition to become a leading knowledge economy and the best place for e-government. He left the Cabinet Office to join the Foreign and Commonwealth Office and initially worked on strategy and policy issues before taking up his posting as High Commissioner to Bangladesh in May 2004.

Mr Choudhury completed his assignment as High Commissioner to Bangladesh in May 2008 and became Director of International Institutions, Foreign and Commonwealth Office.

Mr Choudhury's main interests are in policy for radical change in government and the potential of the information revolution for the developing world economies. On a personal note, he is married with three children. He is currently the British Ambassador to Peru.

His hobbies include Cricket, Bridge, Bengali Folk music and an addiction for Bangladeshi cuisine.

Aziz Choudhury is the Chairman of the Spitalfields Small Business Association (SSBA) which is a unique Community Business and social enterprise with over 30 years' experience of regeneration in the Spitalfields area of London. SSBA provides 80 tenant members with affordable workspace. It also develops training and enterprise programmes through the SSBA Community Trust.

Between 2001 and August 2016, Aziz Choudhury was the Director of Montefiore Centre, London which provided important services to the community with workspace and training for around twenty businesses, charities and community organisations.

From 1999-2001, Aziz Choudhury was Managing Director of Otherwords Ltd which ran the East End Enterprise business newspaper and the Spitalfields Business Club. He is well known for his time as Chief Executive of Bengali Workers Association between 1995 and 1999. At that time, he was responsible for running the Surma Community Centre in Camden and several local projects. In the mid-eighties, Aziz Choudhury was Finance Director for Spitalfields Housing Association, a position he maintained for a decade.

In his early career he was an accountant and worked for various Chartered Accountancy firms. He obtained his BSc in Physics, Chemistry & Mathematics from Dhaka University in 1967. He Studied Accountancy at the London School of Accountancy between 1972-74. Moreover, he is an Associate member of Institute of Financial Accountants and has Fellow Membership of Institute of Financial Accountants as well as achieving Common Purpose Community Leadership Graduation in 1992.

Having completed his education in Bangladesh, After a short period in the Middle East, Mamun arrived in Britain in December 1991. Hailing from Bangladesh, Chowdhury's father and grandfather were businessmen, and he was raised on a diet of deals and negotiations. But the 1971 Independence War destroyed the family businesses and the Chowdhurys lost everything and, in 1991, Mamun came to England hoping to build a business here. Being innately an entrepreneur, he immediately started setting up his own business. In 1994 he established London Clothing Limited, importing garments from abroad and selling to clients in the UK and rest of Europe.

This was supported by setting up his own factory to manufacture garments here in the UK. An inspirational man, audaciously attempted at selling shirts from his suitcase to Marks & Spencer in 1992. But that experience cemented Chowdhury's determination to make it. He was inspired by the story of Michael Marks and Thomas Spencer. Mamun Chowdhury saw an opportunity to manufacture outerwear, designed with a high level of customer involvement, and selling wholesale to trade targeting the sub-couture market. Queen's Award winner London Tradition was born. Quality and skilled craftsmanship rooted in London's heritage and culture are the label's defining features," says Mamun Chowdhury, citing state-of-the-art equipment and technology. "Our dedication to detail is relentless and unwavering." Multiple quality checks throughout the manufacturing process ensure consistency. The brand is also proud to offer a fair working environment for its employees. Today, London Tradition is particularly popular in the Japanese market, and the brand has grown largely by word-of-mouth. Winning the Queen's Award made a significant difference bringing a huge amount of publicity and interest from new customers. The company's future looks exciting, including a new high-end fashion label, Churchill of London, and an ecommerce website aimed at the retail market. He has a clear strategy to grow organically in existing markets and enter into new ones." No suitcase required. Mamun envisions his Company to be the leading luxury heritage outerwear brand in the world and very popular in the Japanese and European market including 17 other countries.

In addition he was awarded again for International trade by her Majesty the Queen on 2020.

He has since established 4 Education center in his village completely for free, the Jahanara Chowdhury Academy, the Mofij uddin chowdhury dakhil madrasa, the Jahanara chowdhury women college and the Mamun Chowdhury Ethim khana

Which are computerized and compulsory English and science.

He has also provided 40 computers and more than 500 students benefit.

Ayesha Chowdhury is a Labour Co-operative Party politician who has strong ties to local communities and businesses. Ayesha Chowdhury arrived in Britain with her parents at the age of 16. Besides learning English, she found herself taking a course in construction at Newham Community College and completed her BTEC National Diploma in 1993. She was helping her father with his community work and teaching GCSE Bangla Language in Plashet School from 1990 (when she arrived to the UK).

With her father's encouragement, she changed her subjects to study Access to Youth community and social work.

Enrolling at Goldsmiths College, University of London, to study youth, community and social work, eventually obtaining a Master's Degree in Applied Anthropology, Youth & Community Work.

Beside her studies, she has always worked as a youth worker, neighbourhood officer and/or social worker in different local authorities, including Newham, Tower Hamlets, Camden, Victoria and Westminster.

Ayesha began to recognise that whatever she did she was limited by the confines of policy. Therefore she felt that the decision-making process had to be influenced if real changes were to be attempted. As a result of this, she became involved with politics.

She was elected as the first Bangladeshi female councillors in Newham in 2002, and was one of the youngest. She was elected five consecutive times in the same ward, and was privileged to serve the same constituents for 20 years until 2022. Over the 20 years, she has managed to influence and chair many policy forums, scrutiny commissions, and has served as lead councillor as well as the Mayor's Adviser.

She was the founder-secretary of Beckton Bangladesh Welfare Association as well as Bangladeshi Students Forum in 1993.

She was involved with many community and voluntary organisations, not only Bangladeshi but Chinese, Lithuanian, and Afro Caribbean organisations too.

She's always keen to improve the life of those who are disadvantaged in society.

Ayesha Chowdhury is a successful businesswoman. She is a property developer and also Director of London Green Management Company Ltd. Aside from politics and business, she is also committed to various local, national and transnational organisations. She has been heavily involved in fundraising activities in the UK to support various rural areas across the globe. Her participation in community initiatives consist of being in the consultative committee of London City Airport, Newham Community Police Forum and School Organisation Committee.

Other past and present commitments include being committee member of Beckon Community Forum, Building Schools for Future and Mayoral Advisor. Amongst her most prestigious voluntary association she has been a committee member for Community Cohesion and Child Poverty, two integral issues which society faces in the present climate. During pandemic, she was chairman of Healthy and Adult Social Care Scrutiny Commission.

Her interests include Human Rights, politics, sports, as well as environmental and social issues. She is fluent in several languages.

Aysha is married with two children.

Abu Talha Chowdhury is the eldest of 8 children. His father is a prominent community leader and journalist, K M Abu Taher Choudhury, who comes from a Moulana family in Shingapon, Moulvibazar. His mother, Shamsun Nahar is a retired teacher who comes from Palpur, Chattak.

Talha is a newly elected Councillor for the London Borough of Tower Hamlets. He is serving the Council as the Cabinet Member for Safer Communities. Talha was born in Tower Hamlets in 1990, making him one of the youngest councillors in the local authority. His father kept him involved in community activities from a young age. This inspired him to get involved in the third sector at the age of 14, with his first experience focused on a gang mediation project at a local youth club. Later he led 3 youth clubs in Shadwell and Bethnal Green; running youth provisions, anti-knife crime projects, elderly exercise classes, lunch clubs, mentoring and more. His work has been recognised nationally and he was awarded the Community Activism Award by the Community Leadership Foundation in cooperation with SOAS University in 2017.

He has been fortunate enough to work internationally in Ethiopia, Bosnia, Egypt, Somaliland, the Middle East in either diplomatic postings on behalf of the government or large NGOs, however he has now firmly set his sights and energy on contributing to the welfare and prosperity of Tower Hamlets.

Talha studied International Relations, Law and Community Leadership at Westminster, SOAS and Oxford University, all in pursuit to understand the issues we face and solutions we can create to make a better world.

He is currently the Senior Quality & Supply Chain Manager for Canary Wharf Group, responsible for overseeing the standards in quality, environment and health & safety for the company. He also manages the company's procurement department as well as Co-Chair the company's Diversity and Inclusion network. He is one of a few senior managers from Bangladeshi origin and is climbing the ranks very quickly.

He has demonstrated the right experience of community, charity, business and government to be an influential figure in the community.

Amin Babor Chowdhury, originally from Kulaura, Sylhet, Bangladesh, arrived in the UK in 2007. He has since become an established public figure in the North West of England through his passion, dedication and work ethic, to develop and enhance community relations within the diverse cultural groups of Greater Manchester.

He has established himself in the journalism, education and charity sectors to promote community cohesion and advance prospects for many groups.

In 2009, he helped to launch The Probash Bangla Newspaper in Oldham, one of the UK's few English-Bengali publications, which gives a voice to the UK Bangladeshi community and creates a platform to connect the young and older generations.

Through sheer determination and optimism, Amin has created strong links with prominent figures in local and central government, and with education and business leaders, engaging with them on important issues and gaining support for many of his projects.

Amin is married with three young children and lives in Oldham. He seeks to advance, celebrate and promote his chosen causes however he can. He set up One Community UK (OCUK) in 2012, which has charitable aims through which he organises community events and was able to establish the Oldham Education Awards (OEA) in 2012.

OEA unifies the whole town in celebration of the academic achievements of students in the borough. Around 250 young people have received an OEA. Because of his contributions, Amin was invited to become an Ambassador and Board member at the Oldham Academy North School.

He is heavily involved in fundraising and promotional activities for charities, including Dr Kershaw's Hospice, Kingfisher Special School, Tameside Rotary, Local Mayor's Fund, Just Help Foundation, Global Relief Trust and I Care charity, which works to improve health care and education in rural Bangladesh. He also supports The Prince's Trust because of the life-changing work it does with vulnerable young people.

In 2021, he organised the first hundred-mile walk during Ramadan in aid of charity and raised funds for various charities. In 2022, he also managed a 100-mile (walk/run) challenge during Ramadan to raise funds for three different charities. More recently, he also organised a charity dinner in aid of the relief efforts in Bangladesh.

In 2013, he endeavoured to unite all the people of the United Kingdom in celebration of education, as 'one community'. He achieved this vision in January 2017 when students and their families, education professionals and politicians travelled from Northern Ireland, Scotland, Wales and England to attend the country's inaugural British Education Awards (BEA) in London. His aim now is to keep raising the profile of BEA and bring the event to every part of the UK, and continue to inspire people in the pursuit of education.

In 2018 he was also invited to become a governor of Kingfisher school which is a special needs school for pupils aged 2-19, aiming to meet the needs of pupils with severe and complex physical and/or learning difficulties.

Amin is also passionate about Cricket. He created links and opportunities between community cricket clubs and mainstream organisations such as Lancashire Cricket Club/Foundation. In the 2019 Cricket, world cup Amin volunteered for the International Cricket Council (ICC). In 2021, he played an important role in supporting the COVID vaccination programme for the Royal Voluntary Service. He also worked as an honorary steward at the 2022 Commonwealth games in Birmingham.

Henna Chowdhury was born in Sylhet Bangladesh in 1975. She settled in Worthing, West Sussex at the age of 10 with her mother, younger sister and older brother.

Henna attended the Girls High School in Worthing where she excelled and achieved excellent exam results despite only learning English on her arrival in Britain a few short years earlier.

Following her education, Henna enjoyed a short but productive career in the Civil Service before marrying and devoting her time to raising a young and boisterous family.

Councillor Chowdhury has always had a keen interest in the community and is especially concerned with equality of opportunity and equal rights for all.

Whilst raising her family she was involved as an advocate for youth and child support and acted as a community interpreter for a number of organisations involved in domestic violence.

Mrs Chowdhury has worked for local charities supporting BME women in their struggle to overcome racial and intra-community prejudice, domestic violence and lack of educational provision. Henna has worked for charities and local businesses along the entire south coastal strip providing educational courses and training in health and hygiene, business funding as well as organising community events and charity fundraising with a special emphasis on Women's Rights and Equality.

In 2010 Henna had a complete change of direction and was a presenter on Bangla TV, where she hosted a music channel show broadcast to the UK and Europe.

With her keen sense of social justice and fairness for all,

Henna felt the need to do more, to lead the way for ethnic minorities, especially Bengali, women, showing them that they have a voice and an important part to play in a successful, modern British multicultural, multi-ethnic society and as such she joined the Labour Party in 2017 where she is currently BAME Officer.

In late 2018 Henna was adopted to fight the safe Conservative ward of Gaisford in the 2019 Worthing Borough Council Elections, a ward which had been in Conservative control for over 50 years. Despite the party's poor showing nationally Henna won the ward with a landslide victory, achieving a swing to Labour of 13% made Henna the first female Muslim councillor in the history not only of Worthing but of West Sussex and was reported Worldwide. A fact she is immensely proud of as it is an encouragement for women with no background in politics or business to come forward, to make a difference and to have a voice.

Henna was elected onto both the licensing committee and the overview and scrutiny committees of Worthing Council. Henna made further history in her local town of Worthing by becoming the First Labour Mayor when the Labour Party made history by taking control of the local Council during the May 2022 Local Elections. Making her achievements somewhat unique: the 1st Female Muslim Borough Councillor; 1st Female Muslim County Councillor; and 1st Female Muslim Mayor under the 1st Labour Administration for the Borough of Worthing Henna is married to Milad and has three daughters, Fariha, Mariya and Tasnim.

Soon after graduating from the Universities of London and Manchester, Zia spent almost 2 years working with an NGO in remote 'Char' Islands in Bhola District, Bangladesh. Based in village near Charfassion, with no running water or electricity, and 2 hours motorbike ride from the nearest telephone, this was a very grassroots and exciting start to his career.

Zia worked on disaster preparedness with local communities, and was directly caught up in two major cyclones. On one occasion, he spent the whole night attached by a length of rope to a concrete pillar, as flood waters rose, and cyclone passed directly above ripping up trees from his garden and the roof of his tin-shed home. Since then, Zia has continued working with disadvantaged communities around the world, specializing in coordination and management of humanitarian response in natural disasters and conflicts.

Zia has worked in some of the major crises zones of the past 2 decades, including Kosovo, Aceh, Afghanistan, Somalia and Sudan. Zia has primarily been the leader of large NGO response teams, as country and regional director, but has also worked for two years as a policy development consultant for the United Nations in Rome, Geneva and New York.

In August 2017, 20 years after he left Charfassion, he has returned to Bangladesh as Country Director for CARE Bangladesh, one of the country's leading international NGOs.

He currently leads a team of over 600 staff working to fight poverty and social injustice in diverse sectors, including agriculture, garments industry, health sector, private sector engagement, and women's economic empowerment. Most recently, Zia has been directly leading CARE's major response in Cox's Bazar, supporting newly arrived Refugees from Myanmar.

Monsoor is a qualified Accountant and business entrepreneur. Having successfully completed his training programme within a leading accountancy practice, he was quickly noticed for his outstanding talent and was rewarded with a partnership offer.

He decided to bypass this opportunity and instead take up a more ambitious, lucrative and challenging role, working and reporting directly to Lord Alan Sugar on his various commercial financial interests.

He quickly established himself within a cut-throat environment and very soon became one of Lord Sugar's senior financial representatives. His no nonsense style and approach were ideally suited for the demands of a high profile entrepreneur, working on the finances of a property portfolio in excess of 500m, aviation, media, publishing, electronics, foreign exchange trading and on various other commercial activities.

After eight successful years, Monsoor was head hunted by another high net worth entrepreneur to spearhead the finances of his worldwide real estate interests. After a brief stint, he decided it was the right time to venture into business himself.

He teamed up with his long-time colleague Kamru Ali and decided to take up a partnership position at Apex Accountancy, a small firm based in London. Under his guidance, Apex has fast developed into one of the most forward thinking and innovative small accountancy and taxation firms, providing a wide range of specialist services.

Monsoor also recognises the importance of practical training and uses Apex to serve as a training base for graduates and school leavers to develop their skills, aiding them to seek employment. The majority of his trainees have gone on to secure employment within high profile organisations.

He has over the years and continues to provide consultancy services and sits on the board of a number of organisations, advising on finances within the industries of construction, energy, telecoms, property and healthcare. Monsoor is currently the CFO of ACAP Global, a start-up international company which has recently won the global rights to supply telecommunications traffic to a number of African based countries. In the process, the organisation has agreed to provide affordable housing solutions to the much needed region and Monsoor is spearheading this project.

Over the years, Monsoor has also invested wisely and built up a small property portfolio.

Having worked in the catering industry since the 90's which helped him fund his college and University education; he has kept his association with the industry and over the past 15 years, he has been involved with a number of successful restaurants and fast food ventures. Currently he overlooks the running of a successful restaurant, which has been awarded regional awards and is now aiming to achieve awards at national level.

During his leisure time, Monsoor participates in challenging charity events. This year he completed the London Marathon, in the process raising considerable funds for charity. On his bucket list of events to do is climbing to first base of Mount Everest and 100 mile walking trek on the Wall of China.

She is based in the network's London offices, but has also worked in the main news centre in Doha, Qatar. In recent times Shamim travelled with a reporting team to Bangladesh on three occasions, including during the January 2014 elections, when she field-produced and reported on a range of subjects. She is considered by the channel to be its resident Bangladesh expert, has close personal contacts with many of the most influential people in Bangladesh and secured an interview with Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina for Al Jazeera in 2012.

Shamim has also been closely involved in Al Jazeera's coverage of the unrest in Ukraine – one of the biggest news stories to come out of Europe in the past few years. As well as travelling to Kiev twice at a time of heightened tensions major security concerns, she was in Crimea for three weeks in March 2014 when her team covered the referendum and witnessed the region fall into Russian control after being part of Ukraine for decades.

Prior to Al Jazeera, Shamim worked in various capacities for Sky News, the BBC and ITV news. She started her career in print journalism and has written news stories and features for The Daily Express, The Daily Mail, The Daily Telegraph and comment and opinion for The Independent. For a while she also had her own column in the Bangla Mirror.

In addition, Shamim has taken part in current affairs and political debates at The House of Lords and on live television discussion programmes.

Since October 2013 she has been on the panel of judges at the Asian Media Awards for the categories of Journalist Of The Year and Best Investigation.

Shamim was born in London and is of Sylheti heritage. The late general Muhammad Ataul Gani Osmani, the commander-in-chief of the East Pakistani liberation forces of 1971, is her great uncle and grew up in the same household as her paternal grandfather.

She received a BSc in Chemistry from Queen Mary, University of London, an MSc in race and ethnic relations from Birkbeck College and a post-graduate diploma in newspaper journalism from City University, for which she won a prestigious bursary from the Wellcome Trust. After completing her Bachelors degree she spent six months living in New York City working as an intern for an NGO affiliated with the United Nations, during which time she contributed to a book which educated American school and college students about the workings of the United Nations.

Shamim has a passion for travel and has visited almost fifty countries including Syria, Jordan, Saudi Arabia, Oman, Cuba, China, India and parts of West Africa. Some years ago she worked with a leading charity to help build a community centre in a remote part of Cambodia.

She also enjoys sport and has a black belt in karate.

As well as her day job, Shamim occasionally blogs for the Huffington Post on a range of socio-political issues and is studying English Literature part-time at Oxford University. She can be followed in twitter on @shamiminlondon

Abdul Md Fakruzzaman was born in Sylhet, Bangladesh and studied in London Guildhall University in 1996-1999 and London Metropolitan University, Artists in Residence in 2006. He has many awards under his belt. These include the ABC Convention Award for Arts & Culture, New York in 2012, Sha Abdul Karim Award, Channel S in 2012, U.K National Award, The Winsor & Newton World Wide Millennium Paintings Competition in 2000 and Best Medium Award from Institute of Fine Arts, University of Dhaka, Bangladesh in 1991.

Abdul having studied both in Bangladesh and UK, has had the unique experience of immersing himself in the fine art traditions of the 'East' and the 'West'. His academic career has landed him with awards in both Dhaka (Best Medium prize) and London. Within a very short time, in more ways than one, he has emerged as a true cosmopolitan. His works are composition based on forms. He often uses flat forms that are given volume and dimension by texturing around them. He often uses the graffiti technique, using nails and palette knives to scratch away at the surface. Gray and black are the most dominant colours in his work, according to Taker Hushin, daily Star, Bangladesh

He has also exhibited his work widely. A few of his solo exhibitions are: Solo Art Exhibition, Gallery

Chitrak, Dhanmondi, Dhaka Bangladesh in 2010, and 'A Kaleidoscopic Journey' painting and print exhibition, Bengal Gallery of Fine Arts, Dhaka, Bangladesh in 2005. A Celebration An Exhibition of Painting & Prints, Mile End Park Gallery The Ecology Pavilion, London in 2002, Print Exhibition. ILRC London Guildhall University, London in 2000 and last but not least Solo Paintings Exhibition. Oxford House, London in 1995. Some of his group exhibitions have been Art Exhibition in ABC Convention, NY in 2012, 'Colour of Time' Contemporary Painting Exhibition, The World Habitat Centre in New Delhi, India in 2012, Contemporary Art Exhibition' The Paper Mill Gallery, Toronto, Canada in 2011, 'Whole Festival' Tomkingson Park NY, 'Colour of Time' group paintings exhibition in Academy of Fine Arts, Kolkata, India in 2011 and the Anniversary exhibition 'Rooted Creativity 9' Bengal Gallery of Fine Art, Dhaka Bangladesh in 2011.

Some of his published works: 'A Kaleidoscopic Journey', published by the Bengal of Fine Arts, Dhaka, The Artist Handbook by Ray Smith, published by Dorling Kindersley, 'A Celebration An Exhibition of Paintings & Prints', 'Our World In The Year 2000', published by Sheeran Lock. If you want a visual treat, then head to his studio for an outstanding experience.

Nelson Mandela said: "there is no passion to be found in playing small - in settling for a life that is less than the one you are capable of living." This ultimately sums up thriving personality Mahee Ferdhaus Jalil, who's played a huge pivotal role in the British Bangladeshi community for the last 15 years. He is one of the biggest successes to date is establishing Channel S - the first free-to-air British Bangladeshi satellite Television Channel.

Born in Moulvibazar, Bangladesh, Mahee came to the UK in 1988 as a teenager. Like many of our British Bangladeshi champions, his early days in Britain were endured by hard struggles. Mahee however embraced these challenges with utter determination and focus. He was known for 'dreaming big' and wanted to make his visions a reality.

In 1994, after obtaining training and experience, he set up one of the largest accident management companies in the UK called 'Prestige Auto Group'. The company saw steady growth and became a household name amongst British Asians.

Mahee's greatest success to date however was the establishment of Channel S. He started dreaming of a fully functional Television Channel in the UK in 2002. Mahee wanted a television channel which would engage communities directly, highlight issues which matter the most in the lives of British Bangladeshis, empower communities with the power of information, and create awareness amongst the community about their rights, opportunities as well as responsibilities. Mahee went onto creating a professional, passionate and experienced team.

Finally on 16th December 2004, Channel S started its official broadcast. Mahee saw a dream which eventually became a platform for all British Bangladeshis, inspired a generation in achieving their goals, took our community back to their roots, and reminded our younger generation of their history and heritage.

Mahee's vision of launching the Channel was no more a community channel - it became international through a partnership with humanitarian organisation - through generous community donations. He believes we can't take money with us, so invests in the community and good causes.

A passionate entrepreneur, Mahee is also successfully running his various other business interests - from property development to Law and IT. He enjoys mentoring young business enthusiasts so that they are able to settle a life capable of living.

Haji Abdul Gaffar aka Lil Miah came to the UK in 1972 where his father and older brother were already settled and worked in the leather factory of East London.

His first job was at Bombay Kitchen in Cambridge where he became a chef within one year and left to set up his own place New Delhi restaurant in Bridge, North Shropshire in 1973. He sold this restaurant in 1975 and moved to Lewisham in London where he partnered up with Sayed Abu Sufian and the Himalaya brand was set up.

His success story continued, along with his 2 brothers they opened up 3 more branches of Himalaya in Whetstone in North London (1978), Leighton Buzzard (1982) and Wilmslow (1983).

The jewel in the crown for Lil was the opening of the Day of The Raj in Mill Hill in 1987 which at that time was one of the largest Indian restaurants in London.

It was a real trend setter and trail blazed the way for all future Indian restaurants, winning local and national awards by the handful every year. It was one of the most successful businesses in his empire and is still revered around the country and the brand is still going strong.

He has also owned and been partners with many other restaurants/take aways and other businesses both here and in Bangladesh.

Founding member of BCA and also the Bangladesh House in the City of London, Member of Barnet Bangladesh Association, advisor of many other associations and is always around for advice and moral support.

His business acumen and helping his fellow owners and staff has kept him in high esteem with everyone. He has been influential in many ways to the current restaurant owners and staff and he has always been selfless in his giving to others.

He has also been heavily involved in charity work both here in the UK and Bangladesh setting up his own charity Al Madina Welfare Trust in 2000 helping the poor and destitute in Bangladesh.

Faruk was a lecturer of Physics in Sunamganj College before arriving in London in 1973. He established the Shahnai Employment & Training Bureau, which was the first Bangladeshi employment and training centre in the East End of London.

Faruk is also the first Bangladeshi trainer who provides food hygiene training, health and safety training and HACCP training for all sorts of food handlers in a diverse range of premises. He is also an accredited trainer of the internationally recognised Chartered Institute of Environmental Health (CIEH), Royal Society of Public Health (RSPH), Meat and Livestock Commission (MLC) and Welcome Host. He is an author of the book called "Food Hygiene".

Apart from entrepreneurship, Faruk has made a considerable political contribution to the mainstream of British politics. He is involved with the Conservative party, having been the local Conservative Association Chairman for five consecutive years.

During his leadership he arranged visits in his local constituency from many leading Conservative figures.

Faruk was the only Bangladeshi who was selected as an official Conservative Parliamentary Candidate in 2001 and achieved an excellent second place against Oona King. He was also a Conservative candidate for the same constituency and fought a hard campaign against Oona King and George Galloway in 2005.

Faruk is the former President of the London region of Bangladesh-British Chamber of Commerce. He is the Deputy Chairman of "Conservative Friends of Bangladesh".

He is the founder member of the London Millennium Bridge Club and his name is engraved on this famous bridge, which was opened by Her Majesty the Queen. He lives in east end of London with wife Sherina and four children Shahnai, Eva, Safwan and Zayn.

Abdul Haque is a successful businessman with a history spanning over 25 years in the IT and software industry. He has experience in a variety of fields, making him an expert in the area. He is a skilled technician and a strong business development professional with a proven track record of success. He was born in Moulvibazar, Bangladesh in 1976 and currently resides in Redbridge, London.

Mr Haque received his bachelor's degree in Maths and Computing from Brunel University and master's degree in Advance Software Engineering from the University of Westminster. As a civil servant, he used to work as a specialist software engineer on flight data processes for National Air Traffic Services [NATS]. However, he has now set up his own company and is the founder and managing director of Purple I Technologies, which specializes in IT software and has played a major role in promoting the EPOS system to the Bangladeshi/Indian restaurant industry. With this company he also founded the dineNET Online Order & Reservation System. He is the Founder and Executive Producer of Catering Circle. Catering Circle is a media platform for the catering industry to identify problems, discuss and address the issues, and formulate solutions through active participation of caterers and other key stakeholders. He is also the Vice-Chairman of Channel S, the television station for Bangladeshis in Britain and Europe, which was founded by his brother Mahee Ferdhaus Jalil. Traveling is Mr Haque's favorite pastime away from his successful career.

This seems only natural considering his previous career in aviation technology. He has visited many countries around the world, but Malaysia is his favorite. He cites the friendly nature of the Malaysian people, the cuisine, the value and the fact that it is a strong Islamic nation as reasons why he finds it so favourable. However, he has also come away from places such as Barbados, Antigua, Maldives and Canada with glowing reports. Aside from travelling, Mr Haque indulges his hobbies of badminton, going to the gym and watching films, although with such a schedule it must be hard for him to fit these in. Mr Haque is married to Mary Rahman who runs her own successful London based PR company, which specialises in promoting clients hailing from the arts, theatre, film and fashion industries.

Having successfully completed his intermediate level education in his beloved country of birth Bangladesh, Habib joined his parents in the UK in 1989. Habib immediately realised the world-class opportunities that this great country has to offer and embraced this land as his homeland. He began his educational journey from Tower Hamlets College in 1990 and completed his honours degree in Economics in 1997 from Queen Mary University of London. He worked as a Registrar of Deaths, Births and Marriages for Tower Hamlets council. Habib then joined Barclays Bank as a Graduate Management Trainee followed by a new career into the world of urban regeneration. His appointment at Cityside Regeneration in 2000 was a catalyst in his career with regards to his personal contribution in economic development of the East End of London. His professional acumen, drive and energy in supporting local businesses has contributed towards the thriving business sector in Tower Hamlets.

As a Programme Manager at EMEP in 2001, he contributed in the advancement of education and training of Bangladeshi catering staff. Habib then joined Tower Hamlets Council as a Partnership Development Officer contributing in the strategic development of the local area with an aim to improve health, education, safety, and environmental issues for local residents. Habib was then appointed as a Neighbourhood Coordinator for London Borough of Barking & Dagenham. He then worked as a senior Programme Manager for Tower Hamlets council. A fiercely independent-minded person, Habib successfully co-founded SocietyLinks Tower Hamlets and served as a founding chairman for two terms. Habib is currently a successful entrepreneur with a housing portfolio and ownership of London Training Centre Limited.

From a patriotic civil servant to a successful entrepreneur, Habib never forgot his root, his country of origin, Bangladesh. His strong belief is that the purpose of life is to serve God. And the only way to serve God is through serving His creation. Besides his busy professional and family life, Habib is also the chairman of iQra International charity. Under his leadership, the charity has built an undisputed reputation for its service to the needy people and seen as an exemplary charity helping and campaigning for disabled people. He also contributes in women education and empowerment through another charity called Shahbazzpur Women Education Trust.

He is a trustee of Bishawnath Probashi Education Trust and Doshghor Union Probashi Trust. He was also a parent governor of a high achieving primary school in the UK and contributes in his own neighbourhood by being an active member of the Community Safer Neighbourhood panel. Habib is a professional member of the Chartered Institute of Environmental Health (CIEH) and writes about food safety issues on magazines including BCA Award magazine, Catering Circle Award magazine, Euroasia Award magazine, ARTA Award magazine and various newspapers. Habib appears on many live television talk shows sharing his expert knowledge and experience on a number of different areas including charity, training, safety, social and political issues.

In 2006 Cllr Haque received an award from Channel 5 for his services to the community. Cllr Haque arrived in the UK in July 1963 and initially became a member of the Pakistan Welfare Association in Birmingham.

Whilst working in various different companies, Cllr Haque was always keen to get into politics and in 1965 became a member of the old Labour party. With friction simmering in East Pakistan and West Pakistan, Cllr Haque set up the first Bangladesh Action Committee outside of Birmingham in 1971. In the same year Cllr Haque helped raise close to £1500 from contributions made by the residents of North Birmingham for the Bangladesh Action Committee movement as well as setting Midlands Awami League.

Cllr Haque is a very active member of the Bangladeshi community always campaigned for equality and as a result in 1976 received an award from the Bangladeshi High Commission. Through effort and having to overcome numerous obstacles, Cllr Haque also helped set up the Tipton Muslim Trust Association which is now referred to as Al-Islah Trust and a community centre for local Muslims in Tipton.

Cllr Haque tries to serve all members of the community.

In the mid eighties, Cllr Haque purchased a terraced house via the trust and later set up the Sandwell Confederation of Bangladeshi Muslim Organisation (SCOBMO).

Cllr Haque is also a founder member of the City Challenge Project as well as Bangladesh Youth Movement. Through over twenty years of persistence and hard work campaigning for level crossings in Tipton a 2.2 million pound project finally commenced last year. Cllr Haque also played a pivotal role during Ms Syeda Khatun's election campaign who later became the first Bangladeshi female councillor in the Midlands area in 1999.

He was a supporter of our glorious Liberation war in 1971 as his elder brother (Rofiqul Haque) was a commander of freedom fighters in Derai Upozilla.

Firuzul and his other elder brothers used to supply food, water and other necessary things for the freedom fighters at that critical time for our nation and country. He came to the UK in 1992. He is very successful restaurateur, partner of two restaurants named Spice Rouge at Stevenage and Cafe Masala at Eaton Bray, Dunstable. Also he is the Director of Soft Investment Group UK. Mr Haque is actively involved in several community based activities in UK. He is a founder member of British Bangladeshi Business Forum and currently holding the position of organizing secretary of that Forum.

He is the assistant treasurer of British Bangladesh Helping Hand, a life member of Sylhet Heart Foundation, a trustee of Bangladesh Female Academy, Derai, Sunamgonj. He is the Vice President of Bangladesh Caterers Association UK (BCA). He is also former president of the Derai Thana Develop-

He is deeply passionate about his different charitable activities in the UK and Bangladesh. He runs a charity called Bari & Nessa Memorial Trust based in his own village. Mr Haque is extremely proud of his Bangladeshi root. He firmly believes that our hard-working nature will not only enable us to put the name of our motherland in a respectable position in world map but also will help us contribute to the British society positively and significantly.

Any attempt to write history or present state of Bangla print or electronic media in the UK will not be complete without mentioning one name, Syed Samadul Haque. Born in Kishorehonor and brought up in the tea valley of Sylhet, Samadul Haque was educated in Dhanmondi Govt. Boys High School, Dhaka College and Dhaka University.

Adventure and carrying out new ideas is part of Samadul Haque's character. In 1973 while he was a Secretary of Dhaka College Student Union, travelled to India with a State Student delegation. After a brief break of study to attend Military Academy, Samadul Haque came back to Dhaka University to study Politics. While in the University he was also Director of a family business, Sputnik International Limited. From 1981 to 1983 he traveled to London several times on business. But journey to London in late 1983 was not a very pleasant one. This time he came to London to sue a British Company, Wells Bridge Motors Limited of Cambridge for breach of Contract. This litigation in the High Court of London changed the destiny of Samadul Haque. He decided to live for some time in London and took up a career in media. Soon he was appointed as London Correspondent of Dainik Bangla, then national newspaper of Bangladesh and began writing for different newspapers in Dhaka & London.

In 1984 Samadul Haque joined the Weekly Janomot of London. Soon became the News Editor and Executive Editor, and editor in 1989. In the year 1987 his story on personal life of the then President of Bangladesh H M Ershad was also picked up by Sunday Observer of London as lead story and in response the government of Bangladesh retaliated by banning 'Janomot' in Bangladesh.

He spent good ten years of his youthful time to revitalize and give a solid foundation for Janomot. In 1993-94 he served as part-time Media Consultant of Bethnal Green City Challenge, a project of the Department of Environment of British Government. In 1995 while he was editor of BNS, introduced International news agency service in Bangladesh in Bangla. He also represented CNN in Bangladesh from 1995 – 1998.

Abdul is a Senior Government Lawyer and successful social entrepreneur.

As a senior Legal Advisor to Government, Abdul advises departments on a range of commercial matters including Government procurement, commercial disputes, and complex contractual negotiations. Abdul often advises Ministers, the Permanent Secretary and The Secretary of State on matters of national importance. Most notably, Abdul advised the Government in setting up the NHS Nightingale Hospital as part of the Government's response to the Covid-19 pandemic. Abdul has also conducted litigation on behalf of the Ministry of Justice, Ministry of Defence, Department for Work and Pensions and other Government Departments.

Abdul's commitment to public service is not simply restricted to his legal career. Aside from his work as a Government Lawyer, Abdul has founded several community organisations, sports clubs, social enterprises, and Non-Governmental Organisations (NGOs) with the aim of tackling social, educational, and health inequalities faced by many underrepresented communities in London. Most notably, Abdul is the Founder and Managing Director of the "SB Education Group", a leading education provider offering educational and mentoring support services to young people, and "The Future Focus Network" an award-winning NGO that provides employment and training services to the BAME community. He is also the Founder and Chair of the "London Excel-sior Sports Club". Since 2012, these organisations have collectively supported thousands of young people across London and Essex and have been recognised nationally as a positive force for good in the community. During the height of the Covid 19 pandemic, more than 300 young people received vital support services including, online supplementary classes to support schools, some received laptops and equipment to help tackle digital exclusion, mental health support services, as well as careers advice. In 2021, Abdul's flagship organisation, "The Future Focus Network" was nominated for "Community Group of the Year" by the prestigious Rotary Club and was nominated as a grant and award body on behalf of The Jack Petchey Foundation.

Because of his extensive work with the BAME community, Abdul was appointed to the Metropolitan Police Encounter Panel in 2022, (East Area - Basic Command Unit) whose task is to monitor and scrutinise police interactions with members of the public. The scrutiny of policing practices via these Panel aims to help improve public trust and confidence in the Met.

Aside from his community work in the UK, Abdul is one of the founding members and Directors of Newlife Medical Services (PVT) Ltd, a primary healthcare clinic in Sylhet, that aims to make world class healthcare services available and accessible to the poor people of rural Bangladesh. To date, the clinic has served thousands of people in Sylhet through medical camps, GP clinics, surgeries, (including cataract operations), telemedicine and ambulance services. Newlife Medical Services is set to launch its phase three programme which will provide greater capacity for more serious operations, with the aim of becoming a fully established community hospital.

Mr. Mahmud Hasan was awarded an MBE at the birthday honours of HRH Queen Elizabeth II in 1999 for extensive community relations in the UK.

Mr. Hasan was born in a respectable Muslim family on 6th August in 1952 in the village of Boraikandi in Sylhet, Bangladesh. His father was Moin Uddin Ahmed, who was the commander in chief of Pakistan National Guard Regiment in 1947 and later joined the Pakistan Army as Lieutenant, who passed away in 1986.

Mr. Hasan has graduated from Bangladesh. In 1968, he became a member of the Student League and played an active role during the mass upsurge against the autocrat ruler of Pakistan in 1969. He also participated in the war of liberation of Bangladesh in 1971. He was a member of Bangladesh Liberation Front (BLF).

Immediately after liberation he worked with International / Bangladesh Red Cross Society towards the rehabilitation programme in the war torn areas of the newly born country.

Mr. Hasan first came to the UK in 1979, and settled in the London Borough of Camden. Within the first two years of his settlement in the UK, he started working in the field of community development through Camden Committee for Community Relations (CCCR) and Bengali Workers Action Group (BWAG).

In 1984, he was appointed as part-time Community Development Worker to work with elderly people and homeless families in Camden. In the same year, he was elected as Ethnic Minority Representative to the Inner London Education Authority (ILEA). In 1987, he was appointed to a challenging position as a co-ordinator to redevelop the BWAG known as Surma Community Centre. He has since worked in different senior positions in both voluntary and local government.

He successfully led the completion of the construction work of the purpose-built Surma Community Centre in Camden in 1989. After completion of the Centre, he was strongly supported by the community to take the lead on further development and management of the Centre and was elected chair of BWAG in a voluntary capacity.

In early 1990, he was appointed as Senior Community Development Officer of CHIC, a Charitable Organisation based in Westminster.

He has successfully completed graduation on Leadership and Net-working from Common Purpose in 1991-1992.

Mr. Hasan has played a key role, along with others, to bring a positive change in Camden which had been experiencing lots of social deprivation and disadvantages. As one of the then young activists, he worked hard to change the destiny of the community: from desperation to dignity and achievement.

Mr. Mahmud Hasan has remarkable contribution to help and support the homeless people, develop health and education, intensify anti-racism campaigns, fight against discrimination and strengthen racial equality.

He has contributed significantly to combat racism, particularly in Central London and is always constructive to develop racial harmony within the multicultural society of Britain.

'He was always engaged voluntarily to act on behalf of others in need and in defence of a moral cause,' remembers one Camden resident. Mr. Hasan was elected as the first Bangladeshi chair of Camden Racial Equality Council (CREC) in 1993. A year later, Mr. Hasan was elected as the first Bangladeshi Councillor in the London Borough of Camden. Mr. Hasan has been involved in various Voluntary Sector Organisations including as the Director of Camden Community Law Centre, Voluntary Action Camden, Governor of St Michael School and Kingsway College Corporation, Member of Camden Police Consultative Committee, and Director of Paddington Church's Housing Association.

He is also the founder and current chairman of the Consortium of Bengali Associations (CBA). He was a Civic Ambassador to the London 2012 Olympic Games Forum. Mr. Hasan's profile has been recorded in the Asian "Who's Who" International and in many other publications. Mr. Hasan is currently employed as Chief Executive of APASENTH, a leading social care organisation in the UK working for the people with special needs for over last three decades and APASENTH International, a newly formed CIO. Mr. Hasan is currently leading a ground breaking project in Bangladesh with the aim to raise awareness and educate people with special needs on safe working and daily living practices through the provision of a range of support services.

BRITISH BANGLADESHI
2023

Tipu is the eldest son of Al Haj Md. Redwanul Hoque (deceased) and Mrs Rufia Begum from Sreeramshi Degir par, Dist. Sunamgonj.

Tipu is the founder, owner and Managing Director of Unisoft Solutions Ltd developing and supplying EPOS and online ordering software in East London.

Born in Bangladesh, Tipu whilst studying for a BA Education at MC College Sylhet, came to the UK in 1989 to join his father, a well respected and successful restaurateur and founder of Sonar Bangla Restaurant at 46 Hanbury Street which became a crucial forum supporting the Bangladesh Independence Movement in 1971, and international political organiser for the Jatiya Janata Party.

Tipu continued his studies in London in English, Computing and MCSE (Microsoft Certified System Engineering). In 1998, merging his IT knowledge and restaurant experience running his father's restaurant and own restaurant, Tipu and his nephew developed a prototype EPOS software for restaurant and takeaway businesses. After using the software in-house, further customisation and development, the software was sold to restaurants and takeaways to provide technology based ordering solutions.

Despite early restaurant business culture resistance to change, fear of technology and financial constraints, Tipu remained steadfast in his passion and aspiration in foreseeing EPOS as an essential business tool for all restaurants/takeaways, however small, which it has become today.

Tipu established Unisoft Solutions Ltd in 2003, which is a thriving supplier of specialist EPOS/Online ordering software to more than a thousand restaurant/takeaway businesses with a local, national and international customer base. Tipu's drive, persistence and firm belief to run a successful business with integrity, professionalism and openness to advice and not mere material gain, has contributed to Unisoft's longevity, ability to change and advance and testament to his self-belief, work ethic and strong religious faith.

Tipu and the Unisoft teams willingness to embrace and adapt the latest technology and trends has allowed it to remain flexible and dynamic in supplying customised online food ordering via website, mobile devices and apps with the latest e-payment methods. Crucial in helping independent restaurants overcome the challenge of competing with major chains, and allowing Unisoft and their customers' to stay ahead of the revolution of online ordering curve.

Running the business from the site of the original family restaurant business, Unisoft staff is stationed locally and remotely in Europe, North America and Asia. Tipu has stayed close to his roots and remains well-grounded. He acknowledges and appreciates the support of his family, especially his father and long-term colleagues and friends including his brother Amlak; Asfar, Nisar, Abu and Gary. Tipu also recognises the continued loyal customer support since 1998 achieved by a genuine commitment to putting customers' first.

Apart from family and business, Tipu actively supports community voluntary organisations in the UK and Bangladesh. Tipu has one younger brother Amlak and two sisters Salma and Halima.

A dedicated family man, Tipu is married to Mrs Rumena Jamjam Chowdhury living together with their son E. Hoque Mahdi, daughter Mahira Asma Hoque and Tipu's mother.

Councillor Atiqul Hoque is the son of Lumranul Hoque. Born in Siramishi Jagannathpur, Cllr Hoque came to the UK in 1986 and attended Danford School and proceeded to Tower Hamlets College where he completed his education in business studies.

In 1997 Cllr Atiqul Hoque opened his first business at the tender age of 21, which was the chutneys Indian Takeaway in Salisbury, Wiltshire. However, from the opening of his first catering establishment, Cllr Hoque has gone from strength to strength and managed to open several more established eateries such as Chutney Restaurant in Shalisbury, Tandoori Nights in Amesbury and Hox Brasserie. Cllr Hoque has always had a passion for food and has recently opened a Thai restaurant in Salisbury. Cllr Hoque is also involved with a number of charitable organisations in Salisbury.

Since then he has tirelessly shown his determination and won the heart of his constituents and fellow colleagues which awarded him a very important role within the cabinet as Portfolio Holder for Art, Heritage and Tourism.

He is the Vice chairman of the south west Bangladeshi Caterers Association, joint cashier of the Muslim Association of Salisbury. Cllr Hoque became the first Conservative Bangladeshi Muslim elected Councillor and also the first Bangladeshi muslim Mayor of Subrina Hossain is a successful TV executive, a popular media personality and a dedicated business woman. She is the Chief Executive of NTV Europe and also overlooks the daily operations for many other businesses both at national and international level.

Her bold venture has proven a phenomenal success, making the NTV brand the leading Bangladeshi TV channel around the world.

A resilient adaptable and strong willed individual of Bangladeshi origin, she overcame cultural and religious barriers to reach her goals.

Her relentless efforts over the years have successfully resulted in raising the Bengali profile to the mainstream British society. She is regarded as a celebrity by the Asian media and business community.

Subrina graduated from the London Metropolitan University with a law degree. It was then, where her leadership attributes began to emerge, as she was elected the star of the law course representing student's needs, concerns and expectations to the university officials.

Aside from her full time profession, she is also known for her dedication for helping the community and an active fundraiser for a number of leading charities.

Recently she made history by becoming the first female to be elected on the board of Directors on the British Bangladesh Chamber of Commerce. She is also the Vice President for British Bangladeshi Chambers of Women Entrepreneurs an organization looking at profiling successful business women in British Society.

In response to the government's calls to businesses to create opportunities for local people into training and employment, Subrina has set up a social enterprise along with a community interest chest.

She is a qualified training provider and is delivering relevant training programs for local unemployed people, helping hundreds to improve their chances of securing apprenticeships, training and employment.

Subrina also has a keen interest in politics formally joining the Conservative Party in November 2008. She founded and chaired the London Metropolitan University Conservative Group, where she made over 100 members in a short space of time.

She was elected Executive Member for Poplar & Limehouse Conservative Association for the past three years and represents the Association at Party and regional conferences.

In May 2010, Subrina was the Conservative Council Candidate for the Bromley by Bow ward in Tower Hamlets; a Ward, which has historically been a very comfortable seat for the Labour Party.

The Conservative Party votes in this local ward have always been around 200-250. However, Subrina received over 1100 votes, a massive 6% swing.

Currently she holds the Chair position for Conservative Friends of Bangladesh Women Group. She aims to encourage more women from the Bangladeshi community to join the party. Recently she received freedom of London award.

Abdul Hye left school aged 16 without any qualifications. By the time he was 23 he opened his first restaurant. Success didn't come easy but with hard work and perseverance he has now owned several successful businesses over the past 30 years. The success of these businesses has meant he has been able to help the most needy and vulnerable in society in both UK and Bangladesh. Abdul spends a substantial amount of his time helping others in a voluntary capacity or raising funds for charity.

The global pandemic has had a devastating impact on everyone across the globe and non-more so than the most vulnerable in our society. Abdul has been involved in many initiatives to help the hardest hit in Cambridge. Abdul established partnerships with many local organisations including Cambridge United Community Trust, Cambridge Sustainable Food, Abbey People, Cambridge Ethnic Community Forum and other local food hubs including Cambridge Food Poverty Alliance, Jimmy's Shelter, Shah Jalal Hub and Fill Your Foodbank. His restaurant Pipasha started the "donate a meal scheme".

Abdul is the Convener of BCA Cambridgeshire providing education and training for local business owners, sharing good practice and organising networking events. One of their recent achievements is co-ordinating a campaign to help 15 mosques throughout Great Britain that struggled financially during the pandemic. BCA Cambridgeshire worked together with all their members and a total of over £124,000 was raised for the 15 mosques.

Since its inception in 2010, Abdul has held various roles at Bangladesh Welfare and Cultural Association. BWCA provides various cultural activities, sports, promoting good health, language lessons in Bengali and organise the annual Mela with Cambridge City Council.

Since 2013 Abdul has been a trustee of Dusthopur Development Project a UK based charity supporting his birthplace in Bangladesh with education, welfare facilities, infrastructure, medicine, food and clothing. In the past 9 years Abdul has helped raise over £50,000 for the project.

Abdul is a life member and volunteer at the Cambridge Central Mosque, Europe's first eco-friendly mosque and the first purpose-built mosque within the city of Cambridge. He has been involved since inception from securing the land and construction to the on-going fundraising efforts. To date more than £23 million has been raised for the mosque.

She is an Associate Fellow of the British Psychological Society, a member of the Association of Clinical Psychologists, and an accredited member of the British Association of Behavioural & Cognitive Psychotherapists.

The bulk of her career was spent working within the NHS since 1994, mainly in community mental health teams within numerous psychiatric hospitals in London. Alongside this, she has been teaching and training post-graduate psychology students, at a number of universities. She currently runs her own private practice (www.drmpsychology.co.uk), providing a range of psychological services including: assessment and therapy for individuals and couples, specialising in cognitive behavioural therapy (CBT); assessment and diagnosis for autism; supervision for trained psychologists; expert witness work for legal proceedings; delivering seminars and talks at careers conventions and other public events.

As Chief Psychologist at Cerina, a company which develops digital healthcare in the mental health field, Dr Islam has written the content for and helped develop a mobile application for the treatment of anxiety disorders. This has achieved medical grade approval from Medicines & Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA).

With a personal and professional interest in the understanding of an Islamic perspective on psychology and psychotherapy, Dr Islam has undertaken specialist training, and works with clients from their cultural and faith-based perspectives, using Islamically-informed approaches where relevant. She is currently working within a team in Wandsworth setting up a hub for providing family therapy specifically for the Muslim community.

Dr Islam is a Trustee of Brent Wandsworth and Westminster Mind, which develops and delivers mental health services within these boroughs. For many years, she has been promoting mental health awareness, aimed at reducing the stigma of mental illness persistent in most communities, including the Bangladeshi one. She has appeared on a number of TV and radio programmes, such as a series of episodes of 'Women Today' on TV One. She is also committed to, and has actively been involved in, a number of other charitable causes, including a London foodbank and events raising awareness and funds for women's causes and poverty relief in Bangladesh.

Her work was recognised by the Asian Women of Achievement Awards in 2017 when she was nominated and shortlisted in the Professionals category. Dr Islam comes from a family of teachers in Sylhet. She grew up in London where she completed her education and training and developed her career whilst married and raising a family.

Mujibul Islam is a talented and successful business and media entrepreneur, whose main current activity is running one of the UK's leading ethnic media agencies, Medialink.

Mr Islam is the Managing Director of Medialink, a leading ethnic media and communication agency. His company's clients range from the BBC to Tilda as well as central government and local authorities. Working within the media industry for over 15 years, his last position was the editor of the Eastern Eye newspaper, UK's largest national Asian paper, owned by the Trinity Mirror Group. Mr. Islam is a BA Honours graduate who has won numerous prestigious awards in the field of design, media and communications.

Mr Islam is currently finalising the development of a proposed 4-star boutique hotel in Canary Wharf which will be developed in a magnificent building in an ever expanding business district.

Mr Islam is involved in commercial and residential property development here in the UK and abroad. One of his projects include the development of a popular five star hotel in Bangladesh, 'Dhaka Regency', which was founded by Mr Islam and three other directors.

Mr. Islam is a high flying, multi-skilled British Bangladeshi and one of the few real experts in the field of ethnic media communication. His distinctive strength is his multimedia skills in innovative concept development and meeting specific marketing and promotional objectives in all media.

A generous patron to many good causes, Mr. Islam is a well-known and respected figure within the British Bangladeshi community. He is passionate about community prosperity; he has actively worked, trained and helped to develop the skill base of local young people in the field of design, web and TV production, on a voluntary basis. One of his ambitions is to create opportunities for innovative and creative projects that empower young people, supporting them at key transition points and during extracurricular periods of the year, through media related, arts education, training and personal development activities.

He also owns a hotel in Poplar, London.

Nasir Jilani is a serving Firefighter, promoted to the rank of a Sub Officer in 2021.

He joined the London Fire Brigade (LFB) in January 2006 and is one of the first British Bangladeshi's to serve in the LFB.

His late father Janfor came to the UK in the 1950's as a young man in search for a better life, to work and to provide for his family.

Initially he settled in the Yorkshire region and worked in the local factories as a machine operator.

Nasir's father was a selfless man who always been an inspiration for him to become a Firefighter. After attending college, Nasir was thrilled to get through the Firefighter selection process in 2004/5.

For Nasir, it has always been about serving the community he grew up in, helping those that are less fortunate and assisting those that are vulnerable in the Bangladeshi community due to generational, language and cultural barriers. Nasir always reminds himself that it's important to remember one's roots and to give something positive back to those who look up to him as a role model.

At the request of the Muslim Council of Britain Nasir made a YouTube video for them in 2011, (Role Models-British Muslim Professionals Serving the Community), this was to highlight the excellent contributions made by British Muslims in front line emergency services, particularly during times of heightened security alerts in the UK.

Nasir was twice voted as a finalist runner up in the Civil Servant and Muslim in the Community categories at the British Muslim Awards 2016 & 2019 as well as carrying out radio interviews for other organisations, his profile also appeared in the 2015 edition of BB Power & Inspiration in the Uniform Section and many other publications. Nasir is a recipient of The Queen's Diamond Jubilee medal awarded to him in 2012 and is a recipient of The Queen's Platinum Jubilee medal in 2022. The special Jubilee commemorative medals have been designed to be awarded, as a token of the nation's gratitude, to people serving the country in the Armed Forces, Police and Fire Services who often place themselves in danger to protect the public and communities.

Nasir has been involved in a number of outreach initiatives over the years with the LFB including the Notting Hill Carnival and the Boishakhi Mela which are held annually. Nasir also, on a regular basis gets involved in charities and donations particularly with organisations in Bangladesh, the UK Firefighter's Charity, The Trussell Trust food bank, numerous Mosques and is a trustee since the early 1990's at The Probashi Balaganj-Osmani Nagar Educational Trust and he is also a life member at the Burunga Union Foundation to name a few.

Misbahul Jamal was born in Subhanighat in Sylhet in 1962. He was born to Mr Nasir Uddin Ahmed and Mrs Husney Ara Begum.

His career began with him being a Drama Artist both on the stage and on radio. He then progressed onto becoming a programme announcer and conductor for Radio Bangladesh from 1980 until 1986, whilst completing a B.Com (Hons) in Management from the prestigious University of Dhaka in 1984.

Misbahul is the director of his own production companies called Misbah Jamal Productions and Misbah Nahida Productions, running Kismat Radio Bangla from the Sunrise Radio station in Southall, Middlessex.

Mr Misbah Jamal is married to Nahida Misbah and they have five daughters and a son. His daughters are Farhana, Rezwana, Nabihah, Shaeka and Labiba, and his son is Nahmad. Mr Jamal has contributed enormously to the British Bangladeshi community; he is involved with several community organisations working for the development and progression of community members. He was a Director of Weekly Notun Din, a Bengali newspaper. He also holds the position of Press and Publicity secretary for the London Bangla Press Club, and Cultural Secretary for the Bangladesh Centre in London.

Mr Misbah Jamal is also a journalist and freelance radio and television presenter. Moreover he is a Bengali cultural programme promoter, having organised many cultural programmes bringing over the best musicians and artists from Bangladesh. He is closely connected with the Bangladeshi entertainment industry here in Britain, and as a result he is very a popular British Bangladeshi amongst radio listeners.

He moved to Croydon and opened his first catering business in 1977. Now serving as Mayor of Croydon for 2019-20 he looks forward to working for the benefit of our wonderful community.

After studying his Bachelor of Education degree, he began a new career with Tower Hamlets Council - as a parent advocate & family support services manager. This incredibly fulfilling role has made supporting children with disabilities, and their families, a cause very close to his heart.

He has been actively involved in local politics for 17 years and served as a councillor since 2010 (representing Bensham Manor Ward). He previously served as a deputy cabinet member for economy & jobs, and for finance & treasury, plus he was vice chair of the planning committee for several years.

He first became involved in community work through what is now called the Croydon Bangladesh Welfare Association - which he was president for two terms. He was a founding member of the Asian Resource Centre and was part of the steering committee that helped to develop Shahjalal Mosque.

Whilst Mr Kabir was busy with his profession, community activities and family life in UK he maintained a strong link and relationship with Bangladesh. He was elected in 1994 as president of Sylhet Gonodabi Parishad UK which lobbied Bangladesh government with many issues that Probashi Bangladeshis were facing at that time. There were 3 different demands were prioritised to BD government and they were: to upgrade Sylhet airport to an international airport, to upgrade Sylhet district to a division, to have voting right of Bangladeshis as dual citizen. Mayor Kabir was a leading community leader to achieve these rights.

Furthermore, in order to raise social, economical and educational standard of Bangladeshis that he left behind mayor Kabir has taken up chairmanship of Aralia Bazar Education Trust, trusteeship in Jagannathpur British Bangla Education Trust UK (JBET), Secretary ship of Patli Union Welfare Trust (PUWT), Donor Membership with Jagannathpur Unnoyon Shongstha UK (JUSS), and an honorary advisor to British Bangladeshi Society Croydon (BBSC). Mayor Kabir remained active in Bangladesh whilst serving his hometown the London Borough of Croydon.

Away from politics, he enjoys travelling and playing badminton.

He is married to Mayoress Rahena Chowdhury Kabir with three children, daughters Kuhinoor and Sumaiya, one son Mistaun and a daughter-in-law Mazedra.

Md. Shamsuddin Khan was born in 1935 in Matiura, under the Bianibazaar Upazilla in Sylhet. He is the second son of late Haji Taj Khan and Taya-munnessa Khanom. Mr Khan primarily worked at an English restaurant when he arrived in the UK in 1955, aged 20. It was in 1958 when he started his first business when he opened a restaurant, which he called Moharani. This restaurant is situated in Clapham Common, is one of the most famous and old restaurants in the UK. Two other branches of the Moharani restaurant have been opened ever since, one located in Clapham North and one in Camden Town. Mr. Khan is one of the owners of a large grocery store named Kushiara Cash and Carry in the East End of London.

On top of that, he has an enormous investment in the tea estates in Sylhet and also owns several houses in London.

Founding member of the Bianibazaar Janakallyan Samity UK, of which he is now the advisor, and also a trustee of the Historic Bangladesh Centre in London, Mr. Khan is involved in various political and socio-cultural organisations, both in Bangladesh and the UK. In addition he has played a key role in the establishment of Bianibazaar College, by donating money towards it. Mathiura High School and Mathiura Girls' High School are two of many educational institutions of which Md. Shamsuddin Khan is a patron. Furthermore, he was the chairman of the College Development Committee for a long period of time.

Before all this, Mr. Khan's political career began with Pakistan Welfare Association which later become Bangladesh Welfare Association. Inspired by Sheikh Mujib, he also decided to join the Awami League once it had been set up in the UK. Throughout his role in the Awami league changed from the treasurer, to the vice president. He played a significant role throughout the Liberation War in 1971 by fundraising. During the 1970 elections, he was the Awami League candidate in the Bianibazaar-Golapgonj constituency.

Here, in the UK, Shamsuddin Khan is a member of the Labour party. At present, Md. Shamsuddin Khan resides with his wife Mrs. Safarun Nesa Khanom and their three children.

Mashuk Ahmed Khan (“Ahmed-Khan”) is the eldest son of Mohammed Matiur Rahman Khan and Begum Jamila Khan of an academically enriched respectable Muslim family of landed gentry and successful entrepreneurship, of village Gangajal, Zakigonj, of district Sylhet.

Ahmed-Khan is an unassuming, spatiotemporally adaptable, vivacious individual, avid to his continued self development. Following his MA and a PG Diploma in Human Resource Management (“HRM”), he completed an M.Phil research on International HRM titled “Export Orientated Industrialisation and the Exploitation of Labour in the Developing Economies”. Thereafter he reassigned his academic interest in Law with sustained enthusiasm and achieved a Master of Laws degree (“LL.M”) with merit from the World-class Birkbeck College of the University of London. He lately achieved another LL.M by thesis on Professional Legal Practice from the reputable BPP University – complementing his PG Diploma in legal practice. He is committed to legal research on International Human Rights, apropos the virtues, protections, abuse, and myths, surrounding its universal ideologies espoused by the nation states. He formerly scrutinised the US government policies on incarceration, capital punishment and death-row phenomenon in light of European Court of Human Rights’ decision in Soering v United Kingdom [1989]. His current undertaking involves critical evaluation of Post-Brexit impact on human rights in UK, and its government’s controversial deportation of asylum seekers to Rwanda, contravening UK’s fundamental obligations with requisite standards of “legality and appropriateness” being unmet, under the Refugee Convention.

Ahmed-Khan is a legal academic and an advocate of Human Rights. He specialises in Human Rights, Family, Employment, and Advanced Commercial Property laws. He is a member of the Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development, and The University of Oxford Philosophical Society. He is a keen reader on Marx, Rousseau, Bentham, Mills, Hobbes and Locke and also a political critique, columnist, a Rotarian, and an author endowed with literary skills. He has written numerous articles on political affairs and governance of his native

Bangladesh, including “Our Independence Hitherto Confined in Political Wilderness” (Bangla Mirror, 11/01/2013), depicting a momentous account of Bangladesh’s morbid political antecedents and its fetid political environment. His patriotic poems “In the love of my nation” and “My heart cries for the fallen” composed in retrospect to Bangladesh liberation war and its post independence political crises were published in Bangla Mirror, London; Sylhet Madan Mohan University College Literary Council’s publication “Katha Lata”; and in Sylhet Mobile Pataghar’s narrative publication “Chayalap”.

His recent Bangla Mirror publications include: Israel’s Wars on Gaza and the Rise of Dahiya Doctrine; Zelensky’s War: who is at fault; The Russia-West Stand-off Mimicking 1962 Cuban Missile Crisis; Modi’s Hinduvta Riddling the Indian Constitution and, Bangladesh and the COVID-19.

Ahmed-Khan is married to Shamim Ara Begum (Rose) and blessed with a son and two daughters namely: Mustafa, Nabila and Farzana. All three children had the privilege of attending private schools from day one of their schooling lives unto the sixth forms. The son is a Litigation Executive for the NHS and married to Nafisa Islam – a school teacher. The eldest daughter is graduated in Accounting and Finance and married to Mihaz Bokth – a Chartered Certified Accountant. The youngest daughter achieved a first class honours degree in Accounting and Finance and qualified as a Chartered Certified Accountant following completion of her ACCA in 2017. Ahmed-Khan is overjoyed with three lovely grandchildren namely Raniya and Ilyas Khan, and Aizah Bokth.

He has five younger brothers. The immediate younger one had his further education from Sylhet Polytechnic College. Each of the other four brothers has multiple Masters Degrees in various disciplines from reputable Universities at home (Dhaka & Chittagong) and abroad (Sydney, London & Cornell (NY), and domiciled in the UK and USA. Ahmed Khan asserts himself a devout “British Muslim” – proudly upholding his religious values and traditions – while profoundly deferential to synonymous interests of all other social groups in British society. His pastimes include reading books, watching documentaries, listening Tagore Songs, Urdu Ghazals, Mozart, and Pavarotti.

He was the last batch at the Inns Of Court School of Law Bar Vocational Course in 2007. He deferred his Ph.d in Islamic Law at SOAS, during completing his pupillage with Marion Smullen, at chambers of Marion Smullen and Kerim Fuad Q.C. specialising in criminal defence and public law and has been actively involved in the Bibi case, challenging the UK's immigration age bar to overseas marriages. Prior to a career at the Bar, Islam was a junior civil servant in various departments at the Foreign and Commonwealth Office. This included the Human Rights Policy Department, the Foreign Office branch of UK-visas (now substantially UKBA), Consular and headed the Benefits, pay and policy section of HR. He also served overseas as a diplomatic officer.

He sits on a number of panels in Tower Hamlets and advises many charitable organisations across the country. Notably, he was involved in engaging various stakeholders to diffuse the Shajalal mosque fiasco to ensure that public money was kept safe and avoid a dangerous precedent being set. Most recently he has been engaged in drafting grounds in challenging the policy on "maintenance undertakings". There has been significant interest in the case from leading organisations in Tower Hamlets and the BBC.

His published articles to date are: 1. International Law and The legality of the Flotilla raid by Israel; 2. Indirect discrimination by raising the marriage age rule to 21; 3. Religious implications for Hindu pyres in the UK (Ghai and Others); 4. FGM: "an Islamic practice or modern fashion; and 5. Mediation in practice. He has submitted a plan to publish a legal dictionary for the lay person in crime and hopes this will materialise shortly.

He is the proud father of Sadia, Yusuf and his lovely twins: Aaliyah and Amirah. In his past times he enjoys reading, sea fishing and travelling.

Former Mayor Tahir Khan of Luton was born in 1967 in Bangladesh and came to live in the UK in 1982. The rise of racial tensions and arrival of young new migrant community from South Asia particularly from Bangladesh proved to be a challenging dilemma for the authorities to cope. The experience of new migrant young people in the eighties led to abandoning his ambition to study medicine but inspired him to get involved in youth and community work to support young people in improving their life chances. He studied DipHE in Youth and Community Development at the De Montfort University and a management degree at the University of Bedfordshire.

Tahir joined Bangladesh Welfare Association in 1986 as a Community Worker to pursue his mission of supporting the local community with their challenges. In 1988 he joined Bangladesh Youth League (Luton) (BYL) and was elected as President. His passion to develop community leaderships led to developing a governance system within BYL that ensured youth involvement and participation at all level within the organisation, providing platform for young people to develop and nurture key skills of leadership.

Tahir played an instrumental lead role in progressing the business of the BYL developing innovative projects that responded to ever changing needs of young people in the most deprived parts of Luton and won a number of high profile awards. The most significant project achievement has been founding of the Centre for Youth and Community Development (CYCD) in 1995.

Tahir served as the founding Chairman for CYCD and he is also a successful entrepreneur, volunteered as community activist served as Treasurer for the Bedfordshire Youth Association a regional umbrella organisation, was Board Member of Princes Trust Bedfordshire Committee for 10 years, served as a Director to Luton and Dunstable Partnership Board and led on international development projects on behalf of a charity including establishing a school cum cyclone shelter in SIDR effected area of Bangladesh. Tahir currently serves on the board of a number of charities. Using BYL as a platform he engaged at national level with Home Office's Special Support Unit and Equalities Associates in delivering a specialist training program to Senior Police Officers and Judges across the nation. Challenging the institutional racism that infested the police force and judicial system led to influencing much of the changes that we see today.

Tahir has been working for Local Government for over 26 years in various capacities including at senior management level. He worked for Bedfordshire County Council, Luton Borough Council and some of the London boroughs. In his work life he has always been championing the young people's issues and developing opportunities for young people to participate in positive activities and his work gaining national and local awards.

He was elected as Councillor in 2007 and served in a number of committees. Following the local election he was subsequently elected to the Council's Executive. He successfully served as Lead Cabinet Member for Children Services for 5 years. Amongst the many projects some of the highlights of his cabinet role has been BSF programme, achievement of 5 star Children Services by Ofsted, convincing the Council to allocate Bath Road site for a new primary school, development of Children Centres. He is also a Director at London Luton Airport Board.

At Jogonnath College under University of Dhaka in 1977 Mannan Khan completed his BA degree. After graduating he worked as an assistant teacher and later went on to complete his B Ed teacher-training course in 1978. Mr Khan became the chairman of 'Provatee Shahitto Porishod', commanding officer of 'Shurjo Shena Shishu Shongo' and later a journalist for 'Sylhet Shomachar' a local newspaper in Sylhet.

In 1982 Mr Khan moved to UAE where he set up a business. He then migrated to England in 1986 where he worked at Burleigh College in Loughborough as a modern languages teacher. Mr Khan also was appointed as a modern languages teacher in Moat College in Leicester. Subsequently he was a GCSE Bengali language teacher at Bengali Community Education and an examiner under the University of London (EdExcel).

Mr Khan has been working for the community since 1986, and was the committee member of the Bengali Community Education Project and secretary of language Teacher Association in Leicester. For three years Mr Khan was a radio presenter for Sunrise Radio.

Mr Khan has established the Awami League in Leicester and served as the founder Secretary. Mr Khan has received an invitation to HRM Queens Garden Party for achieving the title of one of the high achieving modern languages teacher in the City of Leicester which was recognised by the University of London in 2000. Mr Khan received a Channel S Community award in 2006.

Mr Khan is the founder president of Surma Welfare Porishod UK, Vice Chairman of First Solution Money Transfer Ltd (UK), Senior Vice president of Leicester Awami League, Founder Chairman of Bangladesh Poor Fund, Foreign Advisor of Motijeel Theatre in Dhaka, Committee Member of the local Mosque Masjid-e-Bitul Mukarram Trust, and he is currently working for Channel S as their news reporter for Leicestershire.

In his spare time Mr Khan likes to write poems for magazines and newspapers.

Yawar Khan is a Successful Pioneering Restaurateur, the Founder & Chair of Asian Catering Federation and Asian Curry Awards and the Vice President of the European Small Business Alliance (ESBA) .

Mr Yawar Khan has been a successful restaurateur since the establishment of his first restaurant - the Akash Tandoori in Wallington, Sutton over 43 years ago in 1978. He is one of the early pioneers of the now thriving Curry industry in Britain.

When the UK Government introduced limitations on visa awards to overseas workers in 2008 Yawar Khan rose to the challenge and founded the Federation of Bangladeshi Caterers - an organisation committed to providing support and advice and to the promotion of the cuisine, interests and activities of more than 12,000 British Bangladeshi restaurants in the UK at that time. With 8 out of 10 Indian restaurants in the UK owned by Bangladeshis, these restaurants formed the backbone of the British Curry Industry.

Some three years later in 2011, as a response to the growing demands of a burgeoning wider Asian population in the UK (there are more than 4.5 million Asians living in Britain), Yawar Khan took a lead in founding the Asian Catering Federation in an attempt to forge collaboration and cooperation between the different umbrella groups - the Bangladeshi Caterers Federation; the Chinese Takeaway Association and the Malaysian Restaurant Association and to provide a united front in terms of support and advice to the needs of restaurateurs serving cuisine from across the Asia spectrum. These included Bangladesh, India, Pakistan, Burma, China, the Philippines, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, The Middle East, Singapore, Sri Lanka, Thailand and Vietnam.

The Federation led a robust campaign to galvanise parliamentary members to support the designation of Bangladeshi workers as a 'shortage occupation' in order to make it easier to obtain special work permits. This eventually led to the establishment of an All Party Parliamentary Group in 2014. Yawar Khan then capped these remarkable achievements by establishing the much celebrated annual Asian Curry Awards (now in its 12th year) .

Yawar Khan is currently Vice President of the European Small Business Alliance (ESBA) representing and advocating on behalf of over one million small businesses across 36 European countries in the European parliament in Brussels. Yawar Khan continues to find time to commit to charitable work during the Covid Pandemic which shut down of the hospitality industry over a two year period - as government restrictions were introduced, Yawar Khan and his fellow director's encouraged critical support of food provision to hospital and emergency workers from among his federation members.

Yawar Khan also participates every year in fund-raising projects in association with the Mayor and Municipality of Sutton - raising thousands of pounds for the South Western Thames Kidney Fund, Cancer Research UK and other charities such as the Asian Trust. For over forty years he has maintained continual support to humanitarian organisations in his country of origin - Bangladesh, working closely with charities such as the Beanibazar Cancer and General Hospital.

Since 2000 he has worked for Canary Wharf Group, first as Sports and Community officer and now as Head of Public Affairs. He is also Director & Head of Public Affairs a prestigious TV channel NTV UK, Europe.

In 2010 Zakir was the Conservative PPC for Bethnal Green and Bow, securing an increase in the Conservative vote in this highly marginal and politically charged seat. Zakir has a deep and wide understanding of Bangladesh, and in particular has experience of helping set up new charitable initiatives on the ground. He has a good relationship with all the political parties in Bangladesh and good links in such fields as sport, media, business, education, manufacturing, and universities.

In the UK Zakir has worked for the public, private and voluntary sectors, and has built up a positive programme of bringing these different sectors together to deliver projects. Zakir has been involved in community work since he was a teenager. In 1990, aged 19, he was the co-founder and Chair of Community Action Group, a campaign group for local young people to help represent their interests to statutory and police authorities and to help reduce tension between communities.

He was also elected Vice Chair for Youth Connections another youth campaign group that was collectively formed by all major youth groups in Tower Hamlets. Zakir was elected by the community to represent them as a Board Member of the Connecting Communities SRB 5, and Cityside Regeneration in Spitalfields, He is the current Vice Chair of the Osmani Centre User's Forum, He was a Director of The Adab Trust. This is a new initiative established to increase employment prospects for inner city young black and minority ethnic people and specifically those from Asian and Muslim backgrounds. He was also an ambassador for Touch The Game project. This is a unique project that collects unused sports equipment from residents in the UK and delivers them to the most deprived countries in the world such as Africa and the Indian sub continent.

In the 2010 General Election he was selected as Conservative Party Parliamentary Candidate for Bethnal Green and Bow in Tower Hamlets, securing a 2% increase in the Conservative vote despite only being selected in late March 2010. Since formally joining the Party in 2006, Zakir has been actively working to promote the Conservative party within the Bangladeshi UK community. In Jan 2010 he organised a delegation to Bangladesh led by Mark Field MP.

Zakir was successful in arranging meetings for the delegates with the Prime Minister of Bangladesh Sheikh Hasina, Ex Prime Minister now Opposition Leader Begum Zia, The British High Commissioner and many other Members of The Bangladeshi Parliament. He is the current Chairman, Conservative Friends of Bangladesh (CFOB) London Region. In 1996 he co-founded Sporting Bengal Football Team and was the manager of the team for four years in his spare time.

In 1997 Zakir spear headed the formation of The Bangladesh Football Association UK as the Chair of the organisation he established a summer football league with just eight teams which now has 46 teams. Born in Charar Paar Sylhet, to her parents late Minu Khan and late Shamsun Nessa Khanom. Shuva came to East London in 1974 with her husband Md Abdul Matin, originally from Chowki Dekhi, Sylhet.

Her first encounter with the community was at St Hilda's Community Centre in East London in 1975, where she took her son there for a check up and realised so many Bangladeshi's could not communicate in English properly. Shuva always had a passion to help people, She then started working voluntarily for the community as a translator.

As years went by Shuva realised her vision for life was to help the community and that is exactly what she did. She helped families struggling with housing, marriage problems and financial issues with her own money and used her home as a shelter regardless of their race or religion.

In 1996 Shuva started her own charity in Bangladesh called Shonali Shopno which she funds by holding dinner parties and supplying food to other organisations. She uses the money to provide sewing machines and rickshaws for families in Bangladesh who need a kick start in life. In 1999 her charity started paying for cataract operations in Bangladesh and has helped many people regain their sight.

In 2011 she registered her UK charity Golden Dreams and continued to use her cooking skills to raise funds to provide medical/maternity help in Bangladesh. She also pays for up to 200 circumcisions per year.

Shuva has won numerous awards in the UK and Bangladesh including the Hason Raja Shommanona and Gunijon Shommanona.

In her youth Shuva was an activist for the Awami League (mukti judha) helping freedom fighters during the liberation war. She was encouraged by her uncle's Fokrul Islam and Anwar Uddin Gama. In the world of British-Bangladeshi media industry, Minhaj Kibriyah has proven to be a genius in the world of advertising, sometimes even single-handedly pushing businesses to the next level of prosperity.

Minhaj Kibriyah is adamant that whilst he has worked his way up relentlessly from directing TV Commercials through his own company AdWorks, to directing stunning music videos, to directing two Bengali movies in Bangladesh But his pioneering work in the advertisement industry for nearly past two decades is what shaped the business community.

Kefayeth Khan, an actor who has collaborated with Kibriyah on numerous adverts, calls Kibriyah a 'master': "The man knows his stuff. He is a master at everything and an advertising genius. When it comes to the art of concept Ads, there is no equal."

Raja Kaasheff the world famous United Kingdom-based Music Composer and Singer, who has collaborated with Adnan Sami and produced Bollywood songs calls him a 'star-maker': "I have worked with many directors and stars but Minhaj Kibriyah stands out against them all because he is a trend-setter".

Minhaj Kibriyah is now the Creative Director of Channel S, the UK's number one channel for a Bangladeshi audience.

Taz Coudhury, the TV network's CEO, explains "Kibriyah was hired as Creative Director precisely because of his creativity. His record in the advertising and music industry speaks for itself and we wanted that creative spark here. The channel is reaching out from the first generation of Bangladeshis to the second and the third and Kibriyah is talented and imaginative enough to attract that audience."

And it is clear that Kibriyah's attitude had filtered throughout the network as colleagues at Channel S, can only speak highly of him: "He's a can do man, he never says no to any task facing him. He always tries to do everything differently but creatively. He's a man that brings every skill you could ask for to the table and more."

Mr. M A Matin was born in the village Amnia of Golapganj Upazila under Sylhet district. His father Alhaj Ayub Ali was a businessman in Sreemangal which is now under Mulvibazar district of Sylhet Division. His father died at the age of 105 and mother died at 90 years of age.

Mr. Matin came to the UK in 1963 during the East Pakistan of present Bangladesh but always he had a strong feelings for his mother language. After his arrival he achieved few courses like Photography and Tea Trade from City of London College. He had the intention from the beginning that he should have his own business and from that thinking & endeavor he started a supermarket as his first business at Enfield in the year 1968. After four years he also qualified as a Driving Instructor and in 1973 he started a Driving School. Again he started Rack Trade in Brick Lane along with Messers. Islam and Kasru Miah. In 1979 Mr. Matin went to Bangladesh in response to his mother's wishes to see her and he obeyed the desire of his mother by getting married to Suriya on 8th May 1980. Mrs. Suriya is very much fond of Tagore's song and she herself loves to sing. It was a co-incident that their wedding date was the Birth Day of Rabindranath Tagore. After eight weeks he returned to the UK with his newly married wife. He was thinking to start a new business like Catering as he observed that Bangladeshi Restaurants were known as Indian Restaurant but his intention to involve with the restaurant business was to identify the Bangladeshi Catering Business as the 'Bangladeshi Cuisine'. In 1981 he started Restaurant Business named Lalbag Tandoori Restaurant at Bays water in Westbourne Grove. To promote the culture & heritage of Bangladesh, the country who then achieved independence a decade before he mentioned his Restaurant as Bangladeshi Cuisine, hoisted flag of Bangladesh and the menu was prepared both in English & Bengali. Mr. Matin also founded other four restaurants in different places in London. The Restaurants were Sunderban Bangladeshi Cuisine, Sugandha Bangladeshi Cuisine, Sunflower Bangladeshi Cuisine & Saqhi Bangladeshi Cuisine.

Mr. Matin was actively involved with the Bangladesh Caterer's Association (BCA) and he became the Deputy Secretary General from 1986 to 1990. During his tenure he proposed to use a common logo of the BCA to all the Bangladeshi Restaurants & use the word as Bangladeshi Cuisine. So, the customer & the general people can easily understand about the Bangladeshi Restaurant & food. It was very unfortunate that his proposal was not materialized yet. He also involved with different socio-cultural organization such as member of Lions Club of Kensington and Chelsea, Founder Director of Weekly Bengali Newspaper 'Notun Din', Founder Member & General Secretary of a reputed Charity organization named 'Friends of Bangladesh', one of the donors of the National Heart Foundation Sylhet also Vice-Chairman of the UK Committee and a life member of Bangladesh Centre London. He has a great feeling to the poorer and a commitment to help the distressed people in Bangladesh. To fulfill such commitment he is helping the poor people especially in his jurisdiction. Presently under his full support there are two boys & one girl are full time student. Among them, the girl Masuma is the daughter of a Rickshaw puller in Dhaka who got admitted in the Dhaka Medical College. She secured a place in the Intermediate Examination. One boy Md Pinak from his own village is now in the 3rd year in Sylhet Polytechnic and other one Shaded Ahmed is in the final year of Electrical Engineering in the Islami Bank Institute of Technology, Sylhet. His financial help started to all of them after passing their SSC Examination. He has an urge to all the members of the Community to come forward for such helping to the poor students, so that illiteracy in Bangladesh will be reduce in a large number within a short time.

Mr. Matin often writes Column, Features and Travel Memories in the Bengali Newspapers. He also published his Autobiography in Bengali 'Dinguli Mor Sonar Kachai' which lunched in a colorful ceremony at Brady Arts Centre in London on June 2012. His every intention is how to develop the quality and the betterment of his Community.

Alhaj Kazi Saad Meah was born at the Bethnal Green Hospital, London, and raised also in Bethnal Green by parents Abeda Khatun and the late Kazi Shahnoor Meah. He is one of six siblings and is father to daughters Maisha and Shahirah Jahan, aged 17 and 15 years respectively. He attended a local comprehensive and left school at age 15 years with a string of CSE's and GCSE's. He gained a wealth of life experience between the ages of 15 and 19 years, whilst working in both the private and public sector in various roles before commencing his legal career and extensive involvement in the field of human rights.

He started his legal career at the Immigration Advisory Service's (IAS) predecessor organisation UKIAS in February 1991, which led to part-time law studies at London Southbank University and subsequently a Masters in Law, with distinction, from the University of East London specialising in International Human Rights Law. He has also successfully completed numerous qualifications in Senior, Strategic and Charity management and has also lectured undergraduates at university and trained, mentored and line managed many young lawyers in immigration, nationality, asylum and human rights law, many of whom have themselves gone on to establish distinguished careers in the field of immigration and human rights. He also served successfully as an Independent Custody Visitor for the London Borough of Newham between 1996 and 2002, representing the interests of detainees held in police custody under the Police and Criminal Evidence Act.

He was at the IAS' Central London Office until 2000, successfully fulfilling roles as Counsellor, Team Leader, Supervisor and Senior Manager, during a period which he represented clients at the Immigration & Asylum Tribunal at Thanet House and latterly at the now Immigration & Asylum Chamber (IAC) at Taylor House. He has also represented many detainees at Immigration Detention Centres at Campsfield House, Tinsley House and HMP Haslar, as well as running legal surgeries at HMP Rochester, during his years at the IAS. He was also overall responsible for setting up the IAS' Sylhet Offices in Bangladesh involving extensive liaison and partnership working with the British High Commission in Dhaka in 2000. Saad Meah became part of the IAS' Senior Management Executive Team in 2001 when he moved to IAS' major operations based at the Oakington Detention Centre. Here he took up post as the permanent Area Manager with responsibility for over 100 staff members. He gained universal respect for his knowledge and mastery of a number of complicated strategic pilots introduced by the government, as well as an in depth understanding of the 'Fast-Track' processes operating through out the government's detention estate. He was comprehensively involved in influencing and shaping government policy on immigration detention, legal practice and policy as a senior stakeholder representing the interests of vulnerable detainees being processed through the government's 'One Stop' and 'Fast-Track' policies whilst held in immigration detention.

He ran IAS' operations at Oakington until 2008 when he took voluntary redundancy to focus on his career as a Judge at the former Asylum and Immigration Tribunal (AIT). He was appointed as an Immigration Judge in 2006, and sat regularly at the AIT in Sheldon and Walsall, Birmingham, whilst continuing to head up operations at Oakington. He moved to the IAC at Taylor House in September 2010, where he currently continues to sit as a Judge deciding appeals from those subject to immigration control.

Saad Meah is an avid supporter and an advocate of the state/comprehensive schooling system as well as an active promoter and believer in work related apprenticeships and life experience based vocations over entrenched reliance on academic qualifications. He is a firm believer in supporting community based initiatives and resources. He also actively supports a variety of charities including Islamic Relief, The Terrence Higgins Trust, Shelter, OXFAM, NSPCC and UNICEF.

However, Sanam's main passion and interest was and remains the global remittance industry. He is the Founder and CEO of Worldwide West 2 East Services Ltd t/a SHA global. He has played a key role within the U.K in developing and growing the out-flow of remittance by British Bangladeshi ex-pats living and working in the U.K to Bangladesh within the guidelines of the U.K Governments financial and regulatory bodies. In more recent years he has started to expand his operations into Europe, namely Portugal, Spain and Italy.

Remittance is a vital source of income for the families, friends and charity organisations not only in Bangladesh but in all third world countries globally. Some argue that the remittance industry has done more in alleviating poverty in Bangladesh and other third world countries than global aid given by wealthy nations has achieved. Sanam is a very proud and successful player in this industry on behalf of the Bangladeshi community.

His entrepreneurial streak has naturally led him to become involved in many other business enterprises; however never forgetting his roots and in line with Bangladeshi family tradition, he has also engaged in many social & welfare organisations. Sanams main activities in the UK are ,SHA Global - Money Transfer Operator (U.K. And Europe) working closely with and in partnership with some of the largest money remittance companies in the world such as SmallWorld LCC and Xpress Money, Trustee and Public Relations Officer of Greenwich Islamic Centre (one of the largest and most Islamically multi-diverse centres in the whole of U.K) and he is a Director of Edwards Estates Agent.

In Bangladesh his company is an Exclusive distributor of Well Foods Bakery, Sweets & Confectionary for Sylhet Division. He is also the Proprietor of Sylhet's only operational 'Call Centre' in Sylhet Bangladesh, Founding Director of 'Legacy City' real estate development , Member of SHA Charity Foundation in Bangladesh and Co-founder of H.A.R.T education trust.

Faruk Miah MBE is an award winning educator and preminent thought leader on the Bangladeshi diaspora in the UK. A qualified ICT lecturer, Faruk has over 25 years of experience & expertise in Further Education and Community Learning sectors.

Faruk is currently a senior manager at the Adult & Community Learning section of London Borough of Tower Hamlets Council responsible for over 10,000 learners and 1,000+ part-time courses. He has played a key role in the improvement of standards, quality and results over the past 7 years.

Prior to his move to London, Faruk had a very successful career at Leeds City College, one of the largest further education institutions in the UK. Along with managing various different campuses across the city, he played an instrumental role in the development of the college's International Strategy. Working closely with the British Council, he was a frequent visitor to South Asia & Middle East to promote the College and recruit new students.

Faruk has received numerous national and international awards in recognition of his contribution to the Further Education sector. His proudest moment came in 2010 when he was awarded an MBE by Her Majesty the Queen for services to Further Education and the Community in Leeds.

Inspired by Common Purpose and supported by the British Council, Faruk is developing the Bangladeshi Diaspora Knowledge Network (BDKN), a forum to connect the Bangladeshi diaspora around the world. He is also currently working on a number of diaspora leadership development and recognition programmes.

Faruk is the secretary of Conservative Muslim Forum. The role has allowed him to engage with ordinary people who are interested in developing their knowledge & understanding of the political system in the UK. He has organised a number of very successful events in the Houses of Parliament as well as taking groups to the European Parliament in Brussels.

Faruk is the former host of the popular current affairs TV programme Community Matters which was aired on NTV (sky channel 838) until work commitments meant he had to give up the role. He is still a regular guest on various current affairs programmes on TV.

In recent years Faruk has devoted a substantial amount of his time on charitable causes. He is the founder of "JustSmiles" whose key aim is to make a small difference to the lives of the most vulnerable and needy in society both in UK and overseas.

Sufi Miah is the Managing Director of ATN Bangla UK, a director of the British Bangladesh Chamber of Commerce and a successful property developer with a portfolio of properties in the UK and abroad.

Sufi moved his home in 2004 from a deprived part of West London to a luxury villa in one of UK's most expensive areas of Cuffley, Hertfordshire. He owns a fleet of luxury vehicles ranging from Aston Martin to Range Rover but Sufi still remembers his humble days when he did not have enough money for a bus fare.

Sufi Miah and his family came to the UK in the early 1980's, he is the third son of Haji Abdur Rahman, and was born in Chandshir Kapon village of Bishwanath in the Sylhet district of Bangladesh.

His early childhood life started from a deprived inner city London borough, living in a small over-crowded flat in a council block, his parents worked hard to support the family. Sufi attended Sir William Collins School but seeing his parents struggle to support the family he took on the challenge to improve their situation and to give them a better quality of life.

He would get up very early before school started, so that he could go out and distribute local newspapers. After school he worked at a local confectionary shop until late in the evening. And during the weekends he worked outside in the cold on a market stall in Camden Market, where he would start work at the crack of dawn and finished his shift in the evening. The money that he made he gave it to his parent so they don't have to work so hard. Sufi's determination came from his father, a hardworking man who gave up everything for his children and always taught them to strive to become better people.

Sufi described those early teenage years of his life as the defining moment of his life. He says with a passion: "I was someone that took challenges in life in my stride. I worked hard, knowing that I had to take responsibility, helping my father to support my family. In those years I learnt the values of hard work, family commitment and dedication that has made me the person I am today".

It was clear that at a young age Sufi had an entrepreneurial spirit and with his early days of working on the market stalls gave him the street-smart edge that enabled him to spot a deal. Sufi's first business venture was in buying and selling cars, he did that on the side of his full-time job at Clarks. The car sales was making him profit but not enough to make a real difference, as someone for whom Sir Richard Branson was the ultimate role model, that was never going to be enough.

He decided to research and explore the opportunities in the property investment market. And with his father's advice and guidance he embarked on the property ladder and made his first house purchase at the tender age of just 20 years old. That was the catalyst for a successful property portfolio that he has grown from the mid 1990's and that is still growing today. Sufi is currently developing high-end luxury villas across Greater London.

Sufi is actively involved in various charitable programmes and is currently supporting poor people in a village in Zakigonj, Bangladesh, where he solely funds the running of a Madrasha. In the near future he intends to develop this Madrasha to help students who wish to complete a Hafiz course. Sufi is married to Mrs Shumi Islam, who is also his business partner and they are blessed with 4 children, Sahil, Isha, Niyaz and Eva.

Sufi and his son Sahil are passionate supporters of Arsenal football club and they are both season ticket holders. Sahil is a talented footballer and is currently being professionally coached and is keen to play professional football. However if he has any of his fathers' dedication, skill and commitment, he already possesses the strong foundations to make this a reality.

Mahbub Murshed

Sector:
Accountancy & Media

Award Winner 2015

BRITISH BANGLADESHI

Mahbub Murshed is a name for his role in making accountancy an art, bringing accountancy into the drawing room and creating a new dimension to his profession. His success story is now a sensation in the British Bangladeshi community and media. His live TV programme, "Accountancy with Mahbub Murshed" is probably the first ever and the longest running accounting and tax advisory programme in the known world. This only happened because of his vision, hard work, dedication and passion.

Mahbub Murshed, a Certified Practising Accountant, was born in 1962 in Tangail, Bangladesh. Having acquired a government scholarship from Bangladesh in 1982, he went to Bulgaria to study Computer Engineering at Technical University of Varna. It was from here that he would graft his way to create one of the largest accountancy firms in East London. Upon arrival in Britain in 1987, it became evident that a qualification from a former communist country was not going to be easy for him to acquire a job in his field. With this in mind, he made the brave decision of starting from scratch and changing his path to accountancy. It was late Mr MS Zoha, a prominent Bengali accountant, who inspired Mr Mahbub. Mr Mahbub used to work for one of Mr Zoha's clients and the turning point of his life was when he went to Mr Zoha's office to collect his P45 and being offered a job in his office in 1991. Instead of using the conventional method of manual book keeping and accounting, Mr Mahbub became the pioneer among British Bangladeshis by using his computer programming skills to write his own software.

After being in the shadow of Mr Zoha for nearly 10 years and gaining invaluable work experience and academic qualifications, Mr Mahbub decided to set up his own accountancy firm, Mahbub and Co, in 2001 with his younger brother Shah Arif. Starting off with just one employee and a handful of small clients, it was a huge risk for anyone to start with a fragile business in a competitive market. But through dedication, multilingual skills and sincerity, Mr Mahbub was able to expand his business from strength to strength. His friendly professional approach towards his clients has given him a name, "The Accountant with a Smile".

Additionally Mr Mahbub has supported many of the youth with work experience and career development. Currently Mahbub and Co is holding the ACCA Gold status as an employer, awarded only to the firms which provide high quality work experience in accountancy. After serving the community for more than a decade, Mr Mahbub launched his new and unique initiative to fulfil the community's need for accountancy related issues. He is the key person together with NTV Europe to start producing the programme "Accountancy with Mahbub Murshed". He believes in empowering the community. So, rather than bringing the people to the accountant's office he went live on TV to answer the questions in his own capacity.

Being inspired by the success of this TV programme, he decided to set up a training institute in conjunction with his firm where school leavers, accounting students, newly qualified accountants and unemployed people could gain hands-on training and practical knowledge. The initial purpose of this training programme was to break the vicious circle of "not getting a job without experience and no experience could be gained without a job". Mr Mahbub devotes time from his relentless schedule to teach the students.

He also sponsors charities, sports, cultural and community activities. Mr Mahbub is passionate about photography and gardening. His amateur, yet artistic photography is loved by the wider audiences in social media. He plays badminton, listens to music and watches cricket.

Mr Mahbub is married to Nilufa Murshed, daughter of a well known Sylheti businessman of the 1960s – Mr Mosahid Ali. Their son, Nayeem Murshed, has graduated in Biochemistry from Imperial College London, and daughter, Nimah Murshed, is an A Level student.

Mohammad Abdul Munim OBE was born in 1958 in Kulaura Upazila in the District of Moulvibazar, the son of Alhaj Abdul Bari, a renowned contractor and businessman.

During his college life he served twice as the President of Chatra League at Sylhet Government College (MC) and twice elected General Secretary of Bangladesh Chatra League Sylhet District Branch. During 1977-1981 he played a leading role in the establishment of the Sylhet Division and a University in Sylhet.

Early in 1982, Munim went to Saudi Arabia where he established successful businesses both in Jeddah and Makkah, before moving to England in 1989. In 1991 he started his own halal takeaway business called "Sonali Tandoori" in Grove Park, South-East London, and in 1995 launched a successful and extensive property business.

In 1999, Munim was elected as the President of Bangladesh Caterers Association's South East Region. From 2004-2006 he served as Senior Vice-President of BCA central committee, and in 2007 held the role of Organising Secretary of BCA. He was also the convenor of the 2011 Annual Dinner and Awards ceremony, and from 2012-2017 served as the Secretary General of BCA. Currently, elected in 2019, he was the President of Bangladesh Caterers Association UK. He is also a Advisor of Bangladesh Centre and Senior Vice President of Jalalabad Association UK.

A keen servant to the needy, he and his family have sought to contribute towards the development of his homeland, helping to establish masjids, madrasas, schools and orphanages in Kulaura, and support social welfare institutions providing various forms of assistance to the poor and needy in the locality. Munim is a founder Trustee of Kulaura Yakub Tazul Woman's College. Since its establishment, his younger brother Mr M A Rouf has been serving as the Principal of the college. To meet the immense demands, he and his brother founded and established a very successful and highly praised kindergarten school in Kulaura.

Munim is also socially very active in his local community, playing a leading role in establishing a masjid in Crayford, and is currently serving as Secretary of the North West Kent Muslim Association. He was also the founder chairman of the Bangla Supplementary School in Greenwich and the Greenwich Welfare Association. From 2000-2017 he acted as a Director of the Consortium of Bengali Associations (CBA). He is also the current Secretary of Sylhet Bivag Unnayan Parishad. Munim has been an active member of the Labour Party since 1995.

Abdul Nashir (Wahab) is a businessman and community leader from Manchester, U.K.

He and his family first came to the U.K. in 1979, where they settled in the North of England. After finishing his studies, Mr Nashir began working in the Indian restaurant industry, eventually opening his own restaurant in 1995. Since then, he has gone on to make his mark in the hospitality industry, opening a string of Indian restaurants all across Greater Manchester, with a large and dedicated clientele. Mr Nashir relishes any opportunity for business development, and has also expanded his portfolio by venturing into the property development industry.

Alongside his business endeavours, Mr Nashir is also the Chairman of the Greater Manchester Bangladesh Association- which is a community-led organisation that presides over thousands of Bangladeshis all across the Greater Manchester region. This is a role that is very close to Mr Nashir's heart as he has truly committed himself to the uplifting and betterment of the British-Bangladeshi community. Indeed, in his own businesses, he always makes a conscious effort to not only champion the culture and food of his country, but also champion his countrymen. Mr. Nashir fosters this community spirit by recruiting local Bangladeshi immigrants and giving them a chance to showcase their culinary talent whilst helping them to become financially stable.

In his role as a community leader, Mr Nashir also focuses on the preservation and celebration of Bangladeshi culture in the diaspora, by ensuring the continuation of our cultural events and holidays.

In his day-to-day life Mr Nashir juggles the demands of a growing business portfolio with the demands of leading his community. He prides himself on being able to lead his community to being one that is strong, complex, and here to stay.

Abdul Karim Nazim is a very successful businessman, property developer and community activist.

It all started in 1963, when Abdul Karim Nazim's father and uncle opened Maharani in Camden. At this point the Clapham branch was already opened but his father was not involved. His father was his role model as he was growing up so he wanted to get involved in the family business too. In 1984 Nazim joined the family business and has been involved ever since.

Since being involved in the business, there are a lot of things that motivate him but also make him smile. For example, being based on Camden High Street, he gets to meet new people from different backgrounds every day as Camden is a huge tourist attraction. Also being able to maintain a good relationship with his regular customers and local businesses is his favourite part in having a business. Furthermore, being one of the oldest restaurants in Camden, more and more people wish to come and visit them, making their loyalty to Camden High Street their unique selling point.

As he has worked in Indian restaurants from a young age, he understood the industry a lot more and realised that he would need to create some different flavours in order for him to stand out. As he is from Bangladeshi heritage, he knew about the ingredients used in an Indian restaurant which is why he was able to create his speciality dishes with ease. They cater for all palettes, whether you like your curry extremely mild or extremely hot with a desi twist.

Motivation plays a big role in any business, and it is up to the owner/manager to ensure that the staff is motivated. His head chef has been with him for over 20 years along with one of his waiters. Due to this loyalty, he makes sure they enjoy working at Maharani.

As this is the 21st century, it is crucial to be using and keeping up to date with modern technology. They started off with using the basic Just eat machines but as social media is a huge thing now, they are slowly getting onto social media platforms. They are already on Instagram.

It is not easy to run a successful business but the key ingredient to doing so is being patient and love what you are doing. If you don't love the industry you are in, you will not love your business enough to make it a success.

Better known as Pasha Khandaker, he is the former-President of the Bangladesh Caterers Association. He is the chairman of Reliance West Malling Limited and Principal partner of Ghandi Tandoori restaurant, in West Malling, Kent and Gandhi Tandoori at Rye in East Sussex. Both of these have been established businesses for the last 25 years. His third venture in the restaurant sector is Curry Lounge in Romney, Kent, and is being regarded as one of the best Indian restaurants in Kent.

Pasha Khandaker was born in Sylhet in 1958. He received his school, college and University education in Bangladesh and obtained a diploma in Leadership Management in the UK after which he pursued a career in the restaurant business. Throughout his academic life he was heavily involved in various extra curricular activities such as student politics, setting up voluntary organizations.

Mr Khandaker served continuously on the previous national executive committees of BCA and became the Senior Vice President in 2003. Then he was Secretary General up to June 2012. Mr Pasha has been a featured participant in various industry forums. He has served on a number of non-profit organizations, including the Kent police as a social trainer and was active as Senior Executive of Kent Muslim forum. He also worked as a coordinator for South East Human Rights. He is a Labour party activist and worked as the CLP secretary of his party.

Throughout his career in the curry industry, he has continually established connections with many high profile policy makers through his participation in the Chamber of Commerce, local council and police and several informal business groups. Currently he is working relentlessly to raise the standard of curry industry as well as those who are related with this creative industry.

Mr Pasha is married to Mrs Dipika Pasha and the couple are blessed with two children, a boy and a girl. They reside in Kent and are actively engaged in the various social welfare activities in their neighbourhood.

In personal life Mr Pasha is very cordial and amiable. He is always engaged to serve the distressed people. He has a wide range of interests including reading, gardening, traveling and updating himself with the latest world affairs.

Syed Nahas Pasha is one of the most respected and senior British-Bangladeshi journalists working in the UK. His fledgling career began writing for school magazines and then writing for various literary titles. He edited the literary magazine in Bangladesh called Eeshan. Nahas moved to the UK in mid-1970s when he was in his late teens.

He has spent nearly three decades in the industry and held the editorship of several of the country's leading Bengali newspapers including his current role with Janomot, as editor in chief.

His passion for writing and leadership contributed to a rise in both the quality of journalism and readership of the titles as well as guiding them into the digital age.

Nahas is also an overseas correspondent for a national newspaper in Bangladesh, a bureau chief with bdnews24.com, and regularly appears on TV and radio talking about issues affecting the Asian community at home and abroad.

He is elected Vice President of the Commonwealth Journalists Association, an international organisation which has branches across the commonwealth. Syed Nahas Pasha is a founding member of the London Bangla Press Club and in January 2017 was elected as President of the club, a powerful organisation of British Bangladeshi journalists in the UK. He is also advisor to the BB Power & Inspiration100 List which celebrates the achievements of the British-Bangladeshi community.

Syed Nahas Pasha has successfully campaigned on many major issues including the British Bengali representation in the UK Parliament. He has met many world politicians and dignitaries including Her Majesty the late Queen Elizabeth nd Nelson Mandela.

His expertise on social and economic affairs at home and abroad has seen him advise the Home Office and Foreign and Commonwealth Office on various issues including radicalisation, forced marriages, immigration and overseas work permits. This includes accompanying ministerial visits to the EU and acting in an advisory role for visiting dignitaries to the Indian subcontinent. With an insatiable passion for travel, Nahas has journeyed to many countries to cover international conferences.

His love of writing and food reflect two passions of Bengali culture and, along with his brother, he has championed the UK's multi-billion-pound curry industry for more than a decade.

This includes an international food festival, the Taste of Britain Food Festival, which showcases the talents of British curry chefs, and promotes British food throughout the Indian subcontinent, Europe and the Middle East.

Nahas is also founder and editor-in-chief of Curry Life Magazine since 2003, a bi-monthly publication distributed free throughout the UK, which offers a lively mix of industry news, reviews and features. As the only independent magazine in the field, the publication has been described as the "voice of the curry industry." One of Nahas' Pasha's key aims is to connect with restaurateurs and chefs at the grass roots of the curry industry through the magazine, and he works tirelessly to foster and promote their businesses at a national and international level.

His unique insight of the trade comes from having owned a restaurant himself during the 1980s and he is focused on helping and promoting the industry through many events, such as Curry Life Awards, Business Awards and Curry Life Culinary Workshop.

Syed Nahas Pasha was born in 1957, in Sylhet, Bangladesh. He is married to Syeda Murshida Pasha and has two daughters and one son.

His main talents lie in developing products with a client focus and delivering high profile projects within rapid paced environments

Fresh out of University, Bobby began his career at Merrill Lynch in 2003 specialising in electronic trading, quickly developing a passion for building complex technology solutions for the biggest and most complex and demanding clients.

Five years later he joined hedge fund Citadel Securities to establish the client facing business in EMEA – performing a hybrid role of building systems from the ground up, new business development and trading. Following this, he was hired by Liquidnet initially as an Algorithmic Product Manager to develop the next generation algo suite for equities, rapidly rising to be Head of Product EMEA, focused on driving the firm's innovation strategy. One of his greatest achievements was launching 'Targeted Invitations' a product created to unlock latent block liquidity for the Buy Side community and being nominated for most innovative product by Financial News.

In 2017, Bobby joined Electronic Trading Product development team at Bloomberg Tradebook Europe, focusing on developing the liquidity strategy across the full electronic trading product suite. With the seismic regulation impact of MiFID II taking place in 2018 Bobby believes the opportunities for the original fintech company are infinite, and he plans to harness the opportunities of MiFID II to drive Bloomberg to new heights of success.

With a huge passion for fundraising and charitable causes he became a founding member of the South Asian Professional Merrill Lynch network, organising cultural and charity events for the bank. A keen sportsman he also completed the London Marathon in 2006 and climbed Mount Everest Base Camp in 2008. His voluntary aid work and interest in humanitarian causes has taken him to third world countries such as Haiti and Africa. In his spare time Bobby enjoys spending time with family, watching films, dining out and travelling. With his enthusiasm, integrity, and love for the legal profession, he obtained a good name and fame among immigrants and legal practitioners in the UK.

Mr. Rahman was born in 1973 at Osmani Nagar, Sylhet, Bangladesh in a traditional Muslim family. He came to the UK as a Law student in 1996 at the University of London. He successfully completed his Bachelor of Laws with Honours degree from the University of London in 1999. He was called to the bar as a barrister at the Honourable Society of Lincoln's Inn in 2000.

Based on his 20+ years of Immigration Service experience, he established an innovative Legal and Software service company namely WorkPermitCloud Limited (www.workpermitcloud.co.uk). Currently, it offers OISC regulated immigration advice on UK Immigration matters.

WorkPermitCloud Limited (WPC) was founded in September 2020 in East London, one year later, Mr Lutfur expanded the office in the city of London, at "The Gherkin" - the first Bangladeshi lawyer to set a foot-print in this prestigious office building. Mr. Lutfur has advised many High Net Worth clients from the Middle East and Asia concerning Entrepreneurs, Investors, Sponsorship Licenses, and Skilled worker visa applications.

He enjoys researching complicated legal issues and tries to use his extensive immigration knowledge and experience to implement a strategy that is arguable and realistic. As a practitioner he brought up common challenges and put recommendations to policy makers. Through delegation and event participation his voice is being heard at House of Commons and Scottish Parliament to relax Immigration rules for Chefs and Hospitality sector staff. Regularly, he engages with major stakeholders to initiate dialogue in important forums. For example - he raised slow UK visa processing for Bangladeshis applicants to British High Commission in Bangladesh and Bangladesh High Commissioner in the UK. He raised a massive awareness to ensure sustainability and advancement of curry industry in the UK!

To meet diverse customer demand for Immigration and recruitment needs, Mr Lutfur established a global company in Dubai, namely WPC Global (www.wpc-global.com). Mohammed Siddiquer Rahman was born in 1971 in Luton, Bedfordshire. He completed his GCSEs' in Denbigh High School in 1987.

At the age of 16, Siddiquer started working part time at an Indian restaurant which initiated his interest in the restaurant trade.

At the age of 19 he opened his first thriving business, an Indian takeaway which he later converted to a restaurant in Oxhey, Hertfordshire called Curry Cottage. After the success of Curry Cottage, in 1997 he went on to open another Indian restaurant, Raj Garden in Bushey, which became his most successful venture, receiving many awards for their service and support of the community. Since then, he has opened several other restaurants around the country but in 2002, he decided to diversify and invest in another industry.

In 2002, he began his career as a property investor buying houses to re-develop them and put them on the rental market. This has enabled him to develop his property portfolio and diversify within the property industry. He is the director of Luton Property Management Ltd and the senior negotiator for Simply Move, overseeing the management of properties. This business is fast becoming one of the busiest property management companies in its area.

He is also the owner of M.S Rahman Properties (Real Estate) and S&Z a property development company.

In addition, he is a member of several business associations such as one of the Directors of the UK-BCCI and an EC member of BCA. He is also a member of the National Landlord Association and a member of the ARLA which is an association for residential lettings.

He believes giving back to society is a vital part of life. Therefore, he is the secretary of Jalal Pur Welfare Association which gives unprivileged children in Bangladesh a chance to transform their lives. He is also a part of the advisory board at Dhokin Surma Committee, a role passed on from his father. This is a charity in Bangladesh for the betterment of society. In the UK, he is a dedicated member of charities such as the Peace Hospice and local charities especially in the Watford area, for which he has gained certificates and awards from local MPs and Mayors.

Siddiquer Rahman enjoys travelling around the world and meeting new people and learning about new cultures. Siddiquer Rahman is married with 4 children.

Muhibur Rahman Muhib MJF, was born in Sylhet, Bangladesh in 1959. Son of the late Mr. Aalhaj Arab Ali and Mrs. Hashira Begum, Muhib grew up in the village of Purushpal, Beani Bazar.

Muhib travelled to the UK in 1972 to start a new chapter in his life. Upon arrival, Muhib enrolled at Robert Montifiore Secondary School, where he furthered his secondary education. Whilst studying, Muhib worked two part time jobs at a local Indian restaurant and a garments factory.

Upon finishing secondary education, Muhib's zeal to become a successful business man was clear. He was determined to make a successful career and improve their family's living standards. This was at a time when many British Bangladeshis were heavily involved in the garments trade.

In 1979, Muhib continued that trend by establishing, with the help of a few business partners, his own garment factory, Modern Embroidery, in Tower Hamlets. The business rapidly became very successful.

Following the success in the garments trade, he ventured into the catering business and in 1982 was a business partner of the Indian restaurant he worked in as a teenager, India Grill, in Tower Hamlets, London. To date, he has carried on his successful business empire and is the owner of a number of restaurants and multiple properties in and around London.

Outside of his business prowess, Muhib plays an important role in community development both in the UK and in his homeland of Bangladesh.

He is currently the President of Jalalabad Association UK and Senior Vice Chair of the Bangladesh Centre London. He was the President of Beani Bazar Welfare Trust and still serving as an Executive Committee member of the Bangladesh Caterers Association UK, a platform representing the Bangladeshi catering industry in UK. His wealth of experience and dedication to the community can also be evidenced through his past effective and executive role in Bangladesh Welfare Association and Beani Bazar Thana Jonokallyan Samity.

His work with the community does not stop with being aligned with charitable organisations; Muhib has also spent much of his own fortune in supporting good causes. He has previously financed a Bengali Newspaper called Weekly Sylheter Dak where he was a Director and a member of the publishing board.

He is known to inspire education amongst generations of young people. He has spent over £30,000 to build a library in Beani Bazar's Women's College, helping hundreds of women from poor families to have access to much needed books and resources. In memory of his late father, he financed the Madrassa Academy Bhavan in 1982. He is also a founder of Purushpal Hafizia Madrassa and a lifetime member of the managing committee for 12 secondary schools in Beani Bazar.

He is one of the founding members of the Beani Bazar Cancer Hospital Foundation, the first hospital of its kind in Sylhet division, Bangladesh. Having served as Vice President of this organisation, Muhib along with a number of Bangladeshis living in the UK, funded this noble project.

In 2005, he was involved in distributing computers in Beani Bazar in order to enhance the education of local children. More recently, he has taken the initiative to build homes for the freedom fighters of Beani Bazar.

In 2007, The Lions Club International Foundation awarded Muhib, with its highest 'Melvin Jones Fellowship' MJF Award for his dedication and years of working with communities. He is now a member of the prestigious organisation.

Muhib currently lives with his family including seven children in South Woodford, London.

Mohammed Mamun Rashid was born in Bangladesh and came to London for a better life. Upon his arrival to the UK at the age of 17, he faced many obstacles and struggles - but he embraced the challenges and turned them into opportunities.

Mamun Rashid has always been a very motivated entrepreneur, and this can be highlighted through when he started his own business - a garment and tailor company. This turned out to be a very successful enterprise, as it operated for 22 years. At this point, he decided to enter the world of real estate and property development – this business is still going strong to this day.

In the early 2000s, Mamun's passion turned him towards his local community as he became very socially active in local politics. His love for the community and his people got him very involved with charity, youth work, helping the local mosque and so much more. The support from the people resulted in a local election win, as he was elected as a Councillor in 2006.

Mamun believes in making changes and differences to his local society and also the lives of people in Bangladesh. He inspires others with his stories, achievements and establishments. He holds a very important role as Chief Treasurer in Bangladesh Centre. He is the President of Beani Bazar Thana Jonokollan Shomiitee UK. He is also the Chair of The Labour Party for the Whitechapel Ward.

Bajloor Rashid MBE is a renowned British Bangladeshi businessman and philanthropist.

Currently, he is the founding president and co-founder of the UK Bangladesh Catalysts of Commerce and Industry (UKBCCI). This influential business organisation helps promote trade between Bangladesh and the UK. Recently he led a trade delegation to Bangladesh which proved to be very successful and mutually beneficial to both nations. Born in Moulvi Bazaar in Bangladesh, he came to the UK in 1978. He gained a reputation in the eighties for his entrepreneurial skill in setting up a number of restaurants with his brother.

This dynamism led to him becoming one of the most prominent figures in the history of the Bangladesh Caterers Association (BCA), with him being their president from 2006 to 2012.

Whilst he was the BCA president, he was the driving force behind many memorable events to raise awareness of the issues effecting the curry industry, most memorably a mass demonstration in Trafalgar Square London over immigration rules. This in turn led to a debate in the House of Commons just days later.

To further cement the UKBCCI's role in business today and its desire to inspire and recognise the deep well of talent that exists, Mr Rashid founded and set up the UK-BCCI Business & Entrepreneur Excellence Awards in 2016.

In his long and successful business career, Mr Rashid has been either a Director or Chairman of 20 different successful companies. His business portfolio also includes the wholesale business of rice and spice and his real estate company, Atlantic Properties.

His passionate work ethic has led to him receiving a number of awards over the years.

In 2012, the BB (British Bangladeshi) Power 100 List ranked him as one of the most influential BB individuals in the UK. The following year he was awarded first place in the Community Personality category by the same organisation. He has also been recognised in the BB Power 100 in 2016 and 2017 in the Networks and Association category. Mr Rashid has also received many awards in recognition of his work, including the BCA Honour Award and the Channel S Business Personality Award. Bajloor Rashid became a Member of the Order of the British Empire in 2012. This was the first time a BCA president had been recognised with an MBE in the New Year's Honours.

As a result of helping communities in the UK and Bangladesh, he was duly recognised by being listed in the Muslim Power 100 in 2018. With a deep concern about environmental issues, Mr Rashid has been at the forefront of many community projects including assisting the plight of communities affected by catastrophic world disasters such as Cyclone Sidr.

Mr Rashid is married and has four grown up children, who are all now in professional careers.

Nadia was born and bred in Camden and resides there with her family.

Started career in banking but also worked for the Black and Minority Ethnic community, particularly for the betterment of the Bangladeshi Community, have been contributing to the community and working in management, in community settings and safeguarding, as well as peer education with young people, in the private statutory and voluntary sector for the last 20 years.

Went on to work on many community projects, predominantly working with women, children and young people, breaking down barriers, lobbying and advocating for employability, education, training, health, social issues as well as devising intergenerational and culturally appropriate parenting programmes to strengthen families, many of which have been recognised and are now mainstream services.

Nadia became a co-opted trustee for the Surma centre (the largest organisation working for the Bangladeshi community) and then went on to become an elected director.

Received the Camden Community Award in 2014 in recognition for the work and dedication for the work done with the community thus far.

At present working in the family business and also self-employed.

This year's focus for the Mayoral year is child poverty and the mental implications and raising awareness of and supporting mental health in young people and children, due to the rise of this issue and the lack of recognition from the community and government and how this impacts on children and families both now and in later life.

Shapla Salique is a British Bangladeshi singer-songwriter and musician. She has been captivating audiences with her talent since early childhood.

At just 8 years of age Shapla became the lead singer in the first UK Bangladeshi musical group, Dishari Shilpi Ghosthi, a group originally founded by her father, Abdus Salique. Fronted by Shapla, Dishari Shilpi Ghosthi went on to perform at events across UK and Europe, and was frequently on national television throughout the eighties and nineties.

Shapla's first mainstream solo Bengali song 'Ziola' was released in the UK in 1996, under the music label 'Journeys by DJ'. 'Ziola' was remixed by the globally well-known DJ Judge Jules for his album 'Dance Wars'. 'Ziola' was followed by two diverse but equally well received solo albums; 'Siyono na Siyona' in 1997, a traditional folk oriented Bengali album, and in 2002, the Hindi pop album 'Lai Lai', produced and composed by Bappi Lahiri.

Shapla has performed at many prestigious venues including, The Royal Albert Hall, Hammersmith Apollo, Royal Ascot, the Barbican, and most recently at BBC Radio London, Houses of Parliament, Hackney Empire and at London's South Bank. She also held her recent solo concert at the prestigious world famous, Wilton's Music Hall, which was a huge success.

In 2014 Shapla was invited to speak and perform at a TEDx event – in front of a celebrity filled audience at the prestigious Queen Elizabeth Hall in Westminster. This was also streamed globally and watched by over a billion people.

Shapla's 3rd album was released in autumn 2015. Shapla is reaching out to new audiences, opening her music to contemporary interpretations, with a combination of Jazz and Funk, for a younger generation, while maintaining her core of loyal traditionalists. Shapla has also arranged, composed and produced this new album herself. Shapla has created a sound which is a perfect blend of East and West.

He founded the offices of Taj Solicitors in the year 2002 working from home when he was working at Clinton Davies as a Criminal Defence Solicitor and also on Duty Solicitors panel cover North London area. On full time basis he commenced his practice from June 2003 at 229 East India Dock Road, Docklands on the same road 243- 247 the Head Office is now based. Taj Shah specialises in all aspects of Immigration & Asylum Law, Human Rights, Criminal defence, all aspects of Residential & Commercial property work.

He is the only son in his family. His father's name is Mr Abdus Salam. He originates from Village-Dhara Bohor, Gulapgonj, Sylhet. In the year 1991 he came to the UK with his mother and sisters for settlement.

He graduated with LL.B (Hons) degree and completed Legal Practice Course (formerly known as Solicitors Final) in 1998. He was called as a Barrister-at-Law at Middle Temple in July 1999. Since 1996 alongside with his studies he had been working in legal fields.

He acted for a number of well known personalities and organisations.

His remarkable achievements includes advocating in the case of AA & Others (intention to return) [2006] which is used by Immigration Law Practitioners as authority from Higher Courts as guideline case in relation to intention to return. After his success in this case all Sector Based Work Permit holders were able to come to the UK through direct entry clearance and/or appeal process. A further landmark guideline case was Ahmed (Proof of Benefits) [2013]. This settled one of the most complex areas of Immigration Law as commented in many legal journals and the law established that settled spouse/ children/ relatives claiming benefits on their own right should not affect sponsorship undertaking and cannot be treated as having recourse to public funds. Further in the same case the Home Office was directed to change certain sections of their certain entry clearance applications as it was not consistent with the Immigration Rules and some declared policies.

He dealt with an assignment of lease matter where Dockland Light Railway is the landlord and he was defending one of the leaseholders where there was an absolute restriction on transfer of lease and the case was settled out of Court. He is proud to represent a significant number of indian restaurant owners (over 400 listed regular clients) all over the UK through recommendations of each other.

More recently he picked up certain mistakes in Home Office application forms and wrote to the Home Secretary & Immigration Minister of their department's negligence. The mistake was admitted and immediately the forms were changed. He is currently working on the most high profile case of his career and came through recommendation of his Middle East based clients. He is acting for the ex-wife and her son of billionaire UAE prince, Al Maktoum, the son of former ruler of Dubai. Al-Maktoum is the current Chairman of Emirate Airlines. This involves their immigration status in the UK and child custody.

He is the principal contributor of Law With N Rahman (Sky Channel 814, Saturday 12:30pm- 02:00pm) for the last 5 years which is the most popular interactive legal programme.

Apart from the Head Office in London he runs two branch offices in Cardiff and Coventry serving the Asian communities. Today Taj Solicitors is a household name in the UK and Europe.

Mohammad Yousuf was born in 1947, in Sadar, Sylhet, in the year that Pakistan and India had just become independent from the British Empire. He completed his primary and secondary education in Sylhet, and graduated in 1968 from MC College, also obtaining an LLB from Chitagon University. At the time of the liberation movement in 1971, Mohammad Yousuf took an active role, becoming a student activist and supporting the campaign for the independence of East Pakistan from West Pakistan under the leadership of Bangabandhu.

During the 9 months that it took to gain independence, he became heavily involved with this cause. In June 1972, he was admitted as a student of chartered accountancy in the England and Wales Institute of Chartered Accountants.

After completion of the first part of chartered accountancy, he got a small training course in the unemployment department of the Civil Service, where he worked until the year 2000. He was inspired by Netaji Subhash Buse (a great Nationalist Leader of undivided Bengal during the British occupational period), and he has immense respect for the Father of the Nation, Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman.

He also started an Indian restaurant business in 1978 with the help of his family, at the same time as working as a Civil Servant.

Mohammad Yousuf has gotten into the property business here in the UK, where he and his associates build, buy, sell and rent properties. He is also a community activist, is very caring, and is a committed individual to the service of his fellow countrymen and the under-privileged. At present he is a senior vice-president of the Bangladesh Caterers Association.

Yousuf is married to Zaheda Yousuf. They have two daughters and three sons, and eight grandchildren.

Nobab joined Janomot in 1990 and became its Editor in 1997, a position he still holds. Janomot, the oldest ethnic Bengali newsweekly in Britain, was established on 21 February 1969 and has, with Nobab's diligence and dedication, become the leading popular newspaper within the Bangladeshi community in UK and Europe. His commitment to the journalistic integrity has ensured that Janomot continues to earn unparalleled respect across different members of the community. Having studied for his Bachelor of Science in Quantity Surveying Building & Construction, he continued his studies and obtained a Diploma in Construction Management. He started his career working within the construction industry, and continued his career progression in local government working for different local authorities and housing associations. He is currently working for a leading housing association in London at senior management level and is a member of several professional bodies.

Nobab is one of the founder members of the London Bangla Press Club. Established in 1991, it is an important association for Bangladeshi journalists in Britain. In addition to carrying out his role first as Treasurer of the Club, he was President from 2014-16.

Nobab is respected for his voluntary work across various community and charity organisations in London. From 1990 to 1994, he was the General Secretary of the largest Bengali organisation BWAG (Surma Centre) in Camden, North London. Indeed, his role as General Secretary was during a seminal time as the local British Bangladeshi community developed in London and he was instrumental in working with Camden Council to deliver a dedicated building for the Surma Centre.

Nobab is the Chief Adviser of the historic Bangladesh Centre in Notting Hill, an active associate of London Borough Tower Hamlets 'Boishaki Mela Engagement Group' and is also an Adviser of the 'British Bangladeshi Power & Inspiration 100'.

He has loved sport from an early age, representing his school and district at national level in both badminton and athletics in Bangladesh. This keen interest in sports led to him forming the Bengali Sports Council in UK 1988, in support of National Sports Council. He was founder Secretary of this organisation, encouraging and motivating youths to take an active part in sports. The engagement between community and youth centres was instrumental in helping British Bangladeshis integrate into both the wider community during the turbulent 80s in London as well as mainstream British sports culture. He helped create and foster a family atmosphere in this organization, which crucially continues to serve as a social networking space for other British Asian groups as well.

During the early eighties he formed Link Promotions, a cultural and promotional organisation, which has been performing plays and cultural shows in the UK. Since 1982, Nobab has written and successfully staged several plays across the country to critical acclaim. His status as playwright and director has had, perhaps, the most tangible impact within the British Bangladeshi community. His productions appeal directly to Bangladeshis and Nobab is unflinching in reflecting profound social dilemmas and tackling taboo subjects, such as forced marriages and drug use in the British Bangladeshi community.

He has published five books, and edited three, including 'The Racist Murder of Altab Ali, which was important in highlighting the senseless murder of a Bengali East End, garment worker in 1978.

Nobab Uddin is married with two children.

On behalf of Bangla Survival Forum UK, Syed has successfully run a campaign all over the UK and abroad to revert their decision. Now Bengali language is on offer to A level students in the UK. Most recently, Syed has been awarded with the "Freedom of City of London Honour" for his outstanding contribution to British – Bangladeshi Broadcasting Media. It is noted that he is the first Bengali-speaking TV News Presenter, in the UK and abroad, who has received this international and highest honour in London.

Syed has been involved in a broad range of cultural activities both in the UK and Bangladesh. He is a respected Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts, the Royal Asiatic Society of Great Britain and Ireland and London Challenge for World Class Education. He has been working for the various national and international charity organisation for the last 30 years. Syed achieved a Bachelor of Commerce Degree (Hons) and Master Degree from the University of Dhaka. He has obtained Post Graduate Certificate in Education and other Professional Qualifications from the University of London and Department of Education and Children's Services, Government of South Australia.

It's very rare you work with people like Syed, who is so sincere, so diligent and so professional. He navigates day-to-day issues rather brilliantly and is always respectful of the public and their demands on his time. This makes his teaching, community services, charity work and news presenting so vibrant. Despite his battle with cancer he continues to show resilience, stamina and dedication to his work.

Syed Afsar is married with two sons and a daughter. His wife also works as a full time school teacher in an inner city school in London.

Award Winner 2018

BRITISH BANGLANDESHI

Mr. Kamal Yakub as he is commonly known hails from Sylhet and lives in Surrey. He came to the UK as a full time student in 1972 soon after independence of Bangladesh. He passed 'A' Levels in Pure Maths, Applied Maths and Physics from Paddington Technical College London. Later, Mr. Yakub completed a full time 3 year Degree Course at University College London (UCL) and successfully obtained a degree in Engineering in 1977. Worked for some time in Burma Oil Company's Research Centre in Bracknell. In 1980 he started his own restaurant business in Worcester Park, Surrey and has since been in the catering trade till to date with different outlets. Mr. Yakub is the current National President of Bangladesh Caterers Association UK Ltd, popularly known as BCA. This organisation has been running for 58 years since inception and is the oldest and largest of its kind.

Mr Yakub first joined BCA in 1986 and has always remained with BCA as an active member both regionally and nationally. He served as Secretary of 'BCA Surrey Region' and then during the last term Mr. Yakub was the President of BCA Surrey Region. Prior to being elected as the 'National President' of BCA in May 2017 (for a term of 2 years) he had been a Senior Vice President continuously for a few terms in a row. Mr. Yakub held the responsibility as the Convener of BCA's Annual Award & Dinner Committee over the last few years (upto Nov 2016) requiring a substantial amount of activities and experience. During the Presidency of Mr. Mahmadar Rashid, Mr Yakub headed a team to represent BCA to Sheffield Home Office officials where a round table talk was held regarding 'Sector Based Scheme'. BCA was consulted as stakeholders by the Home Office since the beginning of introducing this pilot scheme. Unfortunately and unfairly the scheme did not continue for countries outside the European Union. BCA is still lobbying for its reintroduction.

During the Presidency of Mr. Bajloor Rashid MBE he was Head of the Action Committee for the historic 'static demonstration' held at Trafalgar Square in 2008. He later with a few senior BCA Members represented BCA with Migration Advisory Committee (MAC) in the Home Office which successfully brought about the inclusion of Bangladeshi skilled Chefs and Managers in the 'Shortage Occupation List', SOL of the Points Based System. Outside BCA, Mr. Yakub has been a Trustee and Secretary of Surrey Muslim Centre in Addlestone, Surrey since 2006. He is also involved in other community related voluntary works. He is a senior adviser for 'Surrey Muslim Funeral Services' which is a voluntary organisation. As a person, he is a man of principle and a thorough gentleman and is liked by both the younger and the older generations.

Mr. Yakub is married with 2 sons and a daughter. The eldest son is a civil Engineer who currently works in Saudia Arabia, the daughter is a school teacher and the youngest son is an IT consultant.
